Media Services

Credentials: Requests for working press credentials at Carolina home games should be made in writing on company letterhead to Rick Brewer in the Carolina Sports Information Office. Brewer's mailing address is P.O. Box 2126, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27514.

Because of the demand for credentials, media agencies which cover Carolina and the visiting school on a regular basis will receive top priority. Other credentials will be issued on the basis of circulation and the availability of space. Tickets will be mailed if at all possible. Otherwise, they will be left at Will Call which is at Gate Six (6), directly behind the press box.

Requests are screened with care to insure a working press box. Children, spouses, dates and pets are not allowed in compliance with the working code of the Football Writers Association of America.

Press Box Services: Programs, flip cards, statistics and notes will be provided before each game. A play-by-play will be distributed at the conclusion of each quarter. Halftime statistics will also be available. Complete team and individual statistics, a scoring summary and coaches' quotes will be provided after the game.

A meal will be served before each game and at halftime behind the main working press area. Soft drinks and coffee will be available throughout the game.

Sideline Policy: Photographers will not be allowed on the sidelines without an armband. Armbands can be picked up in the press box prior to each game. Each photographer must pick up his or her own armband. Under NCAA and Atlantic Coast Conference guidelines, photographers are not allowed between the 25-yard lines and must remain outside the restraining lines surrounding the field.

Parking: Press parking at Kenan Stadium is available on an extremely limited basis. Requests for parking passes should be made in advance to Rick Brewer. The parking lot is located on the corner of Gravelly Drive and Manning Drive.

Brown will meet with the media following each game after a brief cooling-off period. At Kenan Stadium these postgame press conferences will be in the second-floor auditorium of the Student-Athlete Development Center adjacent to the locker room.

The Tar Heel locker room is closed. Members of the media wishing to interview players may do so in the team's weight room after Brown's press conference. This is the large room directly across from the locker room on the ground floor of the Development Center. (On ground level on the side of the field opposite from the press box).

Away game procedures will vary, depending on available facilities.

Filing Copy: The Department of Athletics furnishes a number of telephones for writers to use in moving their copy. Anyone desiring a private phone should contact Southern Bell in Chapel Hill.

The Carolina Sports Information Office has one fax machine which will be available for filing. Just ask a representative of the UNC Sports Information Office prior to the end of the game.

Interviews with Coach Brown: Mack Brown will be available to the media at a press luncheon each Tuesday during the football season. Television tapes can be done at 11:30 a.m. with lunch being served at 12 noon. The press conference follows the meal at Kenan Fieldhouse. These may be taped for radio purposes and are broadcast live on WCHL Radio in Chapel Hill. Parking for the press conference is inside Gate Four (4) — directly behind the end zone at the opposite end of the field from the fieldhouse.

Interviews with Brown at other times during the week can be set up by contacting the Sports Information Office or Becky Medford, Coach Brown's secretary in the football office. Best way to reach the coach is to call between 10 a.m. and 1 p.m., Monday through Thursday. Meetings are conducted during the morning, but he can return the call if he's not available. The number is (919) 966-2575.

Player Interviews: All player interviews should be arranged through the Sports Information Office. Players have been instructed to conduct no interviews unless they have been set up in this manner. The interviews will generally be around lunchtime — after the player's classes and before practice. There will be players available at Brown's weekly press conference.

Requests for telephone interviews will be handled by players returning calls to the media. No home numbers for players will be given out and players have been told not to accept calls from anyone asking football-related questions.

Interviews are not allowed on the day preceding a game.

age: Carolina practices are open to the media. Admission to practice can be obtained by contacting the Sports Information Office. Media practice passes will be handled there. Players are not available for interviews on the practice field, whether they are competing or not. Coach Brown will be available following the conclusion of each session.

Satellite Feed and Teleconference: A seven-minute highlight clip of each Atlantic Coast Conference school is available weekly via satellite transmission. Coordinates and time of the transmission can be obtained by contacting the Carolina Sports Information Office or the ACC Service Bureau in Greensboro (919) 854-8787.

All of the league's head coaches are also available each week to the media on a teleconference. Starting time is 11 a.m. every Wednesday. The teleconference feed is of broadcast quality. The phone number for the media to use in becoming a part of this teleconference can be obtained through the Carolina Sports Information Office or the ACC Service Bureau.

Radio and Television Shows: Over 70 stations in three states will once again carry the Tar Heel Football Network. The network is operated by Village Companies of Chapel Hill with Bill Whitley as manager and Jim Heavner as executive producer. Woody Durham handles the play-by-play with Mick Mixon adding color commentary. In addition to the game itself, the network also features pregame and postgame comments from Coach Mack Brown, Tar Heel players and the opposing coach.

The Mack Brown Show will be televised across the state of North Carolina each Sunday. The show features Brown, highlights of the previous game and features of present and past Tar Heel players. Durham serves as host.

Previewing the 1993 Season

A fourth consecutive winning season, a return trip to postseason play, an upper-division finish in the increasingly competitive Atlantic Coast Conference, a furtherance of the return to national prominence and another appearance in the nation's Top 20 — those are just some of the goals set by the 1993 University of North Carolina football team.

Coming off a 9-3 season, a third-place finish in the ACC and an electric win in the Peach Bowl, the Tar Heels head into the new season with high hopes of reaching all of the aforementioned objectives. And if they can be attained then the opportunity to compete for the ACC championship might also be within Carolina's reach.

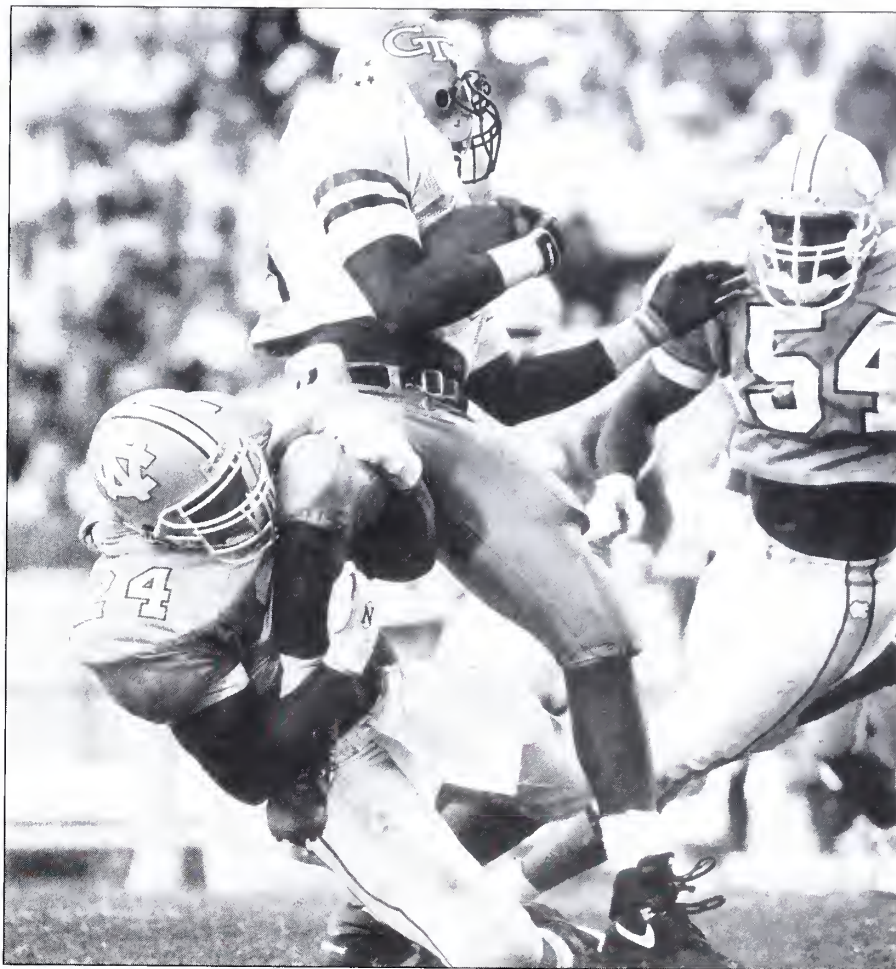

"We want to be in the Top 20 again at the end of the year and work towards being in the Top 10," says head coach Mack Brown, who is beginning his sixth season in Chapel Hill. "We want to win the state championship and finish in the upper division of the league, especially with the top four ACC teams now going to bowls. Of course, we want to have another winning season. But having a winning season is not enough anymore and we know we are after more than that."

Brown returns 43 letterwinners, including eight starters on offense and five on defense. This group includes five players who have shown the ability to contend for national all-star honors: outside linebacker Bernardo Harris, defensive back Bracey Walker, punter Mike Thomas and a sensational pair of wide receivers, Corey Holliday and Bucky Brooks.

The Tar Heels have four starters back in the offensive line, the two returning wide-outs, a veteran tight end and two exceptional talents at quarterback, both of whom have started in the past.

Offensively, Carolina will have to replace center Randall Parsons, an All-ACC and third-team Associated Press All-America, and both starters at running back. Fullback Mike Faulkerson was a consistent force for the last three years and provided many of the holes through which tailback Natrone Means ran for more than 3,000 career yards.

Means was the focal point of the offensive attack for more than two seasons and put up numbers like some of the previous Tar Heel tailback stars such as Don Senior outside linebacker Bernardo Harris (24) made 90 tackles last year and is one magazine's preseason choice as the ACC Defensive Player of the Year.

McCauley, Mike Voight, Amos Lawrence and Kelvin Bryant. Means would have provided an experienced, potential Heisman Trophy candidate to run behind that veteran offensive line, but he decided to enter the National Football League draft after just his junior season. He was selected in the second round by the San Diego Chargers and his departure turns the tailback position over to a group of talented, yet largely untested, younger players.

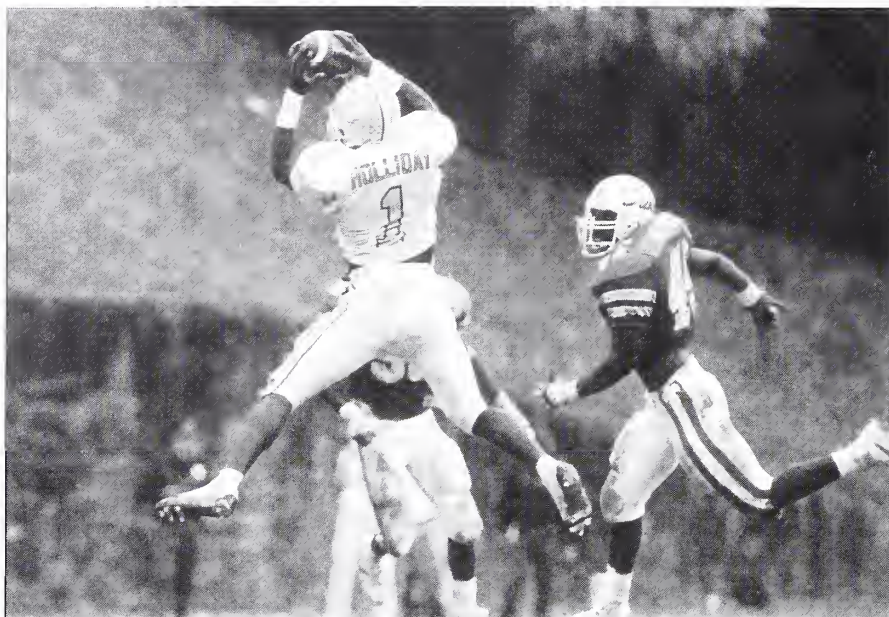

Because of the experience of the players returning at wide receiver, tight end and quarterback, the Tar Heels' passing game promises to be a more aggressive unit. Holliday and Brooks are a dangerous, one-two complementary attack at wide receiver and Greg DeLong could develop into one of the nation's most versatile tight ends.

Holliday, a graduate student who earned his degree in business administration in the spring, is just two catches shy of tying the all-time UNC career record. He has 105 career receptions, one behind College Hall of Famer Art Weiner and two behind Earl Winfield.

Brooks really came on late last season and developed into a big-play threat at flanker. He made five catches for 185 yards and two touchdowns in the win at Duke and jump-started the Tar Heels' offense in the Peach Bowl with a spectacular, twisting 53-yard grab at the start of the third quarter.

Quarterbacks Jason Stanicek and Mike Thomas provide Carolina with experience and talent to run the offense. Both players have shown the ability to move the football via the run or the pass and more importantly, they both have demonstrated leadership abilities to bring the Tar Heels through in key situations.

Corey Holliday enters the season needing just three more catches to become the Tar Heels' all-time receptions leader. A graduate student from Richmond, Va., Holliday has 105 career catches.

Sophomore Curtis Johnson stands as the favorite to begin the year as the starting tailback. Johnson saw some action last year as a red-shirt freshman and showed some of the ability the Tar Heel staff hopes will lead toward an unprecedented 22nd 1,000-yard rushing season. As Brown says, even with the emergence of a top-notch passing game and the loss of not only Means, but Randy Jordan to the NFL, Carolina will still be a team which prominently features the tailback.

Senior Antuarn Williams and red-shirt freshmen Leon Johnson and Maurice McGregor are ready to step in and battle for the job as well. It should be a spirited competition for playing time, something which will only bring out the best in each of the players and land the Tar Heels a talented tailback.

"We will have to take some pressure off the tailback early," says Brown. "To do that we will have to throw the ball on early downs, which we did more of last year and get our fullbacks more involved in the running game. That will give our tailbacks time to gain experience. And we have a tight end whom we can get the ball to with confidence. We have good wideouts, experience and ability at quarterback and good runners at fullback. Yes, we will still run the tailback, but not the same way we did with Natrone until we see who can be most effective in that role."

The Tar Heels have a pair of fullbacks with some experience in juniors Malcolm Marshall and William Henderson and a promising red-shirt freshman, Chris Watson. Marshall and Henderson have both played as the top backup to Faulkerson and are adept running the ball. However, both players need to improve their blocking.

Blocking should not be a problem up front, however, as UNC returns four senior starters along the offensive line. Guards Shawn Hocker and Scott Falise and tackles Ethan Albright and Curtis Parker will be joined by red-shirt sophomore Pat Connely or red-shirt sophomore Russell Babb in forming a battle-hardened group of linemen. Parker was a second-team all-conference choice last year and both Hocker and Albright should also contend for all-star honors this fall.

The Tar Heels went into the 1992 season with experience at running back and four new starters on the line, but this year things are reversed. However, Brown is worried about depth in the line.

"The backup offensive line is really a concern," says Brown. "We probably are better off now at this time than we were a year ago, but we still have a young and inexperienced second unit. Most of them have never played collegiately in the offensive line and several of them missed much of spring practice due to injuries and illnesses. That will be one of the keys to our season - to develop a stronger second line."

Defensively Carolina welcomes back

five starters, all of whom are seniors. Headlining the group are Harris and Walker. Harris is one of the top players in the nation at his position and emerged last year as one of the Tar Heels' most consistent players. He was the preseason selection as the ACC's Defensive Player of the Year by the NCAA Preview magazine.

Walker, a candidate for the Jim Thorpe Award as the nation's outstanding defensive back, is the type of player who makes himself nearly impossible to miss on the football field. Not only do you see the hard-hitting plays he makes from sideline to sideline, but more often than not you can hear and almost feel the blows. Walker became a standout last year by learning to make all the plays, not just the big ones, and by letting the big plays happen naturally. He etched his name into the Tar Heel history books with a remarkable display in the Peach Bowl as he blocked two punts and forced the game-winning interception with a jarring tackle. Walker played strong safety in 1992, but will man the free safety position this fall.

Defensive tackle Austin Robbins and cornerback Sean Crocker are two others who could challenge for all-star recognition. Robbins is a 6-6, 280-pound tackle who won the Morris Mason Award as the outstanding offseason performer. Robbins led the line with 50 tackles last year and is a solid professional candidate.

Crocker is a steady, consistent cornerback who also has the flair for the dramatic. He missed several games last year following surgery to repair an injured tendon in his hand, but came back to play well and courageously with a cast on his hand. He made a pair of interceptions at Florida State, four for the season and also broke up nine passes.

Robbins has plenty of good company on the defensive front. Senior Troy Barnett will start at nose guard, a position at which he saw plenty of action last year alternating with J.R. Boldin. Greg Black and Marcus Jones are co-starters at the other tackle slot. Both players are sophomores, although Black has a red-shirt year behind him. More importantly, both players are big and fast. Black is 6-4, 290, while Jones is 6-6, 255 and one of the strongest players on the team.

Senior Rick Steinbacher, voted by his teammates as a co-captain along with Holliday, returns at one inside linebacker spot, although junior Mike Morton was very impressive there in the spring and will contend for a starting position. Junior Kerry Mock steps in at the other inside linebacker position. Although the Tar Heels might not have an All-America candidate at this position, as they have recently with Dwight Hollier and Tommy Thigpen, this trio is consistent and as a group makes few mistakes.

Steinbacher was second on the team in tackles last year, Morton has a knack for big plays and Mock is a future all-star candidate. Last season Steinbacher made 108 tackles, Mock had 83 hits and Morton added 69. They will have to make up for the loss of Thigpen, a four-year starter who made more than 400 career tackles. He was selected in the fifth round of the NFL Draft by the New York Giants.

Harris mans the drop outside linebacker spot and a year ago made 90 tackles, the most by an outside linebacker since Lawrence Taylor had 95 in 1979. Converted tight end Oscar Sturgis and Ray Jacobs occupy the rush end position. Sturgis was a pleasant surprise during spring drills in terms of the progress he made in learning a new position. Jacobs is among the hardest hitters on the team. They will have to replace Jonathan Perry, a three-year starter who played in every game the last four seasons and emerged as the fiery leader of the UNC defense last year.

Defensively, the biggest concerns are in the secondary. Gone from last year are free safety Rondell Jones and cornerbacks Thomas Smith and Cliff Baskerville. Jones started for three-plus years and led the team last fall with 110 tackles. He was a third round pick of the Denver Broncos.

Smith was picked 29th overall in the first round of the NFL Draft by the AFC champion Buffalo Bills. He earned that distinction despite missing seven games due to an injury. When Smith went down with a broken forearm in the fourth game, Baskerville inherited the starting role and had key pass thefts against Virginia and Mississippi State.

Crocker starts at one corner and Lawrence Winslow and Jimmy Hitchcock will contend for starting honors opposite him. Winslow was slowed by an early knee injury last fall, but played some in nickel/dime packages. Hitchcock backed up Jones at free safety last year. He was moved to corner to take advantage of his speed and athleticism in man-to-man opportunities.

With Walker shifting to free safety, sophomore Sean Boyd is the best bet to take over at his old strong safety spot. He made a lot of progress in the spring and could be a player to watch. He was one of the top surprises on the team in the spring.

Mike Thomas gives the Tar Heels an additional weapon with his punting abilities. He averaged 43.1 yards a kick last year and allowed the opponents to begin just one drive on Carolina's half of the field. Thomas was selected first-team All-ACC and first-team Freshman All-America.

Place-kickers Tripp Pignetti and Ben Crosland also return. Crosland handles most of the kickoff duties, while Pignetti converted 14 of 19 field goal tries last year and was 28 for 29 in extra point attempts. Sophomores Eddie Pope and Scott Caparelli might also be given a shot at place-kicking responsibilities.

The Tar Heels will also have to replace return men Randall Felton and Jordan. Felton returned 30 of the 46 punt returns last year and Jordan brought back nearly half the kickoff returns. Senior Steven Jerry and sophomore Marcus Wall, two players who should also see plenty of action at wide receiver, are the leading candidates for these jobs.

"A big question in all modern-day football programs is depth due to diminishing scholarship numbers, therefore staying healthy is a major concern," says Brown. "We lose a lot of great athletes who are going on to play in the NFL, but we have talented people to step in for them. The question is can we mesh together with the same type of chemistry that we did last year around midseason, and play with the type of intensity and confidence we did in the second half of the Peach Bowl."

"The win in the Peach Bowl has helped with our leadership gains. Our guys are proud to wear their rings and watches from the bowl and that carried over to the best semester we have had academically.

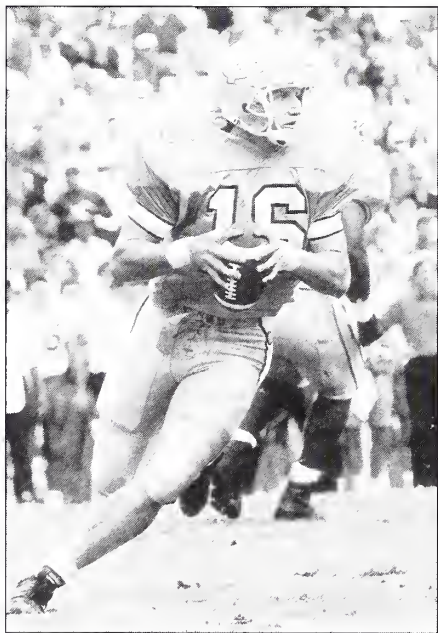

The players are so much more self-motivated. They went to a bowl, had lots of fun, won the game and now want to go back and do it again."

POSITION ANALYSIS

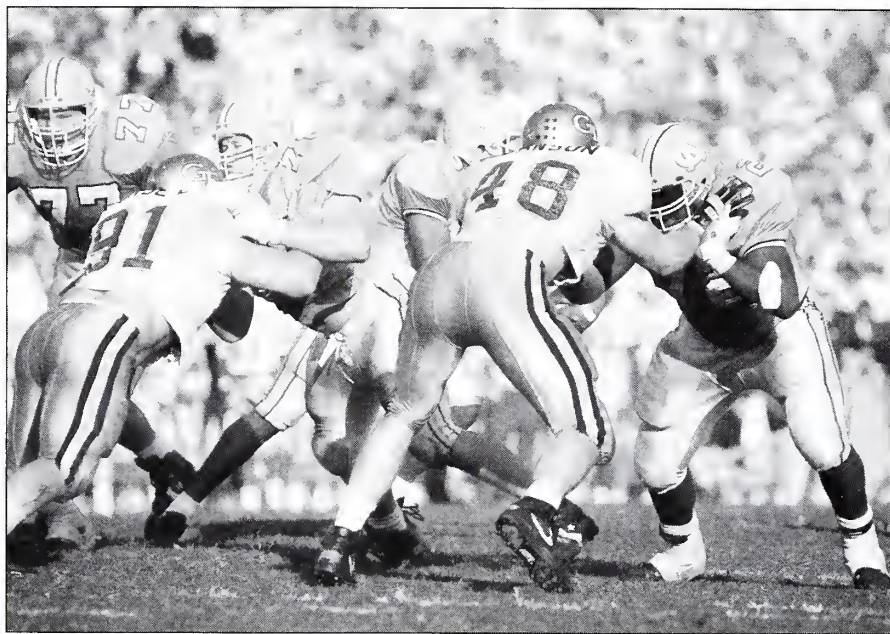

Junior Jason Stanicek (6-2, 185, Park Forest, Ill.) and sophomore Mike Thomas (6-2, 225, Hamlet, N.C.) enter preseason as co-starters at quarterback. Stanicek took most of the snaps during the spring as Thomas was out with a torn chest muscle.

Stanicek completed 83 of 144 passes for 1,082 yards and four touchdowns last year and has completed more than 57 percent of his passes over two years. A proficient runner, Stanicek reads defenses well and has good touch on his throws. He was intercepted only one time in his last 76 passes last fall, covering the final six games. Stanicek had a pair of 200-yard passing days in '92, including a 237-yard day vs. N.C. State when he connected on 26 of 35 attempts.

Thomas should be ready to go by the start of preseason drills. He underwent surgery to repair a torn muscle on March 3. Last fall he set a UNC freshman record by passing for 831 yards and was named the Tar Heels' Most Outstanding First-Year Player. He set several records in the win at Duke, including most passing yards by a freshman (299), most yards of total offense by a freshman (318) and most yards per completion (27.2). He was named the ACC Rookie of the Week on three occasions. Thomas has a strong arm and good running ability and continues to learn the nuances of the position.

Junior quarterback Jason Stanicek tied a school record last year when he completed 14 consecutive passes against N.C. State. Stanicek threw for a career-high 237 yards vs. the Wolfpack.

Scott Falise (77), Shawn Hocker (78) and Curtis Parker (72) make up three-fourths of the returning senior starters on the offensive line.

"We are very lucky to have quarterbacks like them," says Brown. "They get along, they work hard and they are unselfish. I like their presence, their experience and their ability, and they have shown the talent to win big games. Not just win games, but win big games."

In addition to two outstanding quarterbacks, Carolina's passing game features a very capable corp of receivers, led by seniors Corey Holliday and Bucky Brooks. Holliday (6-2, 204, Richmond, Va.) has made 105 career catches for 1,560 yards and has caught a pass in 33 consecutive games, a UNC record. Holliday is fearless going over the middle and making catches in traffic and has shown the ability to make big runs following receptions. He is the only Tar Heel ever to have three seasons with 25 or more catches and also the only UNC player with three seasons of 400-plus yards receiving. A graduate student, Holliday led the squad with 37 catches in 1992, including touchdown grabs at Florida State and against Virginia.

He is complemented very nicely on the outside by Brooks, a 6-0, 190-pound speedster from Raleigh, N.C. Brooks burst onto the scene midway through last year and made several game-breaking plays in key contests. He caught a 27-yard scoring pass versus Georgia Tech, hauled in five for 185 yards and two touchdowns at Duke, and made a 53-yard reception in the Peach Bowl which helped to ignite the second-half comeback win over Mississippi State. Brooks has exceptional speed and has matured into a very dependable receiver.

Senior Steven Jerry (6-0, 185, Orlando, Fla.) and sophomore Marcus Wall (5-10, 165, Fayetteville, N.C.) should back up Brooks at flanker. Jerry caught 14 passes a year ago, including a 28-yard touchdown at Maryland, and is likely the third-string emergency quarterback. Jerry played that position in 1990 and, with Thomas injured, took a lot of snaps during spring drills. Wall made one catch and returned nine kickoffs as a true freshman in 1992.

Holliday should be backed up by either sophomores Gray Bovender (6-1, 182, Winston-Salem, N.C.) or Fuzzy Lee (5-11, 190, Clinton, N.C.). Bovender missed all of last year and spring drills following a knee injury which he suffered late in preseason practice. Lee is a converted cornerback who made the switch to receiver during spring workouts.

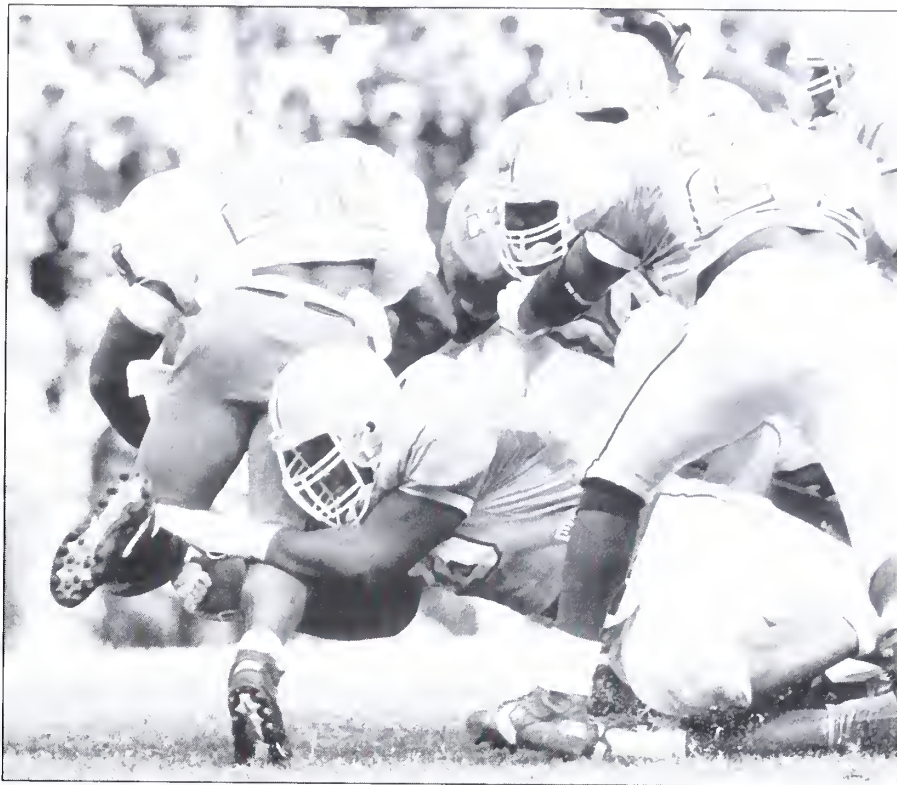

Junior Greg DeLong returns as the starting tight end. A 6-4, 240-pound junior from Orefield, Pa., DeLong is a standout blocker in the running game who has shown he also can make the tough catch. He hauled in 14 receptions last year and could see an expanded role in the offensive attack this season.

DeLong is backed up by a pair of red-shirt freshmen, Freddie Jones (6-4, 240, Landover, Md.) and Marc Montoro (6-4, 215, Marietta, Ga.). Both players are lacking in experience, but should see an opportunity for playing time behind DeLong.

Tailback is a position rich with opportunities. Sophomore Curtis Johnson (5-10, 208, Greensboro, N.C.) came out of the spring as the starter with senior Antuarn Williams (5-9, 188, DeLeon Springs, Fla.) the top backup.

Johnson carried 34 times for 244 yards last year and scored twice, including a three-yard, fourth-quarter run versus Georgia Tech and a 76-yard scamper at Clemson. The latter tied the UNC record for longest run by a freshman. He also was a member of the UNC track team in the spring and set the school record in the 100 meter dash with a time of 10.38 seconds.

Williams saw limited time in 1992 due to injuries and returned just one kickoff for 17 yards. In 1991 he scored two first-half touchdowns in the season opener against Cincinnati. He was very effective running the ball in the spring but needs to stay healthy.

A pair of red-shirt freshmen, Leon Johnson (6-1, 200, Morganton, N.C.) and Maurice McGregor (6-2, 230, Marietta, Ga.) will also challenge for playing time at tailback. Johnson worked with the scout team last fall at quarterback, but switched to tailback in the spring. Both players showed flashes of outstanding running ability during the spring, but must work to improve their strength and become more consistent.

Juniors Malcolm Marshall and William Henderson hold down the top two spots at fullback and will be backed up by red-shirt freshman Chris Watson. Marshall played in 10 games as a true freshman in 1990, redshirted in '91 and carried 20 times for 52 yards last year. He had a seven-yard touchdown run against Virginia in 1992.

Henderson had a solid campaign two years ago, averaging 5.6 yards per carry and scoring two touchdowns. He had a 101-yard rushing game against Maryland. Last year, however, he was beset by injuries and had just two carries.

Up front the Tar Heels return four starters, all of whom are seniors. Curtis Parker (6-3, 285, Wingate, N.C.) will start at left tackle, Shawn Hocker (6-4, 280, Sarasota, Fla.) at left guard, Scott Falise (6-3, 265, Pittsburgh, Pa.) at right guard and Ethan Albright (6-6, 265, Greensboro, N.C.) at right tackle. That quartet, which started all but one game together last season, should be joined at center by sophomore Pat Conneely. A 6-5, 240-pound, Pensacola, Fla. native, Conneely started one time last year.

Parker earned second-team All-ACC honors last fall and played some of his finest games against the league's top defensive ends, mainly Chris Slade of Virginia and Coleman Rudolph of Georgia Tech. Parker injured his shoulder in workouts prior to the Peach Bowl and then reinjured the shoulder in the bowl game. He had surgery in March and missed spring drills.

Hocker could play either guard or center and has the ability, size and demeanor to become an all-conference player. The same is true for Albright, a player who has exceptional size and agility and could become one of the conference's best blockers.

Sophomore Curtis Johnson is the leading candidate to replace Natrone Means at tailback. Johnson scored twice in 1992, including a three-yard run vs. Georgia Tech and a 76-yarder at Clemson.

Senior inside linebacker Rick Steinbacher was second on the team last year with 108 tackles. Along with Corey Holliday, Steinbacher was elected a co-captain for the 1993 season. (Brett Whitesell photo)

Falise gives a very consistent effort every week and is one of the most durable players on the team. He started every game last year and was the ACC Offensive Lineman of the Week for his performance against Wake Forest.

A key contributor to the offensive line could be sophomore Russell Babb (6-4, 280, Wilson, N.C.). Babb can play either guard or tackle and his versatility will allow Hocker to move to center if necessary.

Brown's concerns around the offensive line center mainly on the inexperience of the second unit. In addition to Babb, the second unit includes right guard Scott Overbeck and right tackle Roge Purgason. Overbeck (6-3, 260, So., New Canaan, Conn.) played in six games last year, but missed about half of spring practice due to a bout of mononucleosis. Purgason (6-5, 280., Jr., Charlotte, N.C.) injured a knee in midseason in 1991 and although he returned to practice last fall, did not see any game action.

Red-shirt freshmen Byron Thomas and Marcus Brinkley need to gain experience and make the adjustments necessary to compete in major college football. Thomas (6-4, 290, Oxford, N.C.) missed the last two weeks of spring practice after he broke a bone in his lower leg, and Brinkley (6-4, 255, Spring Hope, N.C.) moved over from defense during spring practice.

The defensive line is as deep as at any previous time in Brown's years at UNC. Senior Austin Robbins (6-6, 280, Washington, D.C.) will start at one tackle position, senior Troy Barnett (6-4, 280, Jacksonville, N.C.) will start at nose guard and sophomores Greg Black (6-4, 290, Gastonia, N.C.) and Marcus Jones (6-6, 255, Jacksonville, N.C.) ended the spring sharing honors at the other tackle slot.

Robbins has eight career sacks and is a definite professional prospect because of his size and speed. The Tar Heels are looking for a breakthrough type season from him. Barnett walked on the team four years ago and has been one of the squad's top pass rushers.

Black and Jones are two exciting, young prospects who made huge strides towards the end of the '92 season. Jones had a dynamite game in the Peach Bowl and helped key that second-half rally. Black is a mountain of a man who is deceptively quick. They should be the foundation of a solid line for several years.

Depth up front will be provided by tackles Riddick Parker (6-3, 255, Jr., Murfreesboro, N.C.), Michael Payne (6-3, 246, Sr., Clemmons, N.C.) and red-shirt freshman Rick Terry (6-4, 265, Lexington, N.C.) and red-shirt freshmen nose guards Brian Honeycutt (6-4, 245, Benson, N.C.) and Andre Purvis (6-5, 260, Jacksonville, N.C.).

Co-captain Rick Steinbacher heads up a deep group of inside linebackers. A 6-1, 239-pound senior from Greenville, S.C., Steinbacher has started 16 games over the last two seasons and last year was the second-leading tackler on the team with 108 hits. He will be pushed for playing time by junior Mike Morton (6-3, 225, Kannapolis, N.C.). Morton played on 561 snaps last year and had a key second-half interception against Virginia. Both players put themselves in the proper position to make the plays on a consistent basis.

Junior Kerry Mock inherits the other starting job at inside linebacker. Mock (6-3, 225, Thomasville, N.C.) was virtually a starter last year due to injuries suffered by Tommy Thigpen. Mock made 83 tackles and had an early interception against Georgia Tech which led to a field goal and a fourth-quarter pass theft which helped seal the win in the Peach Bowl.

Disneyland Pigskin Classic

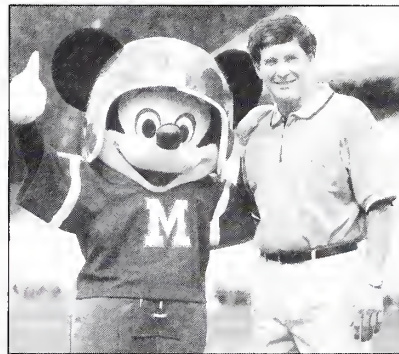

North Carolina opens the 1993 season with an August 29 clash against Southern California in the Disneyland Pigskin Classic. The game will be played at Anaheim Stadium in Anaheim, Calif. at 6 p.m., Pacific Daylight Time and will be broadcast nationally by Raycom, Inc.

The game is one of the two traditional season openers that headline the start of the college football season. Florida State and Kansas will play in the Kickoff Classic in the New Jersey Meadowlands on August 28.

"This is an honor to our coaches and players to be asked to play in this game," says head coach Mack Brown. "With the type of programs that have played in that game in recent years and the fact that it will be John Robinson's first game back at USC, it will be a great challenge. It is a chance for our program to be recognized nationally as among the best in college football and that is exciting.

"It sends a message to our players, our fans and our alumni that we look forward going on the road to play an outstanding football team. It's an exciting time for both our programs as we embark on trying to remain a Top 20 team and Coach Robinson returning to the college ranks. With the added unique fact that the two schools have the two top number of 1,000-yard rushers in college football history, I think it will be a rewarding experience."

Mock will be backed up by junior Eddie Mason (6-0, 220, Siler City, N.C.). Mason is a top special teams player who made 27 tackles last fall and recovered a fourth-quarter fumble by Georgia Tech which led to the clinching touchdown in a win over the Yellow Jackets.

The Tar Heels have one of the nation's top defensive players at outside linebacker in Bernardo Harris, a 6-2, 235-pound senior from Chapel Hill. Harris made 90 tackles last year, including six and one-half for losses, and he also broke up six passes. He can chase guys out of the backfield, bang with the tight ends or drop into pass coverage. Defensive coordinator Carl Torbush says that Harris was the most consistent UNC defender in 1992. He had a career-high 18 tackles against the rugged Army wishbone last year and he was instrumental in the Peach Bowl win with 11 tackles and two hurried bad passes.

Harris will be backed up by red-shirt freshman James Hamilton (6-6, 210, Hamlet, N.C.) and sophomore Doug Leonard (6-5, 233, Bethel Park, Pa.).

The Tar Heels have a pair of aggressive, very talented hitters at the rush outside linebacker spot in junior Oscar Sturgis (6-5, 250, Hamlet, N.C.) and senior Ray Jacobs (6-2, 248, Hampstead, N.C.). Sturgis played two years at tight end, but was moved over to defense in the spring. He showed signs in the spring that he could develop into a professional prospect at outside linebacker. He has great size and speed and picked up the new position quickly.

Jacobs has alternated at this position over the last several years with Jonathan Perry. Jacobs made 44 tackles, including six for losses and two quarterback sacks, a year ago. He is one of the hardest hitters on the team.

Junior John Bradley (6-0, 230, Wilmington, N.C.) will back up Sturgis and Jacobs. Bradley is another special teams standout who the coaches feel has now developed the consistency which will allow him to see more playing time on defense. He can play any of the four linebacker positions.

Most of the new faces on defense will be in the secondary where UNC lost several top players. Bracey Walker (5-11, 190, Spring Lake, N.C.) moves from strong to free safety, and senior Sean Crocker (5-10, 190, Wakefield, Va.) returns at cornerback, but the Tar Heels have new faces elsewhere.

Walker should be mentioned with the nation's top defensive backs. He was twice named ACC Defensive Back of the Week last year, was second-team all-conference and grabbed Defensive MVP honors at the Peach Bowl. He made 96 tackles at strong safety last season and has a chance to be even more involved in the play this year at free safety.

"Bracey Walker is a winner," says Brown. "He practices hard every day, plays hard every game. His ability to change the momentum of a game is obvious. Bracey can hit someone while running fullspeed across the field. He's just a tremendous player."

played on more than 250 snaps at cornerback last year and saw extensive playing time against N.C. State and Navy.

Crocker missed three games with a torn tendon in his right ring finger last year but still led the team with four interceptions and nine pass breakups. He had five tackles, caused a fumble, broke up three passes and picked off another at Wake Forest, and intercepted a pair at Florida State. He will be backed up by red-shirt freshman Ronald Thomas (6-1, 180, Paterson, N.J.).

Opposite Crocker at the other corner slot will be senior Lawrence Winslow (5-10, 176, Elizabeth City, N.C.) and junior Jimmy Hitchcock (5-11, 190, Concord, N.C.). Winslow is an Academic All-ACC selection from a year ago who missed some early games due to a knee injury. Hitchcock played free safety last year and was called upon to play a key role in the second half of the Peach Bowl after Rondell Jones was forced out of action with an injury. He was moved to corner to take advantage of his excellent athletic ability.

Sophomores Sean Boyd and Kevin Addis will try and fill Walker's role at strong safety. Boyd (6-3, 195, Gastonia, N.C.) was one of the top young performers in spring drills and has all the tools to become a fine player. Addis (6-4, 195, Union, S.C.) is a hard-working, hard hitter who showed his ability last year to be a key special teams player. Both players have good size for the position and only lack a little experience. Addis and Boyd made 17 and 12 tackles, respectively, last year.

Cornerback Sean Crocker led the team with four interceptions and nine pass breakups last fall, despite missing three games due to injury. Crocker had two pass thefts at Florida State when he played with an oversized cast. (Scott Sharpe photo)

Academy Award

The 1992 Oscar for Best Supporting Actor was awarded to Jack Palance for his portrayal of an old-time trail boss at a modern dude ranch in City Slickers. Palance is a former Carolina football player. Walter Jack Palanske was a member of the 1937 freshman team and the 1938 varsity.

All-Americans

Twenty-three Carolina football players have received first-team All-America honors with numerous others gaining second- and third-team recognition. The first-team selections stretch from guard George Barclay in 1934 to guard Pat Crowley in 1989 and include five players who were so honored in two different seasons: end Paul Severin in 1939 and 1940, halfback Charlie Justice in 1948 and 1949, end Art Weiner in 1948 and 1949, offensive guard David Drechsler in 1981 and 1982 and defensive tackle William Fuller in 1982 and 1983.

All-Star Candidates

Seven Carolina players won either first- or second-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors last year. Tailback Natrone Means, center Randall Parsons and punter Mike Thomas were first-team selections, while defensive backs Bracey Walker and Rondell Jones, linebacker Tommy Thigpen and offensive tackle Curtis Parker were on the second team. Means and Parsons were both third-team All-Americans.

Thomas, Walker and Parker are all back this year and rate among the best players in the country at their positions. Also receiving preseason All-America mention have been split end Corey Holliday, outside linebacker Bernardo Harris and offensive guard Shawn Hocker. In addition, flanker Bucky Brooks, offensive tackle Ethan Albright, tight end Greg DeLong and defensive tackle Austin Robbins are expected to challenge for all-star honors. And of course, there will be a few other players, like Walker last year, who will sneak up on us this fall. But we'll let you know about them as we go along.

Alumni

As of the end of last school year, there were 193,230 living Carolina alumni. Of that total, 103,780 (53.7 percent) live in the state of North Carolina. Alumni reside in all 50 states and 130 foreign countries.

Alumni Association

Its offices are located in the new George Watts Hill Alumni Center next to Kenan Stadium and is headed by Doug Dibbert, director of alumni affairs. He can be reached at (919) 962-1208.

Announcer

Field announcer at Kenan Stadium is Kearney Andrews of Lexington, N.C. Press Box announcer is Dave Lohse, Associate Sports Information Director.

Atlantic Coast Conference

Carolina was a charter member of the league when it was formed in 1953. Other current institutions include original members Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina State, Virginia and Wake Forest. Georgia Tech joined the league in 1979 and Florida State in 1991. The Seminoles competed for the ACC football title for the first time last season.

The league offices are located in Greensboro, N.C. The commissioner is Gene Corrigan. Brian Morrison serves as director of the media service bureau and is assisted by Emily Watkins.

Away Games

For those media covering the Tar Heels this year, get the frequent flyer cards out and ready. This year's away game schedule includes, in addition to a quiet ride to Charlottesville, Va., trips to Los Angeles (August 29 vs. Southern California), Atlanta (October 16 vs. Georgia Tech) and New Orleans (November 13 vs. Tulane).

Here's a list of Carolina's top 20 all-time attendance figures on the road:

Bainbridge

When Charlie Justice signed up to enlist in World War II, he was asked which branch of the service he preferred. He told the draft board that since he couldn't swim, he should be in the army. Justice, of course, was immediately put in the navy and sent to Bainbridge Naval Training Station in Maryland. Each base fielded its own football team. Although lined up against college and professional stars, Justice just out of high school, was an immediate sensation. Bainbridge went undefeated in 1943 and was ranked the number one service team in the country.

It was at Bainbridge that Charlie got his nickname. An observer commented, while watching him play, "Say, that Justice kid runs like a choo choo train." The tag stuck and Charlie Justice became interchangeable with Choo Choo Justice. Charlie spent two seasons at Bainbridge before being shipped to Hawaii. He played there for the Pearl Harbor Navy All-Stars.

Barclay, George

Carolina's first football All-America in 1934, Barclay played offensive guard and linebacker. He was named captain of the of the 1934 team which went 7-1-1. Barclay later served as Carolina's head coach from 1953 to 1955.

Beat Dook Parade

This is an annual parade held before the big game with Duke each football season. It features floats put together by various residence colleges, fraternities and sororities.

Blanchard, Felix (Doc)

The great Army All-America fullback who actually began his college football career at Carolina. He enrolled at Chapel Hill in 1941. But, because of the war, the army took him away. He was enrolled at West Point where he became a three-time All-America and part of the famed Mr. Inside and Mr. Outside tandem with Glenn Davis. Blanchard won the Heisman Trophy in 1945.

Blanchard's son, Tony, was a star tight end at Carolina from 1968 to 1970 and is still tied for 14th place on the school's all-time receiving list.

Blocked Kicks

Bracey Walker, a top all-star candidate in the secondary, also rates as one of Carolina's best special teams players. Last season he blocked three punts, including two in the Peach Bowl. He returned one of those 41 yards for a touchdown. He also had a 40-yard return of a blocked punt for a score earlier in the year against Furman. Defensive tackle Marcus Jones also had a blocked punt in the Furman game.

Carolina has now blocked at least one punt in each of the past four seasons.

Bowl and Basketball Titles

When Carolina defeated Mississippi State, 21-17, in last year's Peach Bowl and then edged Michigan, 77-71, in the NCAA men's basketball championship game, it marked only the ninth time in history a school had won a bowl game and the basketball title in the same school year.

The Tar Heels accomplished the same feat in the 1981-82 school year when they defeated Arkansas in the 1981 Gator Bowl and then beat Georgetown in the 1982 NCAA basketball finals.

Bowl Games

Carolina has gone bowling 17 times with 13 of those appearances coming in the last 23 years. The all-time Tar Heel bowl record is now 7-10 after last season's dramatic 21-17 come-from-behind win over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl.

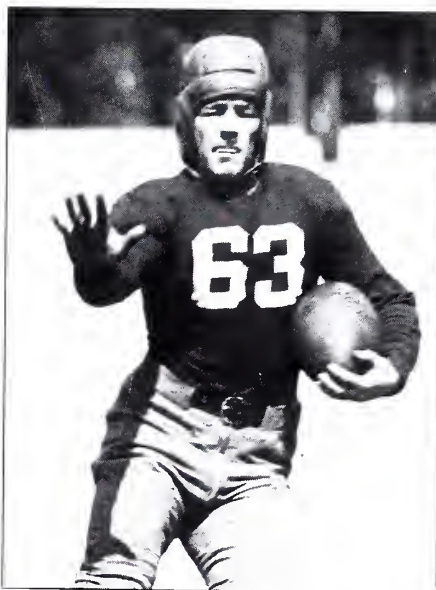

UNC has played in the 1947 and 1949 Sugar Bowls; the 1950 Cotton Bowl; the 1963, 1971, 1979 and 1981 Gator Bowls; the 1970, 1976, 1983 and 1993 Peach Bowls; the 1972, 1974 and 1982 Sun Bowls; the 1977 Liberty Bowl; the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl; and the 1986 Aloha Bowl.

Branch, Johnny

Every Carolina fan knows the exploits of Charlie Justice, the school's most famous player and one of the greatest kick returners in history. However, there are some longtime observers of football in this state who say Justice might not have been the school's best at returning punts. They say Johnny Branch was unsurpassed in that area. As a senior in 1931 he averaged 19.8 yards on 10 returns. His career average had to be an incredible figure as evidenced by that season and partial records of his long plays the two previous years.

As a sophomore, Branch didn't play fulltime as he was just one of the stars on the famous "Team of a Million Backs." However, he did have a 60-yard punt return against Georgia Tech and another of 43 yards against Maryland. In 1930 he had punt returns covering 63, 68, 85 and 96 yards. The 85-yard sprint was for a touchdown against Virginia Tech, while the 96-yarder, still the longest in Tar Heel history, accounted for a score against Maryland. As a senior, the 5-5, 150-pound Branch had a 44-yard touchdown return against Virginia

Johnny Branch is one of the Tar Heels' all-time great kick return men. Branch still holds the record for the longest punt return in UNC history, a 96-yard effort vs. Maryland in 1930.

Cancelled Games

Carolina only played eight games during the 1952 season. Early-season contests against N.C. State and Georgia had to be cancelled because of a polio outbreak on campus.

The entire 1917 and 1918 seasons were wiped out because of World War I.

Captains

In voting by their teammates last spring, split end Corey Holliday and linebacker Rick Steinbacher were named permanent captains for the 1993 season. While they were easy winners in the balloting, there were a number of other players bunched together very closely in a second tier of votes. During the course of the year those players will serve along with Holliday and Steinbacher as game captains with one or two of them also being named a permanent captain in voting after the season.

Carolina Blue

The light blue color worn by Carolina athletic teams. It has many different names - light blue, powder blue, sky blue and Columbia Blue among others. However, the accomplishments of Tar Heel athletes have really made the color synonymous with the university so it simply bears its name. Carolina Blue is identified by PMS color #297.

This is also the name of a newspaper which covers Carolina athletics. Call 1-800-637-BLUE for subscription information.

Carolina Cheerios

This is the most famous cheering section in Carolina history. It was organized in 1927 by head cheerleader Kay Kyser. The Cheerios, which included a chorus and dance group, was made up of 300 students dressed in blue coats and white trousers.

In his time in Chapel Hill, Kyser also wrote a new fight song, Tar Heels On Hand. He was a hustler who kept things hopping in the stands even if they were dragging on the field. Kyser was a natural showman so it was no surprise when he made it big in show business. His bands were world-famous. His "College of Musical Knowledge" was one of the most popular of all radio shows. He made movies and The New York Times called him "The Genius of Jazz." But, in Chapel Hill, he is still best known for the Cheerios.

CFA Awards

Carolina has been honored by the UNC received honorable mention recognition by the College Football Association for graduating more than 70 percent of its players for the fifth time in six years. College Football Association with its Academic Achievement Award in each of the last five seasons and in six of the past seven. The Tar Heels have won honorable mention recognition in the spring of 1987, '89, '90, '91, '92 and '93 by graduating over 70 percent of their senior players.

Carolina and Virginia are the only state universities to be so honored in each of the last five years. Last year Carolina was one of just seven schools to win the CFA Award and also finish in the Top 20 on the playing field.

"Our eventual goal is to win the CFA Award for the best percentage and also the ACC football championship in the same year," says Carolina head coach Mack Brown.

Chapel Hill

Home of the University of North Carolina, the town traces its history back to 1792 when it was known as New Hope Chapel Hill. It was named for New Hope Chapel, a church located atop a hill.

Today, the town has about 36,000 permanent residents. However, when the university is in session, the population goes above 65,000. Because of the university's presence, the town is like a cosmopolitan city, but it still maintains the charm of a village.

Chapel Hill was rated the third best place to live nationally out of 329 metro areas surveyed in the 1985 Places Rated Almanac, published by Rand McNally. It is part of an urban region known as the Research Triangle. Time magazine named this area "one of the 20 nicest places to live in the United States." It was also rated in two other recent surveys as being among the five best places to live in America.

Cheerleading

None allowed in the press box.

"Choo Choo" Blount

Wait a minute, it's "Choo Choo" Justice, isn't it? Well, of course that is the more famous of the pair, but Eric Blount etched his name right alongside Charlie Justice's in 1991 with a dazzling performance against William and Mary. Blount became only the second Tar Heel and fifth player in NCAA history to return both a kickoff and punt for touchdowns in the same game. Justice had turned the trick against Florida in 1946. Blount ran back a punt 76 yards for a score and one series later ran back a kickoff 93 yards. That helped Carolina to a 59-36 win over the Tribe.

Following the game in the locker room, several players were heard to holler, "Way to go, Choo Choo Blount!" Last year Eric returned kicks for the Phoenix Cardinals of the NFL.

CoSIDA

College Sports Information Directors of America. Sports Information Director Rick Brewer was inducted into the organization's Hall of Fame in 1991, joining longtime Carolina SID Jake Wade.

Davie, William R.

"The Father of the university," a revolutionary patriot, a governor of North Carolina and the recipient of the university's first honorary doctor of laws degree. A graduate of Princeton, Davie was a cavalry officer in the Revolutionary War and a delegate to the Philadelphia Constitutional Convention in 1787.

Davie persuaded this state's new legislature to charter the university, the first state institution in the country. Ratification occurred just 20 days after North Carolina ratified the U.S. Constitution. Only days after the university was chartered, a bill was introduced to provide building funds and support for the school through escheats and tax exemptions. Davie prepared the ordinance fixing the seat of the university and played a leading role in the construction of buildings and the selection of the faculty. Davie steered a building loan through the General Assembly in December of 1791 which was the only state appropriation for the university until after the Civil War.

Davie, as grand master of masons, laid the cornerstone to Old East, now the oldest state university building in the nation, on October 12, 1793. This day is observed as University Day each year.

Dorsett, Tony

The only major college player other than Carolina's Amos Lawrence to rush for 1,000 yards in four straight seasons. Lawrence gained 1,211 yards in 1977, had 1,043 in 1978, ran for 1,019 in 1979 and then had 1,118 in 1980.

Durham, Woody

Now in his 23rd year of handling radio play-by-play commentary for Carolina. Durham, a 1963 Carolina graduate, has the most recognizable voice in the entire state as Tar Heel games can be heard on a network of over 70 stations. He's famous for his meticulous preparation for every broadcast. Durham is vice-president and executive sports director of the Village Companies in Chapel Hill, loves to play golf and has been voted North Carolina sports-caster of the year so many times the award may be retired.

First Game

Carolina's first football game was played against Wake Forest on October 8, 1888. The site was the State Fair in Raleigh.

The university was represented by a team of sophomores who had defeated the rest of the student body and was looking for new opposition. A game with Wake Forest sophomores was arranged. The rules of "foot ball" were vastly different than they are now. In fact, there were very few rules at all. However, according to The News & Observer of Raleigh, "the game was exciting and was played by excellent teams on both sides. It was witnessed by a tremendous crowd. The players were uniformed and were a skilled and active set of boys."

Each goal counted two points and Wake won the game, 6-4. This was the first inter-collegiate game of "foot ball" played in the state of North Carolina.

1920 Foard, Edison "Satchel"

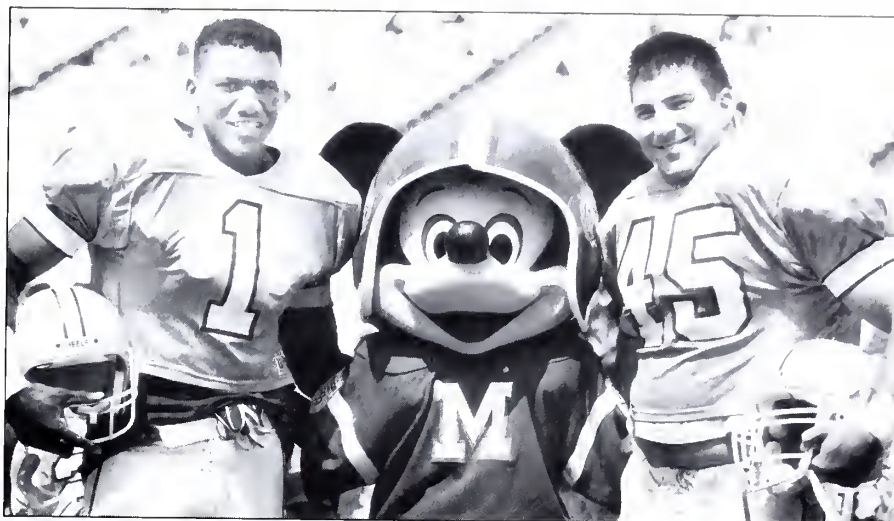

Scored the first touchdown in Kenan Stadium. Foard scored on a five-yard run against Davidson in the first game ever played in Kenan Stadium on November 12, 1927. The Tar Heels went on to win the game, 27-0. Foard graduated in 1929. At 89-years-young, Mr. Foard is still chairman of the board of Edison Foard, Inc. in Charlotte and still plays a terrific game of golf. The 1927 team was honored by the University in 1977 prior to the Clemson game, 50 years after Foard's historic end zone run.

1920 Football Is Indeed The Name of The Game

Over the years Carolina has been blessed with a number of outstanding punters. Harry Dunkle, in fact, was the NCAA punting champion in 1939 with a 46.6 average and Charlie Justice also topped the nation in punting with a 44.0 average in Edison "Satchel" Foard scored the first touchdown in Kenan Stadium history. Foard scored on a five-yard run against Davidson in Kenan's debut on November 19, 1927.

1993 captains Corey Holliday (1) and Rick Steinbacher posed with a special friend after the Tar Heels spring scrimmage. The Tar Heels will travel to Mickey Mouse's home turf in Anaheim, Calif. for an August 29 battle against Southern California in the Disneyland Pigskin Classic. (Bob Donnan photo)

Eight Tar Heels have led the Atlantic Coast Conference in punting. Mike Thomas was the most recent with a 43.1 average last season. That was the best mark of any freshman in the country. What made his kicking especially remarkable was he didn't get to practice as much as most kickers as he was working at quarterback during the regular practice sessions.

1920 Forward Pass

Carolina has been given credit for throwing the first forward pass in a game. The immortal John Heisman is the man who gave that distinction to the Tar Heels in a 1928 edition of Collier's Weekly. Heisman had witnessed the event in a Carolina-Georgia game played in Atlanta on October 26, 1895.

1920 Franklin Street

Most famous street in North Carolina. It's the main thoroughfare through downtown Chapel Hill. However, there are other streets and roads in this college town with famous names. Among them are Justice, Weiner, Barclay, Severin, Branch, Fetzer and Hartig. All were named for important figures in Carolina's football history.

1920 A Freshman Record

When Curtis Johnson ran 76 yards for a touchdown at Clemson last year it equaled the longest ever by a Tar Heel freshman.

1920 General College

All freshmen and sophomores are enrolled in the university's General College and must complete 13 to 14 general education courses along with about seven free electives. The general education courses reflect the faculty's thoughts on what students will need to lead productive and meaningful lives.

These courses are in English, mathematics, the sciences, history and foreign language. They provide the foundation for balanced development and are taken by all students, regardless of intended fields of study.

1920 Graduate Student

That's what all-star wide receiver Corey Holliday will be this fall as he completes his final year of athletic eligibility. Holliday earned a degree in business last spring and was accepted into Carolina's sports administration program for post-graduate work.

1920 The Gray Fox

One of the many nicknames given former Carolina Coach Carl Snively. He was also King Carl, The Dutch Master and Mr. Single Wingback.

Snively directed Carolina to its greatest heights in football, taking the Tar Heels to three major bowl games during the Charlie Justice Era in the late 1940s.

A quiet man on and off the field, Snively was a perfectionist who rarely passed out compliments. In fact, it was not until after Justice graduated that Snively finally admitted Charlie was the best player he had coached.

Snavelly was a pioneer in the use of films in football. He watched game films day and night, at his office and at home. His only vice was ice cream. Late-night visitors to his home would often find him with a quart of ice cream in his lap and his black german shepherd Barnaby at his side, watching films of the previous game.

In 32 seasons of collegiate coaching at Carolina, Bucknell, Cornell and Washington university in St. Louis, he compiled a brilliant 180-96-16 record. He is a member of the National Football Hall of Fame.

Holliday's Streak

Split end Corey Holliday goes into the fall having caught at least one pass in 33 straight regular-season games. That's a school record. The NCAA record is 44 set by Ohio State's Gary Williams (1979-82). With Carolina playing in the Disneyland Classic, the Tar Heels will have 12 games on this year's schedule, giving Holliday a chance to break that national record.

Homecoming

Improved Records

Carolina is the only school in the Atlantic Coast Conference to post an improved record in each of the last three seasons. As Mack Brown's rebuilding program has begun to show dividends, the Tar Heels have gone from 1-10 in 1989 to 6-4-1 in 1990, 7-4 in 1991 and 9-3 in 1992.

Justice, Charlie

The most famous of all Carolina football players, Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice is regarded by many as the greatest all-around player in the history of the South. Justice, a triple-threat tailback from a single-wing formation, starred on Tar Heel teams from 1946 to 1949. He helped spark Carolina to two Sugar Bowl appearances and one trip to the Cotton Bowl. He still holds many school total offense and punting records.

Justice was the subject of a book, Choo Choo, the Charlie Justice Story, by Bob Quincy and Julian Scheer and of a song, "All The Way Choo Choo," by Orville Campbell and Hank Bebee. Charlie and his wife, Sarah, now live in Cherryville, N.C., but he is a frequent visitor to Chapel Hill. A profile of Justice can be found on pages 176 and 177 of this brochure.

Kenan Stadium

Home of Carolina's Tar Heels. Called by William Rand Kenan Jr. was an 1894 UNC graduate who donated the funds to build Kenan Stadium as a memorial to his parents, William and Mary Kenan.

Sport Magazine one of the five best places in the country to watch a college game. Capacity at the stadium was increased to 52,000 in 1988 with the addition of 2,000 new seats in a prime location-between the 40-yard line on each side of the field. Room was made for the additional seats by the destruction of the old press box and chancellor's box. A new press box was added to the top of the stadium's south side. Surrounded by trees, the stadium is in a natural valley and a beautiful setting.

Kenan, William Rand Jr.

Benefactor of Kenan Stadium. A native of Wilmington, N.C., Kenan was an 1894 Carolina graduate who lettered in both football and baseball. During his work on campus, he discovered carbide, laying a foundation for success in chemistry, engineering and building. His skill as an engineer and his ability as a director of great enterprises put him in demand all over the world. In railway transportation, gas lighting, water and electric power, hotel and real estate operation, he became one of the financial and industrial leaders of his generation.

Kenan Stadium was built as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan. He was an 1864 Carolina graduate and she was a Chapel Hill native.

Letterman's Day

September 11 against Maryland has been designated as this fall's Letterman's Day. This year this coincides with Monogram Day when lettermen in all sports are invited back to campus for a game. As usual, special activities are planned for the former football players.

Each spring the football lettermen are also invited to Chapel Hill for a weekend that includes golf on Friday, a Pig Pickin' that evening and lunch on Saturday prior to the annual Blue-White scrimmage.

Lights

Kenan Stadium now has permanent lights, installed as part of the 1988 expansion project. Kenan makes use of a General Electric low-mount system which minimizes the height of the light poles. It is similar to the system used at Soldier Field in Chicago. The lights have been used for seven football games since their installation four years ago.

The 1991 season opener vs. Cincinnati was the Tar Heels' first-ever true home night game. However, two games were played under lights in Kenan before the permanent system was installed. Portable lights were brought into the stadium for the 1983 Duke and the 1987 Clemson games. Those games had late afternoon starts so they could be televised. Lights were a necessity since they finished after dark.

Of course, the current lighting system has hosted a number of night contests, including an NFL exhibition game in August 1990 between the Falcons and the Redskins, several high school football championship games, the 1989 Atlantic Coast Conference Lacrosse Championships and several Fourth of July fireworks shows.

Long-Distance Runs

For the first time in school history Carolina had four different players with runs in excess of 50 yards last seasons.

Jason Stanicek had a 55-yard run against Furman, Natrone Means a 76-yarder at Maryland, Curtis Johnson a 76-yarder at Clemson and Bucky Brooks a 68-yard sprint at Duke.

LT

Not only the greatest linebacker in Carolina history, but regarded by many as the best ever to play the game. In 1980 Lawrence Taylor was the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year and a consensus All-America. He had a school-record 16 sacks that season for 127 yards in losses. Taylor was chosen second in the NFL draft behind Heisman Trophy winner George Rogers.

Mascot

The Tar Heel football mascot is a white ram. A ram has served in this capacity since 1924. Cheerleader Vic Huggins brought the original Rameses to campus. He had decided on a ram as a mascot by linking it with the nickname of Tar Heel star Jack Merritt, a fullback known as "The Battering Ram." Rameses has been a fixture ever since.

He's easily the finest mascot in the Atlantic Coast Conference since live animals are much better at this line of work than students dressed up in ridiculous costumes. Rameses has his most fun prior to the Duke game when he tries to outwit Blue Devil students trying to ramnap him. An old story that Richard Nixon, while a law student at Duke, was involved in an attempt to heist the Tar Heel mascot was denied by the White House during his presidency. Of course, a lot of other things were also denied by the White House in those days, too. The current Carolina mascot is Rameses XXVI.

Mason, Morris

Longtime equipment manager at Kenan Fieldhouse, Mason served in that capacity from 1927 to 1973, an incredible 46-year period. It has been said that he came with the stadium since his first year on the job was also the initial season Kenan Stadium was used. Although he did not travel with the team in his first year, Mason saw every Tar Heel football game, home and away, for the next 45 seasons. In that period he became a friend and confidant to a multitude of Carolina players. When he passed away last fall Tar Heel players from the '20s to the present joined his family in mourning his loss.

Morehead Patterson Bell Tower

Located next to Kenan Stadium and generally referred to as simply the "Bell Tower." The 172-foot tower is built on a knoll and rises 200 feet above the campus. It contains a 10-bell carillon which calls students to class, provides twilight music and serenades football fans.

The Bell Tower was dedicated on November 26, 1932, just prior to the Carolina-Virginia football game. A replica of the famous West Point chime, the tower was the $100,000 gift of John Motley Morehead, then American ambassador to Sweden, and Rufus Lenoir Patterson II, a New York tobacco manufacturer. A concert, played entirely by hand, was heard 12 miles away in Durham. Students in the UNC Department of Music were bell ringers, playing the tower's carillon and presenting evening concerts and programs for special campus events until the late 1960s. Then an electronic control system for the chimes and a clock was installed.

The bells range in weight from 300 pounds to almost two tons. The bell tower has a four-faced clock and is crowned with a spire. The area surrounding the tower base was landscaped during the structure's construction and now is a small garden with pathways lined by boxwood hedges.

NCAA Champion

Although numerous Tar Heel players have ranked among the national statistical leaders over the years, the last NCAA statistical champion from Carolina was Don McCauley in 1970. McCauley led the nation in all-purpose running, averaging 183.7 yards a game. He also had the most total rushing yards (1,720) and points (126), but other players had better per-game averages in those categories.

Nicknames

No college athlete may have ever had a more famous nickname than Choo Choo Justice. But, the Tar Heels have had a lot of other players with popular monikers. In the early part of the sport's history here, there were Mink Cunningham, Bull Council, Monk McDonald, Goat Randolph, Rabbit Bonner, Ox Shuford, Icky Garrett and Runt Lowe. Then came Sweet Jim Lalanne, Snuffy Stimweiss, Goo Goo Gantt and Rip Hawkins.

Number Changes

Three Carolina lettermen will be wearing different numbers this fall than they did a year ago. Quarterback Jason Stanicek has switched from 16 to 9, wide receiver Steven Jerry has changed from 10 to 3 and linebacker Mike Morton has gone from 82 to 58.

Stanicek and Jerry wanted to wear the numbers they had in high school, but which had been unavailable when they first came to Chapel Hill. Morton, who was a tight end when he first got here, took a number more closely associated with his current position.

Old Well

The visual symbol of the university, the Old Well is pictured frequently on school literature, Christmas cards and student souvenirs. Originally the sole water supply for campus, the Old Well still serves as a popular water fountain with water supplied by the town of Chapel Hill.

Operation Football

A whirlwind tour of the Atlantic Coast Conference's nine member schools during preseason football practice. Writers and broadcasters meet with players and coaches from each team and watch practice. The longest-running such trip still in existence, the tour results in ACC football getting a tremendous amount of media attention in the preseason.

Patterson Medal

Established in 1924, the Patterson Medal is awarded to a Carolina senior who has demonstrated general excellence in athletics throughout his or her college career. The award, first given by Dr. Joseph Patterson in memory of his brother, John Durand Patterson, is based on athletic accomplishment, sportsmanship, leadership and general conduct.

The 1992 winner was Dwight Hollier, the Tar Heels' two-time captain and All-Atlantic Coast Conference linebacker. Hollier concluded his career with a UNC-record 502 tackles and was awarded all-conference recognition for both football and academics.

Thirty football players have been awarded the Patterson Medal including six in the last 25 years. They include Don McCauley, Charles Waddell, Lawrence Taylor, David Drechsler, Ethan Horton and Hollier. One father-son combination even won the Patterson Medal. Offensive guard Ray Farris took home the prize in 1930 and 32 years later the honor was accorded to Ray Jr, a quarterback.

Picture Day/Fan Appreciation Day

Scheduled for Sunday, August 22nd. Fans are invited to meet the players, get autographs and take pictures on the field with the team.

Pines

These are the tall trees which so magnificently surround Kenan Stadium. There is an old story that when Mr. Kenan gave the stadium to the university, he did so on condition that the stadium never rise higher than the tops of the trees. That's why expansion of the stadium has been done gradually over the years as the trees have continued to grow.

It's a great story, but it's not true.

Practice

North Carolina practices daily during the football season on Navy Field. This complex includes three complete football fields, one of them covered by artificial turf for special uses. Located on Ridge Road, Navy Field is just a short walk from Kenan Fieldhouse and the Tar Heel locker rooms.

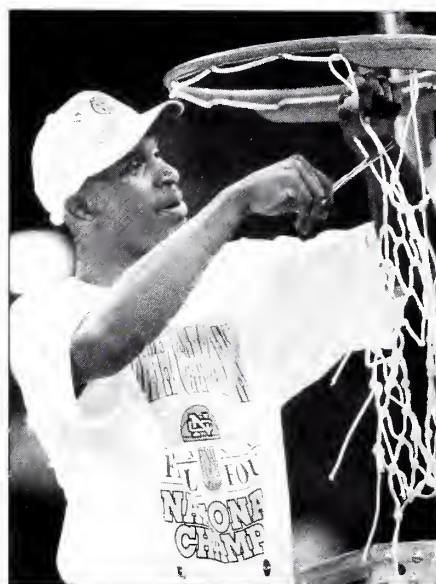

Rathskeller

Better known as simply The Rat. Located in Amber Alley on Franklin Street, The Rat is a longtime favorite of Carolina students and alumni for food and drink. Established in 1946, The Rat serves sandwiches and pizza for lunch and complete dinners at night. In addition to food, you can also find out who's going to win Saturday's college football games, the name of the next heavyweight champion of the world and how far ahead of the opposition the Dodgers are in the National League West if your waiter happens to be Davis Blackwell. Like most of The Rat's waiters, Davis has been around so long the place wouldn't be the same without him.

A Remarkable All-Around Season of Excellence

The 1992-93 athletic season at the University of North Carolina produced one of the most remarkable campaigns in Atlantic Coast Conference history. In addition to two national championships, a bowl game victory and seven ACC team titles, Tar Heel athletes and coaches were repeatedly honored for individual and team triumphs. Here is a brief sample of those achievements.

- Two NCAA championships (women's soccer, men's basketball)
- One individual NCAA champion (T.J. Jaworsky, wrestling)
- Seven ACC titles (women's soccer, women's indoor and outdoor track and field, men's and women's swimming and diving, wrestling and lacrosse)
- Peach Bowl champions
- Four teams ranked first in the nation at some time during the season (women's soccer, men's basketball, women's golf and lacrosse)
- 15 teams ranked during the season
- 21 teams participating in NCAA postseason action

- Two national coaches of the year (men's basketball: Dean Smith, women's golf: Dot Gunnells)
- Four ACC Coaches of the Year
- Six ACC Players of the Year (volleyball: Amy Peistrup, women's soccer: Mia Hamm, field hockey: Amy Cox, women's tennis: Cinda Gurney, men's tennis: Cinda Gurney, lacrosse: Ryan Wade)
- Three ACC Tournament Most Valuable Players and two NCAA Tournament Most Valuable Players (women's soccer: Mia Hamm, men's basketball: Donald Williams)
- One national player of the year — Mia Hamm, unanimous winner of five women's soccer honors
- In addition to seven ACC team titles, three other teams were ACC finalists, including men's basketball and field hockey, which also won the ACC regular-season crowns
- Only two schools in the entire nation — Carolina and Kansas University — were ranked in the final polls in football, men's basketball, women's basketball and baseball

Retired Numbers

The Tar Heels have retired five jersey numbers: 22 for Charlie Justice; 46 for Bill "Cotton" Sutherland; 50 for Art Weiner; 59 for Andy Bershak; and 99 for George Barclay. More information on the five men can be found on page 217 of this brochure.

Road Trip

The most famous road trip in Carolina football history was made by the 1892 team which played three games in four days, winning them all. The Tar Heels departed Chapel Hill by train on Tuesday, November 22, for Atlanta. They arrived at noon the following day and blasted Auburn, 64-0. It was back on a train that evening for a ride to Nashville and a 24-0 win over Vanderbilt on Thursday. Carolina then went back to Atlanta for a 26-0 victory over Virginia on Saturday.

Earlier in the year, The Tar Heels had played two other games on successive days, winning at Richmond, 40-0, and losing to Virginia in Charlottesville, 30-18. A 24-0 win over Trinity (now Duke) gave Carolina a final 5-1 record with all games played away from home. It was a road show not even Hope and Crosby would be able to top.

Simpson, O.J.

Former Southern California All-America tailback whose NCAA single-season rushing record was broken by Carolina's Don McCauley in 1970. McCauley ran for 1,720 yards that season. Simpson's old record of 1,709 had been set in 1968.

Smith

The most popular surname of Tar Heel football lettermen. There have been 22 lettermen named Smith since the first letter was given in the spring of 1889. That includes 19 players and three managers. The first was a manager, William Hopton Smith, in 1903. The first player was John Franklin Smith, a tackle, in 1932. The most recent were members of the 1992 team — defensive back Thomas Lee Smith and manager Van Smith.

The Second-most popular last name is Johnson with 14. Third is Jones with 13.

Rick Brewer is beginning his 19th year as director and is in his 26th year as staff member. He is directly responsible for the publicity efforts for the Tar Heel football team. He is assisted by Dave Lohse, Steve Kirschner and Sheri West. The staff also includes secretary Lee Snyder and returning student assistants Brendan Addis, Sonja Allison, Matt Bowers, Beth McNichol and Jacqui Steadman.

Tailgating

Part of the tradition of a Football Saturday in Chapel Hill is eating off the back of a car before heading into the stadium. Most popular tailgate food is fried chicken. However, there is a varied menu throughout the parking lots around Kenan Stadium. Some fans now set up grills and have charbroiled hamburgers, hot dogs and steaks.

Team of a Million Backs

This was the great 1929 team which was so deep it fielded four entire backfields, all featuring top-notch performers. Carolina posted a 9-1 record under Coach Chuck Collins, scoring 346 points to rank second to Southern California in the nation in scoring. That average of 34.6 points per game for a season still stands as a school record. The only loss was a 19-12 setback to Georgia when the Bulldogs scored twice in the fourth quarter to win.

A fumble recovery set up the winning touchdown.

Among the famed "million backs" were Jimmy Ward, Pete Wyrick, Jim Magner, Jimmy Maus, Strud Nash, Phil Jackson, Chuck Erickson, Henry House, Pap Harden, Yank Spaulding, Johnny Branch and Rip Slusser. Jackson threw a 78-yard touchdown pass to Spaulding against Maryland that year which stood for 14 seasons as the longest pass play in school history and still ranks as the fifth-longest.

While the team was noted for its game-breaking backs, it also had a host of outstanding linemen such as Ray Farris, Don Holt, Bill Koenig, Ned Lipscomb, Ellis Fysal, Bud Eskew, Fenton Adkins and Julian Fenner.

This team was a huge hit at the gate, drawing a record attendance of 139,500. That was topped by a crowd of 31,000 for a 41-7 rout of Virginia in Kenan Stadium.

Thousand-Yard Backs

Carolina has produced more 1,000-yard rushers, 21, than any other school in the country. Carolina's group of 11 1,000-yard rushers includes Don McCauley, who set an NCAA rushing record with 1,720 yards in 1970, and Amos Lawrence, one of only two major-college players in history to post four 1,000-yard seasons. Natrone Means became the latest Tar Heel to join that illustrious group when he ran for 1,030 yards in 1991 and then had 1,195 last fall.

Top 20 Wins

When Carolina scored back-to-back wins over 16th-ranked Virginia (27-7) and 19th-rated Georgia Tech (26-14) last season it marked the first time in school history the Tar Heels had beaten nationally-ranked opponents on consecutive weekends.

The last time the Tar Heels toppled nationally-ranked foes on successive opportunities was 1979. They defeated 13th-ranked Pittsburgh, 17-7, in the second game that year and, after facing two unranked teams, beat 15th-rated N.C. State, 35-21.

Turnovers

Coaches hate 'em. How many times have you heard one say, "We can be a good team if we play sound defense, have a great kicking game and don't turn the ball over"?

Certainly, a lack of turnovers was an important factor in the Tar Heels' 8-3 regular-season record last fall. Carolina had just 19 turnovers (11 interceptions and eight lost fumbles). That tied the school record for fewest in a season set in 1990. Carolina has been among the national leaders in turnover ratio for the past three seasons in compiling regular-season records of 6-4-1, 7-4 and 8-3.

Unbeaten Season

Carolina's only perfect record was posted in 1898 when the Tar Heels were 9-0-0. Seven opponents were shut out—Guilford (18-0), North Carolina A&M (34-0), Greensboro Athletic Association (11-0), Oak Ridge (11-0), Davidson (11-0), Georgia (53-0) and Auburn (29-0). VPI fell, 28-6, and in the season finale on Thanksgiving Day, Virginia was beaten, 6-2. Will Reynolds was the Tar Heel coach and the team was captained by Frank Rogers.

The regular Carolina lineup included Herman Koehler (165 pounds) and Edwin Gregory (166) at end; Samuel Shull (175) and Frank Bennett (190) at tackle; R.S. Cromartie (155) and Ike Phifer (190) at guard; Mink Cunningham (148) at center; Rogers (150) at quarterback; Vernon Howell (138) and James MacRae (160) at halfback; and Ernest Graves (170) at fullback.

UNC

As the bumper sticker says, "University of National Champions." Carolina has won 18 national titles since 1981 – at least one national team championship in each of the last 12 school years. Leading the way is Anson Dorrance's amazing women's soccer program which has garnered 11 national crowns. Lacrosse follows with an impressive four, while the men's basketball team has two and the field hockey team has one in that span.

Last year, the women's soccer team went 25-0 to claim its seventh consecutive NCAA crown and the men's basketball team won the national championship with a 34-4 record.

Victories

Carolina has 538 of them on the football field.

Victory Bell

The Victory Bell goes annually to the winner of the Carolina-Duke football game. A large bell on wheels, this prize to the winner of the big season finale was originated in the 1940s by Norm Sper, a Tar Heel cheerleader.

University News Bureau. Jake arrived back on campus just in time to help make Charlie Justice one of the most famous college football stars of all time. The Carolina Caravan columns he wrote in news releases were a big hit with fans and newspapermen alike.

Jake had been a highly successful newspaperman himself before taking the job at his alma mater. He worked on a number of newspapers, but probably gained his greatest fame as sports editor of the Charlotte Observer where he covered most of Joe Louis' championship fights and regularly staffed the World Series. However, his columns in the Observer, Sports Parade, often were intimate pieces that had nothing to do with sports. Some of those ranked as his best columns along with colorful essays on the Carolina-Duke football rivalry.

After Jake's death in 1962, he was honored by his fellow sports information directors. CoSIDA named one of its two most prestigious awards after him. The Jake Wade Award is presented annually to a member of the media who has made outstanding contributions to the field of intercollegiate athletics.

A key figure on the offensive line ... Opens fall camp as number two at left guard and left tackle ... Should see significant playing time this year ... Worked out in spring drills at the number one left tackle position due to an injury to Curtis Parker ... Got most of the snaps with the number one offense ... Also saw action in the spring at left guard when Shawn Hocker was at center ... That combination might be used a great deal this fall ... Coaches were pleased with his unselfish attitude in terms of learning two positions rather than concentrating on just one spot ... Felt that was a positive step in his maturation process ... Is one of the most powerful players on the squad ... Has made the Dean's List in each of the four semesters he has been at Carolina.

1992: Saw action in seven regular-season games ... Made one start,

91 • TROY BARNETT

Nose Guard • 6-4, 280, Sr. • Jacksonville, N.C.

Enters preseason as the starter at nose guard ... Has come a long way from when he joined the team four years ago as a 218-pound walk-on ... Had a very good spring and worked hard to improve both his leadership and physical skills ... Was very consistent in the spring scrimmages ... Has great work habits ... Real student of the game who works hard to understand the defensive attack ... Was one of the sparks of last year's win in the Peach Bowl ... Led all members of the defensive front with six tackles in the Peach Bowl, including three for losses ... Has seven career quarterback sacks.

1992: One of the top backups on the defensive line ... Split time with J.R. Boldin at nose guard and also saw some action at tackle ... Made 22 solo hits and 17 assists for 39 tackles ... Had seven quarterback pressures, the most on the defensive line and second-most on the defense ... Also had six tackles for losses, including two sacks ... Recovered two fumbles ... Season-high seven tackles, including four solo hits, at Maryland and Clemson ... Recovered an N.C. State fumble at the UNC 29, stopping a late third quarter drive ... Had an eight-yard sack at Maryland and a three-yard sack vs. Virginia ... Played a season-high 56 snaps at Clemson as Austin Robbins was out and then had 48 at Duke.

Troy Barnett - Nose Guard

1991: Played in 10 games (all but Army) and made 21 tackles ... Led the team, along with Eric Gash, in quarterback sacks with five ... Had more sacks than any member of the defensive line despite playing just 14.0 snaps per game ... Made a season-high four tackles vs. Georgia Tech and had three tackles in four other games ... Recorded two sacks against South Carolina and one each vs. N.C. State, Maryland and Duke ... His 10-yard sack against Maryland earned him the squad's effort play of the week ... Second sack in the South Carolina came on the third-to-final play of the game ... USC had advanced to the Tar Heels' 41-yard line, but his nine-yard sack forced the Gamecocks back to midfield helping preserve a 21-17 win ... Also had two quarterback pressures in the Duke game ... Played on 140 total snaps with a season-high 21 vs. William & Mary.

1990: Played in just two games ... Was in on two plays in the season opener vs. Miami of Ohio and then played on five downs vs. Connecticut ... Originally worked as an outside linebacker and was on the scout team in that spot in 1989 ... Made the switch to tackle in the spring of 1990.

High School: Played football and basketball at Southwest High School ... Played center, offensive tackle and defensive end and won two football letters ... All-county and all-conference selection ... Coached by Phil Padgett ... Also lettered twice in basketball ... Won three academic scholarships for college and was a member of the National Honor Society ... Was class president for three years.

5 • JAY BOAZ

Punter • 6-0, 195, So. • Pilot Mountain, N.C.

Number two punter behind Mike Thomas.

1992: Punted four times last year ... Totaled 121 yards and averaged 30.3 yards per kick ... Called upon in "pooch punting" situations ... Was involved in one of the most dramatic plays of the season ... Carried out a fake field goal play which led to a touchdown in the Tar Heels' 26-14 win over Georgia Tech ... Was holding for Tripp Pignetti when he spun and threw a 23-yard completion to fullback Mike Faulkerson down to the Tech three-yard line ... That set up a Natrone Means touchdown.

1991: Was red-shirted.

High School: Shrine Bowl punter from East Surry High ... Also played quarterback, accounting for 1,200 yards of offense and 12 touchdowns in 1990 ... Averaged 45.6 yards on 33 punts as a senior ... Had 10 kicks of over 60 yards ... Also handled kickoffs and placekicks ... Played wide receiver as a sophomore, making 23 catches for 472 yards and three touchdowns ... Moved to quarterback as a junior and helped spark East Surry to the state playoffs ... Threw for 1,035 yards and 14 TDs and scored six himself ... Averaged 38.2 yards a punt ... Also saw some action in the secondary during his career, intercepting four passes ... Three-time all-conference choice and team MVP as a senior ... Named to the Greensboro News & Record and Associated Press all-state teams ... Made The Charlotte Observer Top 25 list in the state and selected to the Winston-Salem Journal All-Northwest Team ... Coached by Jim Hardy ... Earned three letters in football, three in basketball, two in baseball and one in golf.

Personal: Born Raymond Jefferson Boaz on Feb. 21, 1973 ... Majoring in speech communications.

49 • PEREZ BOULWARE

Linebacker • 6-1, 220, Fr. • Thomasville, N.C.

Enters camp as the number three inside linebacker behind Rick Steinbacher and Mike Morton ... Was red-shirted in 1992 and worked with the scout team ... Injured an ankle last fall and never really recovered 100 percent ... Then he sprained a knee early in spring drills and was limited in what he could do ... Hard hitter ... Still an unknown factor due to the injuries.

High School: Leading tackler on a 14-1 team which won the 2-A state championship in 1991 ... Named the outstanding defensive player in the state finals for Thomasville High ... Chosen for the Shrine Bowl ... Three-year starter on teams which were 36-7 ... Played for two years with current Tar Heel linebacker Kerry Mock ... Greensboro News & Record all-state selection ... Chosen one of the state's top 15 players by the Raleigh News & Observer ... On The Charlotte Observer Top 25 in North Carolina list and the Durham Herald-Sun Top 30 ... Twice an all-conference choice and county defensive player of the year as a senior ... His team was the Western 2-A state champion in his junior year ... During his final two seasons Thomasville allowed just 5.1 points a game ... Also handled placekicking duties and tied a state record by kicking 10 extra points in one game ... Made 44 of 56 PATs for the season ... Coached by Allen Brown ... Won four letters in football and basketball, three in track and one in baseball ... Also lettered four times in wrestling, winning state championships each of his last two years ... Attended Boys State.

81 • GRAY BOVENDER

Wide Receiver • 6-1, 182, So. • Clemmons, N.C.

Missed all of the 1992 season and all of spring drills in 1993 due to rehabilitation of an injured knee ... Suffered a torn anterior cruciate ligament during the first week of practice in 1992 ... Should contend for playing time as a backup to Corey Holliday at split end ... Was red-shirted in 1991 ... Has excellent hands and a good feel for the ball.

High School: Wide receiver who won conference player-of-the-year honors at West Forsyth ... Also named player of the year in Winston-Salem ... Had 45 receptions as a senior for 891 yards ... Made 14 of his catches for 329 yards in five playoff games ... Averaged 19.8 yards a reception for the complete season ... Had 10 touchdown catches, scored twice on runs from scrimmage and also had one TD each on a punt and kickoff return ... All-Piedmont, All-Northwest and all-city/county ... Named to the Raleigh News & Observer Top 30 in North Carolina list ... A Shrine Bowl selection, but missed that game while playing in the state championships at Chapel Hill ... Chosen for the East-West All-Star Game ... Also an all-conference punter (35.7) and played in the secondary ... Played on three conference championship teams and was MVP of state runner-up squad ... Coached by Denny Zeiters ... Won three letters in football, basketball and baseball ... His father played football, basketball and baseball at Gardner-Webb and then baseball and soccer at Campbell in the 1960s.

Personal: Majoring in physical education ... Born Jim Gray Bovender Jr. on May 3, 1973.

28 • SEAN BOYD

Strong Safety • 6-3, 195, So. • Gastonia, N.C.

Enters the preseason as the projected starter at strong safety ... Replaces Bracey Walker who started every game at strong safety in 1992, but is moving over to free safety this year ... Is a tremendous talent ... Has the size the coaches like to see for this position ... Reminds Coach Bruce Johnson of Rondell Jones ... Has thus far been very consistent in his play ... Made as much improvement through spring practice as any player on defense ... Has good height (6-3) and has learned to play with leverage ... Last year he played straight up and down, but he made tremendous progress in the spring ... Coaches want him to stay hungry and continue to work ... If he does that, he could be a future all-star candidate.

1992: Played in all 12 games as a red-shirt freshman with a season-high 23 plays against Furman ... Saw his most Atlantic Coast Conference action against Virginia and Maryland when he played 13 snaps apiece ... Made 12 tackles with a high of four against Furman ... Had an eight-yard tackle for a loss against the Paladins.

1991: Was red-shirted.

High School: Shrine Bowl participant from Ashbrook High ... A three-year starter at strong safety and defensive end ... Also played tight end and wide receiver ... Had 84 tackles, 11 sacks and three blocked punts in 1990 ... Earned all-conference and all-county honors ... Made the Raleigh News & Observer Top 15 in the state list ... Played on an 8-2 conference championship team as a senior ... Coached by Bill Eccles ... In addition to winning three football letters, also earned three in track ... In fact, was track team's MVP ... School's athlete of the year.

Personal: Born Sean Lefell Boyd on Dec. 19, 1972 ... Majoring in sociology.

ing patterns ... Has become a much better blocker ... Proved last year he can make the clutch plays ... Has outstanding professional potential ... Could be an early-round selection next year in the NFL Draft if he continues to work hard and make improvements ... Competed with the UNC track team more extensively in 1993 than he had in the past and did quite well ... Has the fifth-fastest indoor clocking in the 55 meters in school history (6.31 seconds) ... Finished fifth in the 55 meters at the 1993 ACC Indoor Championships.

1992: Recipient of the Art Weiner Award as the Tar Heels' Most Outstanding Receiver ... One of the fastest players on the team ... Proved to be a big-play receiver and helped provide many late-season dramatics ... Used his speed to get behind the secondary and make several key catches ... Provided the spark early in the third quarter which led UNC to its 21-17 win over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl ... Caught a 53-yard pass from Mike Thomas on the fourth play of the third quarter which moved the ball to the MSU one-yard line.

Finished the regular season with a spectacular performance in a 31-28 win at Duke ... Made five catches for 185 yards and two touchdowns ... It was the second-highest receiving yardage total in UNC history and the first time a UNC player caught two TD passes in a game since Randy Marriott in 1988 (vs. Virginia) ... His average of 37.0 yards-per-catch was a single-game school record ... Brooks had a 68-yard rush as well which set up a late first half field goal ... Had 253 all-purpose yards ... All five catches were in the second half ... Receptions were for 47, 29, 43, 46 and 20 yards ... He just kept his foot in-bounds in the back of the end zone on the 29-yard TD which gave UNC a 24-21 lead in the third period ... His 46-yard reception with less than three minutes to play set up the winning score ... Then got the game-winner on a 20-yard crossing pattern as he caught the ball over the middle and outran the Duke defense to the end zone ... Was named the ACC Offensive Back of the Week for that performance.

For the regular season he had 21 catches for 400 yards ... Led the team with three TD catches and 19.0 yards per reception ... Made catches in nine regular-season games plus the Peach Bowl ... Caught a 27-yard scoring pass from Thomas on the Tar Heels' first play from scrimmage vs. Georgia Tech ... He and Thomas hooked up on 35-yard, third-down play against Wake Forest which set up a late first half touchdown ... His last 11 receptions were for first downs and/or touchdowns ... Had three grabs vs. Tech for 55 yards ... Set up the go-ahead score in the third quarter at Maryland with a 42-yard reception.

1991: Was red-shirted ... Bruised a shoulder and missed part of 1991 spring practice; decision was made in the fall to hold him out for the year.

1990: Made five receptions for 96 yards ... Averaged 19.2 yards per catch, the best average on the team ... Caught a pass in each of the first three games and against Wake Forest and Maryland ... First reception of the year covered 14 yards for a touchdown vs. Miami of Ohio ... Caught a leaping 25-yarder vs. South Carolina which put the Tar Heels first-and-goal at the Gamecock three-yard line ... Set up the Tar Heels' game-winning touchdown in the Wake Forest game ... Caught a Chuckie Burnette pass down the left sideline for 46 yards to the Deacon seven ... Two plays later, Natrone Means rushed in for the winning score ... Played on 181 downs with highs of 24 vs. Wake Forest and 23 vs. Maryland.

1989: Was forced into action early when Eric Blount was moved to tailback ... Was one of four true freshmen to start the season opener vs. VMI: Tommy Thigpen, Rondell Jones and Julius Reese being the others ... That marked the first time since freshmen became eligible in 1972 that a true freshman started the season opener for Carolina ... Also started at flanker against Kentucky and N.C. State and at split end vs. South Carolina ... Played in 10 games and made 12 catches for 144 yards, an average of 12.0 yards per reception ... Longest catch was for 26 yards against Navy ... That came late in the game and Carolina facing a fourth-and-seven ... Made two outstanding catches in a desperation drive at Georgia Tech ... Pulled in a 17-yarder on a fourth-and-10 play and a 19-yarder on third-and-10.

High School: Record-setting receiver at Millbrook High ... Had 63 catches for 1,110 yards and 13 touchdowns as a senior ... Set Triangle Area records for receptions and yardage ... Also had a single-game record with 203 yards ... Had five catches in that game vs. Athens Drive, three for touchdown ... Also grabbed three touchdown passes vs. Sanderson ... Made 35 catches for 735 yards and 10 touchdowns as a junior ... Had seven catches for 191 yards and two scores vs. Garner ... Set school records, both single-season and career, in receptions and yardage ... Two-time all-conference, All-Triangle and All-East selection ... Chosen conference player of the year and Wake County 4-A Player of the Year as a senior ... Named to The Charlotte Observer Top 25 in North Carolina and The News & Observer (Raleigh) Top 30 ... Coached by Earl Smith ... Won two football letters, two in basketball and three in track ... Set the school long jump record at 21-3.

Personal: Born William Eldridge Brooks Jr. on Jan. 22, 1971 ... His father, William, played basketball at Shaw ... Won the campus-wide, all-student slam dunk contest in January 1992 with his two-handed, touch-the-backboard-with-the-ball, over-his-head, no-look dunk ... Majoring in physical education.

78 • SHAWN HOCKER

Offensive Guard/Center • 6-4, 280, Sr. • Sarasota, Fla.

Vastly underrated player who should be one of the top linemen in the country this fall ... His play may have been over-looked a year ago because of the presence of all-star center Randall Parsons ... Now he rates as a leading candidate himself for conference and perhaps national honors ... The Tar Heels' starter at left offensive guard ... Could also see some playing time at center ... Worked out at both guard and center during spring drills ... Is the verbal leader of the offensive line ... Very spirited and enthusiastic player ... Improved his pass protection skills during the spring ... Very agile and strong lineman, traits probably traced back to his days as a standout wrestler ... Member of the Dean's List this past year.

1992: Started at left guard in 10 of the 11 regular-season games last year ... Was in his first season as a starter and his first full year at guard ... Did not play against Navy and was less than full speed against N.C. State after he sprained an ankle in the rain vs. Army ... Saw action on 754 snaps, an average of 75.4 per game ... Had a season-high 88 plays against Wake Forest ... Played 80 or more downs in five games.

1991: Saw action on the offensive line ... Was the top backup late in the season at the left tackle slot behind senior Rickie Shaw ... Played in five games for a total of 114 snaps ... Played 15 downs vs. Cincinnati, 37 vs. William & Mary, 13 vs. Georgia Tech, 32 vs. Maryland and 17 vs. Duke.

1990: Had shoulder surgery which took him out of action for the entire school year ... Red-shirted in 1989 as a defensive lineman.

High School: Helped lead Sarasota High team to a 10-2 record in 1988 and fourth-place finish in the state playoffs ... His team won district and sectional championships ... Played offensive guard and defensive tackle ... A two-time all-area selection ... Class 5A all-state choice ... Member of the Florida "Super Seniors" named by the Orlando Sentinel ... Named best lineman in his area as a senior ... Picked to play in the Georgia-Florida All-Star Game ... Won three football letters for Coach Tom Whitehurst ... Personal: Colin Glenn Holland was born May 1, 1973 ... His father lettered two years in basketball at Carolina, including 1957 when the Tar Heels were the undefeated NCAA champions ... Majoring in classics.

1 • COREY HOLLIDAY

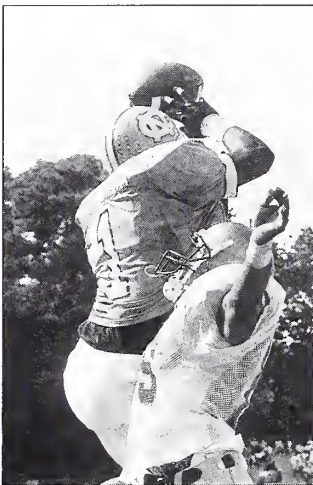

Wide Receiver • 6-2, 204, Graduate Student • Richmond, Va.

One of the top players in college football ... Hasn't received the national attention he deserves in the past ... That may be due to some people still regarding Carolina's attack as strictly ground-oriented ... However, he's a sensational pass-catcher and the epitome of the term "student-athlete" ... Selected by his teammates as a captain for the second straight year ... Primed to become the leading receiver in Tar Heel history ... Moved into third place on the all-time UNC receptions list last year ... Has 105 career catches, two behind Earl Winfield and one behind Art Weiner ...

Corey Holliday - Split End

lete for overall academic and athletic excellence, leadership and courage ... Is enrolled in the sports administration program ... Receivers coach Jim Cavanaugh says he is an Andre Reed (Buffalo Bills) type of receiver ... A solid over-the-middle pass catcher who has great courage going to the ball.

Is the only Tar Heel to ever have three seasons with 25 or more receptions and the only Carolina player to have three seasons with 400-plus receiving yards ... He and Jimmy Jerome are the only two Tar Heels to have ever led the team in receptions for three straight years ... Has five career touchdown catches ... Has made 22 career catches for 20 or more yards ... Could set an NCAA record this year if he catches a pass in each of the Tar Heels' 12 regular-season contests ... Has made one reception in 33 straight games and the NCAA record is 44 by Gary Williams of Ohio State.

1992: Although just a junior, chosen by his teammates as one of four team captains ... Led the team with 37 receptions for 588 yards ... Equaled the ninth-most receptions in a season ... Averaged 15.9 yards per catch ... Named to the Hitachi/CFA Scholar-Athlete Team ... Was the only Atlantic Coast Conference player named to the squad ... Was nominated for an ACC Post-Graduate Scholarship ... Caught at least one pass in each of the 11 regular-season games to extend his UNC record to 33 consecutive games with a reception ... Caught a 23-yard touchdown at Florida State and a 37-yard TD vs. Virginia ... Made a career-high nine receptions for 152 yards vs. Navy ... That tied the eighth-most receptions in a game by a Tar Heel and is the fourth-most yards receiving in a game ... Also had seven catches for 98 yards at Wake Forest and six for 63 vs. Furman ... Was double-teamed most of the season which allowed other receivers to make more plays ... Twenty-seven of his 37 catches were for first downs ... His longest play of the year was a 47-yard catch at Duke ... Had the key downfield block which sprung Bucky Brooks for the winning TD at Duke ... Made a 37-yard catch-and-run at Wake Forest on the Tar Heels' first play of the season ... Touchdown grab at Florida State was a great play as he came back in front of the defender on an underthrown ball to make the reception ... Made just one catch in the Peach Bowl, but it was a tough, 13-yarder in traffic over the middle ... Played on 712 snaps during the regular-season, the most of any skill player on offense.

1991: Second-team All-ACC selection ... Named the winner of the Art Weiner Award as the Tar Heels' Most Outstanding Receiver ... It was the second consecutive year in which he had won the award ... Led the Tar Heels with 40 receptions for 504 yards and two touchdowns ... Averaged 12.6 yards per catch ... Was fourth in the ACC in receptions, fourth in catches per game (3.6) and seventh in receiving yardage ... Only one other wide receiver, Clemson's Terry Smith, made more catches ... His 40 receptions equaled the seventh-highest single-season total in UNC history and were the third-most in the last quarter-century ... Made 27 receptions of 10 yards or more and had five catches for 20-

Has 1,580 yards on receptions, also the third-highest number of yards receiving by a Tar Heel (Weiner 1,733, Winfield 1,603).

Truly a steady player ... Rock of consistency ... Has a good feel of zones and underneath coverage ... Has exceptional hands and is a very patient player ... Lets the action come to him ... Interested first in winning ... Lets the stats speak for themselves ... His presence allows other players to get involved in the offense.

A tremendous leader ... Graduated in May with a degree in business administration ... Recipient of the 1993 Jim Tatum Award, honoring the UNC senior student-athlete for overall academic and athletic excellence, leadership and courage ...

plus yards ... Caught at least two passes in each of the 11 games with a season-high eight receptions at Georgia Tech ... Those eight catches were the most by a Tar Heel since Randy Marriott had nine at Tech in 1987 ... Had a season-high 95 yards in receptions at Tech ... Six of his eight catches in Atlanta were for 10 yards or more ... Caught five passes for 77 yards at Army ... Four of the five were for 17 yards or more ... Caught a 19-yard TD pass from Chuckie Burnette in the back left corner of the end zone to give UNC a 20-6 lead over the Cadets ... Made four receptions for 51 yards against N.C. State ... Had grabs of 13 and eight yards to set up the Tar Heels' lone TD vs. the Pack ... Had four catches for 64 yards vs. Virginia including a remarkable 40-yard grab late in the game which gave the Tar Heels the ball at midfield ... Made that catch while fully extended and twisting around in midair ... His nine-yard catch-and-run over the middle set up a Tar Heel touchdown ... Made three catches for 39 yards and one TD vs. Maryland ... First two catches set up UNC scores and the third was a four-yard slant pass from Jason Stanicek for a touchdown with 18 seconds left in the first half ... Made four catches for 31 yards vs. Clemson ... Finished the year with 50 yards on three receptions against Duke ... Received the Toyota Leadership Award during the ESPN telecast of the UNC-Clemson game ... Award given by Toyota Motor Sales is selected based on a player's contributions to his team, academic achievements and community service ... Started all 11 games at split end and appeared on 637 downs, more than any skill position player on offense.

1990: Was Carolina's leading receiver as a red-shirt freshman ... Caught 28 passes for 488 yards and one touchdown ... Averaged 17.4 yards per catch, the fifth-highest average in Carolina history for those players with at least 25 receptions ... Was seventh in the ACC in yards receiving per game (44.4) ... Eighteen of his 28 catches covered at least 10 yards and eight were for 20-plus ... Caught at least one pass in all 11 games with a high of seven vs. Maryland ... Showed spectacular ability to break a long run with a 57-yard reception for a touchdown early in the win over Connecticut ... Opened a fourth quarter drive vs. N.C. State with a 23-yard reception to midfield which led to UNC's tying field goal ... Caught five passes for 79 yards at Wake Forest, including three catches for 55 of Carolina's 79 yards on a Tar Heel TD-scoring drive ... His seven receptions vs. the Terps matched Randall Felton's freshman record for catches in a game; his sixth catch of the day was a 57-yard play on the second snap of the second half which led to

9 • JASON STANICEK

Quarterback • 6-2, 185, Jr. • Park Forest, Ill.

Outstanding player who is battling for the starting job at quarterback ... Came out of spring as the co-starter after working almost exclusively with the number one offense during the off-season drills due to an injury to Mike Thomas ... Had a very productive spring ... Showed the maturity of a player developing as a leader in his third year ... Expects a lot from himself and a lot is expected of him ... Has a very competitive nature although he shows little on-field emotion ... Quiet, but firm leader ... Threw the ball better than ever before during the spring ... Had more velocity on his tosses ... Is very aware of game situations and adjusts well to what is coming at him ... Needs to get a little stronger and add to his endurance level ... Switching from jersey number "16", which he wore the past two years, to his high school number "9" ... One of the better running quarterbacks in the conference ... Throws with a lot of touch, but also has the ability to heave the downfield pass.

Played in 14 of the last 15 regular-season games and made 12 starts ... Completed 137 of 239 passes for 1,583 yards ... Has thrown for seven touchdowns and 11 interceptions ... Is 17th in career completions at UNC ... Completion percentage of .573 is the second-best among the top 20 UNC quarterbacks (Chris Kupec leads at .657).

1992: Completed 83 of 144 passes (57.6 percent) for 1,082 yards ... Tossed four touchdown passes and was intercepted seven times ... Was picked off just once, however, in 76 attempts over his last six games ... Started six times ... Started the opener at Wake Forest and was 12 for 18 for 161 yards ... Led three touchdown drives and it was his fifth consecutive game with at least 100 yards passing ... On his first play from scrimmage he hit Corey Holliday for 37 yards ... Had a key third-down pass to Steven Jerry for 19 yards which set up a touchdown ... Rushed six times for 104 yards in the win over Furman ... Became the first UNC quarterback to rush for 100 yards in a game since Chuck Sharpe rushed for 100 against Virginia in 1978 ... He had a 55-yard run that night, the longest by a Tar Heel quarterback since Paul Miller rushed for 60 yards vs. Duke in 1970 ... He also had a 28-yard run vs. Furman ... Played a terrific game against N.C. State as he completed 26 of 35 for 237 yards ... He was picked off just once on a final-play desperation heave ... The 26 completions were the second-most in one game in UNC history ... He completed 14 straight passes at one point which tied Kevin Anthony's school record ... He tied the game at 10-10 late in the first half on a remarkable, 13-yard scramble through the heart of the State defense.

Posted a second consecutive 200-yard day against Navy as he was 13 of 21 for 219 yards ... First scoring pass of the season was a 65-yard screen to Randy Jordan vs. the Midshipmen ... Had a 24-yard scramble for a first down on the Tar Heels' first scoring drive and then hit Holliday in the end zone for a 23-yard touchdown at Florida State ... Threw a 37-yard touchdown to Holliday early in the second quarter to give Carolina a 10-7 lead over Virginia ... Left the game late in the first half with a bruised knee ... Did not play the next week against Georgia Tech ... Came off the bench very late in the second quarter to spark a win at Maryland ... Came in with 46 seconds left in the half and UNC behind 14-7 ... Scrambled for 18 yards to midfield, threw 22 yards to Randall Felton, and after an incompletion, hit Jerry for a 28-yard TD ... Drive took all of 31 seconds ... Later in the fourth quarter, he kept the winning drive alive with a third-and-12 pass play of 28 yards to Greg DeLong ... Also had a 42-yard pass to Bucky Brooks in the third quarter which set up a go-ahead field goal.

1991: Co-recipient of the Jeffrey Cowell Memorial Award as the Tar Heels' Most Outstanding First-Year Player ... Took over the starting quarterback duties for the final four games of the season and led the Tar Heels to three wins ... Plans were to red-shirt him, but he was called upon to add some spark to the Carolina offense ... In the first four ACC games (without Stanicek) the Tar Heels averaged 296.8 yards per game; in the final three, they averaged 379 yards per game ... Led wins over Maryland, South Carolina and Duke ... Played 288 snaps including 84 vs. Maryland, 63 vs. Clemson, 67 vs. USC and 74 vs. Duke ... Completed 54 of 95 passes for 501 yards ... His completion percentage was .568 ... Threw three touchdown passes and four interceptions ... Made his collegiate debut vs. Maryland and led UNC to a 24-0 win ... Completed 12 of 18 passes for 104 yards and one TD against the Terps ... Engineered touchdown drives of 80, 84 and 86 yards ... Scrambled twice for first downs on third-and-long ... Threw a four-yard TD pass over the middle to Corey Holliday late in the first half ... That capped a 12-play, 80-yard drive.

His second appearance was no easy task as he faced Clemson in miserable, cold, wet weather in front of the national TV eyes of ESPN ... Completed 14 of 28 passes against the Tigers for 100 yards ... Was outstanding in the win over South Carolina, completing 14 of 24 for 119 yards ... Threw for two touchdowns including the game-winning nine-yard toss to Joey Jauch early in the third quarter ... Broke a 7-7 tie with a 19-yard TD pass to Randy Jordan ... Was a combined nine for 11 for 90 yards on the Tar Heels' three scoring drives ... Also threw a key block on Natrone Means' eight-yard scoring run in the second quarter ... Was 14 for 24 for 178 yards in the big win over Duke ... Connected on his longest pass play of the year, 29 yards to Holliday to set up a field goal for a 10-0 lead ... A 26-yard fade route to Eric Blount led to UNC's third TD ... Completed passes in the Duke game to seven different receivers and directed eight scoring drives, six for touchdowns and two for field goals.

High School: SuperPrep All-America quarterback at Rich East High ... Threw for 2,030 yards and 20 touchdowns in 1990, completing 114 of 244 passes ... Ran for 530 yards and 10 scores ... Had 529 yards passing and 595 yards of total offense in his final game, both of which were state records ... As a junior, threw for 1,986 yards and ran for 226 ... Threw for 19 TDs and scored 12 himself as Rich East finished 12-2, reaching the quarterfinals of the Illinois 5-A playoffs ... In his career completed 296 of 524 passes for 4,409 yards and 42 touchdowns ... Ran for 861 yards and 24 TDs ... Two-time all-conference and all-area pick ... All-state as a senior and area player of the year ... Also chosen to the Detroit Free Press Best of The Midwest in 1990 ... Team MVP ... Coached by Bob Lombardi ... In addition to football, also lettered in basketball and baseball ... A standout outfielder in baseball ... Has two brothers who played college baseball, Steve at Nebraska and Pete at Stanford, and then became professional players ... Another brother, Jon, played football at Southern Illinois and a fourth, Chris, was a gymnast at Iowa.

Personal: Born Jason Finley Stanicek on Dec. 16, 1972 ... Majoring in physical education.

Inside Linebacker • 6-1, 239, Sr. • Greenville, S.C.

Selected by his teammates as a co-captain for the 1993 season along with split end Corey Holliday ... Co-starter at one inside linebacker position along with Mike Morton ... Another player who is often overlooked ... Very consistent and steady player ... Uses his knowledge of the defensive scheme to place him in the proper place at the right time ... He's like having another coach on the field ... Makes few mistakes, mentally or physically ... Not a very flashy player or loud talker, but a player who has gained the respect of his teammates through his hard play every day, attitude and commitment to winning ... Has made 17 starts over the last two years ... Has made 214 tackles in his first three years, including eight for losses ... Made nine tackles in the Peach Bowl, including an eight-yard sack on one of the game's biggest plays ... Late in the third quarter, with the game tied at 14-14, he thwarted a third-and-seven play from the UNC 12-yard line with a quarterback sack ... The resulting field goal try missed.

1992: Second-leading tackler on the team and tops among inside linebackers ... Eighth in tackles in the Atlantic Coast Conference ... Made 108 hits, including 45 primary and 63 assists ... Started all 11 games ... Made five tackles for losses of 17 yards, recorded one sack and caused one fumble ... Made a season-high 13 hits on three occasions: vs. Navy, Maryland and Clemson ... Also had 12 at Florida State and 11 vs. Furman and Georgia Tech ... Graded out a winner in eight games ... Received the big hit award by the coaches a team-leading five times ... Had a season-high seven solo tackles at Clemson ... One sack came against Army ... Stuffed a Cadet fourth-quarter, two-point conversion by sacking the quarterback.

1991: Started the first six games and appeared in all 11 contests at inside linebacker ... Took over for the injured Dwight Hollier and started opposite Tommy Thigpen ... Finished the year as the team's fourth-leading tackler with 32 primary hits and 42 assists for 74 tackles ... Forced and recovered one fumble and had one tackle for a loss ... Was in double figures in tackles in three consecutive games when he made 11 vs. Army and N.C. State and a career-high 15 vs. William & Mary ... Had a high of eight primary stops vs. the Tribe ... Recovered a fumble late in the game at N.C. State ... Forced a loose ball against William & Mary which led to a UNC touchdown ... Saw action on 427 plays with a high of 76 vs. N.C. State ... Averaged 19 snaps a game over the last four contests.

1990: Competed in all 11 games on a total of 322 plays ... Saw the most action against Connecticut (48 plays) and Miami (42) ... Averaged 26 plays a game in the ACC matchups ... Finished with 32 total hits, including 18 primary tackles ... Recovered one fumble against Miami ... Had a season-high five tackles against both Connecticut and Maryland ... Also had four hits vs. Miami, Clemson and Duke.

1989: Was red-shirted.

High School: Named South Carolina's 3-A Lineman of the Year by The State in Columbia ... Linebacker, tight end and fullback at J.L. Mann High where he played for Coach Steve Chamness ... All-state, all-conference and all-county honors as a senior ... All-conference and all-county as a junior ... On The Charlotte Observer Top 25 in South Carolina ... Team MVP ... Had 104 solo tackles and assisted on 63 others as a senior ... Had 98 solo tackles and 99 assists as a junior ... Had five sacks over the two years ... Was in on 112 tackles as a sophomore ... Played in the Shrine Bowl and led the team with nine hits ... Also lettered twice in track.

80 • OSCAR STURGIS

Outside Linebacker • 6-5, 250, Jr. • Hamlet, N.C.

Originally came to Carolina as a tight end, but made the switch to defense last spring ... Comes into preseason as the co-starter at the rush outside linebacker position ... Saw almost every snap with the number one defense during spring drills and was fantastic ... Clearly was one of the big surprises of the spring ... Has adapted to a new position as fast and as well as probably any other player in Mack Brown's six years at Chapel Hill ... Size, speed and quickness to the ball make him a dangerous threat to quarterbacks ... Agility aided by the fact he played offense for two years ... Obviously lacks the experience of other linebackers, but still could develop into a dominant defender ... Physical presence alone makes it a necessity for him to be reckoned with.

1992: Played tight end and on special teams in all 12 games ... Saw action on more than 260 plays ... Made one catch, a 14-yard grab at Clemson ... Also recovered a fumble at Wake Forest.

1991: Appeared in nine games ... Saw action on 94 total plays with a season-high 21 vs. William & Mary, 18 vs. Clemson and 17 vs. Maryland ... Did not catch a pass ... Missed some time in fall practice and then early in the season due to an infection in his knee.

High School: Played on back-to-back, 15-0 state championship teams at Richmond County High School in 1988 and 1989 ... Attended Fork Union Military Academy in 1990 ... SuperPrep All-America tight end as a senior at Richmond County ... Also named to the Associated Press and Greensboro News & Record all-state teams ... Chosen to The Charlotte Observer Top Five in North Carolina ... Also named one of the state's top five players by the Raleigh News & Observer ... Selected for the Shrine Bowl ... Had 32 catches in 1989 for 776 yards and 11 touchdowns ... Caught 32 passes as a junior for 673 yards and six TDs ... Also started as a sophomore ... Although slowed by an ankle injury at Fork Union, he caught 10 passes there in 1990, including two for scores ... Also played linebacker ... Coached by Daryl Barnes at Richmond County and John Shuman at Fork Union.

Personal: Majoring in sociology ... Born Oscar L. Sturgis on Jan. 12, 1971.

Free Safety • 6-0, 190, So. • Hamlet, N.C.

Has made the move from cornerback, where he played some as a red-shirt freshman last year, to free safety where he will back up Bracey Walker ... Had a good spring ... Had a chance to play a lot as Walker missed some time with some minor injuries ... Very intelligent player and a tough competitor ... A fun kid to coach ... Experience from a year ago will help him a lot.

1992: Played in every game for a total of 254 snaps ... Started one game against Navy and played 59 downs in that contest ... Was in on 36 plays against N.C. State as UNC was without injured starters Sean Crocker and Thomas Smith ... Made 19 tackles, 13 primary, including one for a loss ... Made seven tackles against the Wolfpack and Navy.

1991: Was red-shirted.

High School: Quarterbacked Richmond County to its third straight state 4-A championship in 1990 after playing running back as a sophomore and junior ... Also played in the secondary as Richmond County compiled a three-year record of 44-1 ... Ran for 894 yards and threw for 907 more in 1990 ... Scored 15 touchdowns and passed for 12 ... Credited with 32 tackles ... Also averaged 65 yards a game in return yardage ... SuperPrep All-America ... 15 • MIKE THOMAS Quarterback/Punter • 6-2, 225, So. • Hamlet, N.C.

One of the outstanding two-position athletes in college football ... Exciting young quarterback prospect and one of the premier punters in the nation ... Enters preseason as a co-starter at quarterback along with Jason Stanicek ... Missed all of spring drills as he was rehabilitating a left pectoralis muscle injury ... Suffered a muscle injury while lifting weights in the off-season and underwent surgery March 3 to repair the tear ... Will be ready to play by the start of practice ... Did not play baseball in the spring or summer with the Baltimore Orioles ... Has played in the Orioles' farm system for four years.

Possesses the talent to be a stand-out quarterback ... Made major strides over the last five games of the 1992 season ... Has the ability to take over a game ... Can throw the long ball ... Delivers the over-the-middle pass with a lot of pace ... Is very hard to tackle.

Consistently amazes people with his booming punts ... Improved a great deal over the course of the season with his hang time on shorter punts and his ability to back teams up inside their own 20-yard line ... An extra offensive weapon for the Tar Heels ... Ranked among the top eight punters in the country by the 1993 NCAA Football Preview magazine ... Since he works at quarterback during practice, it's remarkable what he has done punting ... Rates as a first-class All-America candidate.

1992 (Quarterback): Proved to be one of the best young players in the college game ... Selected as the Tar Heels' Most Outstanding First-Year Player ... Completed 54 of 114 passes (47.4 percent) for 831 yards ... Threw for three touchdowns and four interceptions ... Also rushed 44 times for 171 yards and one touchdown ... The 831 yards are the most by a UNC freshman passer, breaking Matt Kupec's record of 751 set in 1976 ... Set several other school records in a win over Duke, including most passing yards by a freshman (299), most yards per completion (27.2), most yards per attempt (16.6), most yards per play in total offense (11.0) and most total offense yards by a freshman (318) ... His 299 yards passing vs. Duke was the seventh-most in Carolina history ... He completed 11 of 18 passes for 299 yards and rushed 11 times for 19 yards ... He threw two touchdown passes in the game, 29 yards to Bucky Brooks in the third quarter for a 24-21 lead, and 20 yards to Brooks with 2:03 to play for the game-winner ... Completed four passes of 43 yards or longer vs. the Blue Devils ... Had a 46-yard completion to Brooks which moved the ball to the Duke 23 late in the game and two plays later he hit Brooks on a crossing route for the touchdown.

Was named Atlantic Coast Conference Rookie of the Week for the third time following the Duke game ... Also earned that award vs. Wake Forest and Georgia Tech ... Started and went the distance in the 21-17 win over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl ... Completed seven of 16 passes for 106 yards in the bowl game, including a 53-yard bomb to Brooks on the fourth play of the third quarter ... In the season opener vs. Wake Forest, he came off the bench to hit five of six throws for 80 yards and scored on a 29-yard option keeper around left end ... On his first drive at quarterback, he hit Corey Holliday with a 17-yard laser on third-and-nine and then connected with Brooks for 35 yards to the Wake five on third-and-long ... Made his first career start against Furman ... Came on late in the second quarter and led a touchdown drive against Virginia ... Set up UNC's last touchdown vs. Virginia on an 11-yard draw play on third-and-10 at the UVa 18 ... Made his first ACC start the next week against Georgia Tech in front of an ABC regional audience ... Completed 10 of 17 for 141 yards and his first collegiate touchdown and rushed for 51 yards on 12 carries ... Hit Brooks for a 27-yard touchdown on UNC's first play from scrimmage ... Nine of his 10 completions were for 10 or more yards ... Ran for four first downs: twice on third down and twice more on fourth down ... Rushed for 19 yards on fourth-and-one at the Tech 34 which led to a field goal and a 20-14 lead ... Completed two third-down throws in the first TD drive at Maryland.

1992 (Punter): First-team All-ACC punter ... Named first-team Freshman All-America by Football News ... Was among the nation's top statistical punters throughout the season ... Became a better kicker as the year went on, especially in terms of downing the ball inside the opponents' 20-yard line ... Punted 56 times for 2,415 yards, an average of 43.1 yards per kick ... He had no kicks blocked and only one returned for a touchdown (Corey Sawyer of Florida State) ... Averaged 40 yards or better in eight games ... Had a long kick of 65 yards vs. Furman ... Had 13 punts of 50 yards or longer and three for 60-plus ... He had 17 punts killed inside the 20-yard line and the opposition began just one drive on Carolina's side of midfield the entire season after one of his kicks (Maryland, at the UNC 49).

1991: Played quarterback in two games but received a medical red-shirt after suffering an injury in his second outing ... Made his collegiate debut against Cincinnati in the Tar Heels' season opener ... Completed three of six passes vs. the Bearcats for 33 yards ... Also had two punts for 67 yards including a 45-yarder ... First college play was a 22-yard completion to freshman tight end Greg DeLong ... Next appearance was in week four against William & Mary and it proved to be his last of the year ... Completed his only pass attempt for 17 yards to DeLong ... On his eighth play of the game, he was sacked from the blind side and fumbled the ball ... The hit caused a torn ligament in his right thumb ... Totaled 23 plays in the two games ... Was healthy for spring practice.

High School: Triple-threat quarterback at Richmond County High School ... Attended Fork Union Military Academy in 1990 ... Led Richmond County to a three-year 40-3 record and back-to-back 15-0 seasons in 1988 and 1989 ... Parade All-America quarterback and USA Today All-America punter as a senior there ... Rated the nation's number three quarterback by SuperPrep ... Named to the Associated Press All-State Team at two positions: quarterback and punter ... All-state selection by the Greensboro News & Record at quarterback ... Also picked by both as the state's high school player of the year ... In addition, chosen by The Charlotte Observer and Scholastic Coach as North Carolina High School Player of the Year ... Picked to the Raleigh News & Observer Top Five in North Carolina list ... While directing an option offense, completed 61 of 137 passes for 1,451 yards and 20 touchdowns in his final season ... Only threw five interceptions ... Ran for 860 yards and 11 TDs ... Averaged 43.2 yards a punt ... Chosen for the Shrine Bowl and the East-West All-Star Game ... Coached by Daryl Barnes at Richmond County and John Shuman at Fork Union ... A third-round draft choice by the Baltimore Orioles in 1990 ... Born Michael Samuel Thomas on Dec. 28, 1971 ... Majoring in speech communications.

42 • RONALD THOMAS

Cornerback • 6-1, 180, Fr. • Paterson, N.J.

Red-shirt freshman who starts the year as the number two man at cornerback behind Sean Crocker ... Needs to get bigger and faster, but more than anything needs experience ... Made big strides in the spring and is developing into a solid backup.

High School: Started for three straight years, winning all-conference and all-county honors each season at John F. Kennedy High ... Had six interceptions in 1991, returning two for touchdowns ... Also caught five touchdown passes ... Averaged nine tackles a game in his senior year ... Team captain ... Coached by Frank Bonadies ... Set the state indoor record in the 60-yard high hurdles and has high jumped 6-8.

Personal: Enrolled in the general college ... Born April 19, 1974.

Free Safety • 5-11, 190, Sr. • Spring Lake, N.C.

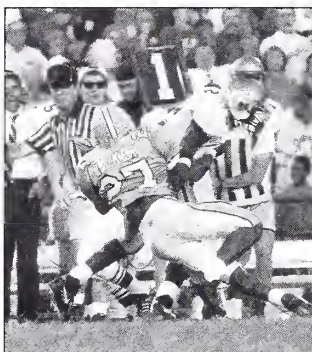

Will be one of the top defensive backs in America this fall ... Candidate for the Jim Thorpe Award as the nation's top defensive back ... One of the top hitters in the Atlantic Coast Conference ... A star at strong safety last season, he shifted to free safety in the spring ... An exciting player who has a knack for making something big happen ... Moved into a starting role in the preseason last year and never looked back ... Emerged as a star last year with his ability to make the big play at opportunistic times ... Moved to free safety so he can be in on even more of the action ... Harnessed some of his earlier recklessness ... Read his keys very well ... Challenge for him is to be where he needs to be and win every one-on-one confrontation ... His biggest adjustment in moving from strong to free safety will be to make the signal calls and checks ... Has made 163 career tackles, intercepted three passes and broken up seven more ... One of the premier special teams players in the country ... Has blocked four punts and returned two of them for touchdowns.

1992: Won second-team All-ACC honors ... Selected the Tar Heels' co-Most Valuable Defensive Player, the co-Most Outstanding Defensive Back and the Most Outstanding Special Teams Player ... Defensive Most Valuable Player of the Peach Bowl against Mississippi State ... Exploded into the Tar Heel history books with a spectacular second half in the Georgia Dome ... Blocked two punts in a span of less than five minutes of the third quarter, ran the second one back for the game-tying touchdown and later forced the game-winning interception ... Made eight tackles in the bowl game ... First blocked punt of the bowl came with 11:29 left in the third quarter, but led to a missed UNC field goal ... On the very next MSU possession, Walker again blocked a punt, but this time the ball bounced right back into his arms and he raced 24 yards for the touchdown (officially credited with 19- and 41-yard punt returns) ... Bone-crushing hit on the Bulldogs' first series of the fourth quarter forced a loose ball which Cliff Baskerville intercepted and ran back 44 yards for the go-ahead and game-winning touchdown ... Walker not only delivered the hit which caused the interception, but he raced down the sideline and made a pivotal block on a 300-pound offensive lineman which sprung Baskerville for the score.

Third-leading tackler on the team with 96 hits ... Made 50 primary stops, second-highest on the squad ... Also had three interceptions, four breakups, six and one-half tackles for losses and one fumble recovery ... Chancellor Paul Hardin

The son of a Methodist minister by birth and a lawyer by training, Paul Hardin III found his life's calling in education. After 25 years as a college and university president, he stands out as one of the foremost chief executive officers in American higher education.

A North Carolina native, Hardin is the seventh chancellor of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, the nation's first state university, which will mark its 200th anniversary on Oct. 12, 1993.

Hardin came to Carolina in July 1988 after 13 years as president of Drew University in Madison, N.J., where he earned a reputation as an administrator sensitive to the needs of students, faculty, and staff, built a major library complex, and started a program that made computers accessible to every freshman, a first for a U.S. liberal arts school.

He was president of Southern Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, from 1972 to 1974 and president of Wofford College in Spartanburg, S.C., from 1968 to 1972. When Rider College presented the chancellor one of his seven honorary degrees, the New Jersey school called him "one of the finest college executives" of his time and cited his ability to generate "informed and sustained progress" at every campus he has headed.

Since taking Carolina's helm to lead the University through its Bicentennial, Hardin often has reminded the university family that in the complex and highly competitive world of public higher education the future belongs to schools that command it — not to those that sit passively and wait for it to occur.

To command the future, Hardin believes Carolina must build new partnerships, celebrate diversity, and remain passionately committed to the University's time-honored mission of vital teaching, cutting-edge research, and distinguished public service. The chancellor's personal goal is to provide leadership that will keep Carolina among the nation's finest public research universities in the 21st Century. He meets that challenge by combining strong and thoughtful leadership with a refreshing sense of humor and a dynamic personal style.

"We were looking for someone who could rally the alumni, rally the faculty, students and staff, and prepare us for both the Bicentennial and a very difficult financial environment for higher education in the '90s," says Robert C. Eubanks Jr., chairman of the search committee that recommended Hardin's hiring, a former two-term chairman of the Board of Trustees, and past president of the General Alumni Association. "We felt like Paul Hardin could do all of those things. I don't think there's any question that he has."

Hardin was instrumental in persuading the 1991 General Assembly to give the state's public universities more flexibility to manage budgets and personnel. The chancellor has strengthened Carolina's own internal planning and budgeting processes. In 1990, Hardin started an intense year-long review of the University's most critical long-range goals and strategies for reaching them. He headed a panel of faculty, administrators, and students that produced a 1992 report that will guide planning for the University's third century.

Hardin devotes much of his time to helping raise private funds to ensure future excellence through the Bicentennial Campaign for Carolina. The campaign, which has a $320 million goal and will conclude in 1995, is the largest in the university's history. Through mid-May 1993, $269 million in cash and pledges had been raised.

Hallmarks of Hardin's tenure include strong efforts to improve and reward undergraduate and graduate teaching; boost the faculty's ability to conduct research, leading to dramatic gains in research funding; and nurture ongoing training programs for state leaders in education, government, health care and other critical fields.

Hardin is a stalwart advocate of diversity on a campus that leads the nation in the number of black faculty members holding endowed professorships. "I believe that finding ways to celebrate our diversity may be the most important task on college and university campuses today," Hardin says. "A diverse society will continue to be a part of our lives, and we must always work toward that — at Carolina and beyond."

The chancellor organized a task force to study community and diversity on campus and asked trustees to name Blyden and Roberta H. Jackson Hall to honor pioneering black faculty who helped integrate the faculty. He has encouraged efforts to create a new Residence Hall Association Diversity Program to bring more black students from south to north campus to live; to hire a minority development professional to spearhead fund raising for student programs; and to publish a new directory of initiatives, scholarships, and organizations for underrepresented students.

Improving American public education is high on the chancellor's personal agenda. He serves on the Board of Trustees of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching, a policy center devoted to strengthening American education, with 24 prominent education and business leaders.

Since 1991, Hardin has worked as a founding trustee of Educate America, a Morristown, N.J., organization chaired by Thomas Kean, former governor of New Jersey. The nonprofit, nonpartisan organization consults with school districts and individual schools attempting to strengthen primary and secondary education.

Hardin remains a leading national spokesman on higher education's most important issues, including athletic reform, a career-long interest. A charter member of the NCAA Presidents' Commission, he closely monitors reform proposals, including those made by the Knight Foundation Commission on Intercollegiate Athletics. At the chancellor's request, UNC trustees endorsed the commission's report, which called for firm institutional control of athletics and academic and financial integrity of athletic programs.

Many commission reform measures already were in place at Chapel Hill, partly because of the faculty's 1990 call for local, conference, and national changes. Hardin vigorously supported faculty proposals and advances his own reform initiatives in discussions with colleagues nationwide. He and athletic director John Swofford devised a plan to commit $1 million in postseason athletics revenues over five years to undergird needy UNC academic programs. Such athletic support for academics is rare among U.S. colleges and universities.

Named one of the nation's 100 most effective university presidents in a 1986 study, Hardin has contributed to several international and national educated-related organizations. He has been a co-chairman of the Japan-U.S. Conference on University Presidents, as well as a member of the Board of Higher Education in New Jersey and on the Board of Directors of the National Association of Independent Colleges and Universities.

He earned Phi Beta Kappa honors and an undergraduate degree from Duke in 1952. Hardin entered the Duke law school, where he edited the law review and graduated first in his class. After two years in the U.S. Army, he practiced law in Alabama before returning to Duke in 1958 to teach at the law school for a decade. He holds the rank professor of law at Carolina.

At Duke, Hardin won a four-year Ford Foundation grant for summer study in comparative law at universities in Canada, Jamaica, Nigeria, and Scotland. He was a visiting professor at the law schools of the universities of Pennsylvania, Texas and Virginia. In 1991, Hardin received the Duke Law Alumni Association's Charles S. Murphy Award for lifelong dedication to public service through his commitment to education — by teaching law and serving in academic administration — and his leadership to countless civic and professional organizations.

Hardin created the Coordination and Consultation Committee to strengthen relations between the university and local communities and serves as a member of the Board of Directors of the Chapel-Carrboro Chamber of Commerce and is vice-president of the Public Private Partnership.

Hardin, who was born in Charlotte, and his wife, Barbara, also a Duke graduate, call several places in North Carolina home, because they grew up as the children of Methodist ministers. During his youth, Hardin lived in Asheboro, Concord, High Point, Shelby, Wadesboro and Waynesville.

The Hardins have three children: Paul Russell Hardin of Atlanta, Ga., Sandra Mikush of Winston-Salem, and Dorothy Holmes of Birmingham, Mich. The chancellor is the son of Bishop Paul Hardin Jr. of Asheville and the late Dorothy Reel Hardin.

Athletic Director John Swofford

To those who follow the world of intercollegiate athletics closely, the fact that John Swofford is considered one of the best administrators in the nation comes as absolutely no surprise.

In his 13 years as the Director of Athletics at Carolina, Swofford has been instrumental in building UNC's program into one of the country's most respected entities. It is rare in this day and age that an intercollegiate athletic program can show the proper balance of outstanding academic performance, unquestioned integrity and ethical behavior, championship producing results and sound financial management. But Carolina's program excels in all of those areas.

That Swofford is considered one of the nation's premier administrators was hammered home once again by two recent appointments he received. In June of 1993, Swofford was elevated to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA). In addition, last January, Swofford was appointed to the Executive Committee of the NCAA. The 14-member body has the main responsibility of transacting the business and administering the affairs of the NCAA in accordance with the policies of the NCAA and the NCAA Council, and supervises the executive director of the NCAA.

"John Swofford is a superb athletic director," says UNC Chancellor Paul Hardin. "It is not surprising that Carolina fans agree on that proposition, because our athletic program is so obviously successful under his leadership. What I can report is that John's national reputation parallels the respect in which he is held at UNC. I am very active in the NCAA and I hear nothing but the highest compliments about John and the administrative and coaching strength he has built at Carolina. He is clearly among a small handful of athletic directors that are commonly acknowledged to be tops in the nation."

Swofford, a 1971 Carolina graduate, founded the office of athletic academic affairs in 1986. Managed by a full-time staff of five professionals, the athletic academic affairs office has helped guide Carolina to record numbers on the Atlantic Coast Conference Honor Roll and the Dean's List over the past seven years. Carolina's football team has been honored six times in the past seven years for graduating at least 70 percent of its players by the College Football Association and the men's basketball team has continued its remarkable rate of graduating its players while maintaining on-court excellence.

He planned the construction of the Student-Athlete Development Center as an addition to Kenan Fieldhouse. That building includes the most modern equipment to aid student-athletes in their studies and physical development. A Morehead Scholar himself, Swofford has a special interest in the academic side of intercollegiate athletics.

In his 13 years as athletic director, Swofford has seen Carolina teams win 83 Atlantic Coast Conference championships and 18 national collegiate titles. Carolina has won more ACC team titles than any other school in the league in each of the past six school years. During 1992-93, Carolina captured seven ACC crowns, while also capturing NCAA championships in women's soccer and men's basketball.

With the help of the Educational Foundation, the University has also enjoyed a tremendous growth in facilities during Swofford's tenure. In 1986, Carolina successfully completed a $34 million fund-raising drive to construct the Smith Center, a complex which includes a 21,572-seat basketball arena, and Koury Natatorium, one of the nation's top short course facilities. Swofford was also the driving force behind the expansion of Kenan Stadium in 1988 and the building of a new press box there.

Since Swofford became athletic director, the Cone-Kenfield Tennis Center, an indoor-outdoor facility, has been completed and dedicated; Boshamer Stadium has been expanded and renovated; three new holes have been completed at Finley Golf Course; the football practice fields have been reconstructed and lighted; a new AstroTurf playing field has been installed; and a new track has been put down at Fetzer Field and the stadium there renovated.

That is an impressive list of accomplishments for the department under Swofford's tenure the past 13 years. What's equally noteworthy is the fact Carolina has accomplished all this while running a program whose integrity is unimpeachable. There hasn't been even a whiff of scandal during that time. Swofford has also directed the program to such heights during a time of increasing financial exigencies. Yet the sound financial management practices put forth by Swofford have kept Carolina as one of the few collegiate athletic programs still operating in the black.

Nationally, Swofford was named chairman of the NCAA Football Television Committee in 1984. He is a past chairman of the NCAA Communications and the NCAA Special Events/Postseason Bowl Committees. He currently serves as chairman of the ACC Television Committee and the ACC committee on women's soccer.

In May 1991, Swofford was honored with the North Carolina Scholastic Sports Unsung Hero Award for his strong support of high school sports. Swofford was cited for his strong leadership at Carolina, for lending unprecedented access to campus facilities for prep championships.

A native of North Wilkesboro, N.C., Swofford was a two-time all-state football player and a three-sport MVP at Wilkes Central High School. An honor student in high school, he majored in psychology and industrial relations at Carolina.

Swofford played quarterback and defensive back on Tar Heel football teams in 1969, 1970 and 1971. The 1970 team went to the Peach Bowl and the 1971 squad won the ACC title and played in the Gator Bowl. He was named to the ACC Honor Roll and Who's Who in College Athletics. He also served as president of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes on campus. In 1973, he earned a master's degree in athletic administration from Ohio University.

Swofford received the Distinguished Alumni Award from Ohio University in 1984. He has been inducted into the Order of the Golden Fleece, Carolina's highest honorary society. In 1989, Swofford became the first athletic director ever added to the Chancellor's Administrative Council at Carolina.

A regular jogger, Swofford enjoys reading, golf and tennis. He has two children. Autumn, 16, is a sophomore in high school, and Chad, 14, an eighth grader.

Head Coach Mack Brown

The man who has brought North Carolina back to national football prominence is Mack Brown, the dynamic, young head coach whose charisma has won friends for the University off the field just as his teams have on it.

Last fall in the fifth year of Brown's rebuilding program, Carolina posted an 8-3 regular-season record. That earned the Tar Heels a spot in the Peach Bowl where they scored a dramatic, 21-17 come-from-behind win over Mississippi State.

Carolina finished 18th in the final USA Today/CNN and United Press International polls and 19th in the Associated Press rankings. The Tar Heels placed third in the Atlantic Coast Conference race after being picked sixth in the league's preseason media poll.

For the first time in history Carolina scored wins over Top 20 opponents on consecutive weekends.

Brown's accomplishments haven't gone unnoticed. That's evidenced by the fact his team is rated in the Top 20 of most preseason polls this fall. Carolina was chosen to play in one of the two games which open the college season, the Disneyland Pigskin Classic. Many observers think the Tar Heels' turnaround is one of the tops in the nation.

"All that is really a tribute to the hard work put in by our players and assistant coaches over the past five years," he says. "Our program still isn't where we want it to be, but we're making progress."

In fact, Carolina is the only school in the ACC which has improved its record each of the past three seasons. This success on the field has not come at the expense of failures off it. UNC has won honorable mention from the College Football Association for five straight years for graduating at least 70 percent of its players.

All this is an indication Athletic Director John Swofford was correct in December 1987, when he recommended Brown to become the Carolina head coach.

However, the best may be yet to come. Brown has been around some of the top programs in the country and knows what it takes for Carolina to maintain the consistency those schools have had.

"We've made tremendous strides, but there is still work to be done," says Brown. "We want to be in a position to challenge for the conference championship and go to a bowl game every year. There's no reason we can't do that given all the things we have going for us here - great facilities, a tradition of excellence in athletics and one of the best academic institutions in the nation.

"We also want to do it in a first-class manner. That means having the highest of ethical standards, having our players get the quality education available at this institution and making the game enjoyable for them and our fans."

Brown certainly seems to have the Tar Heels headed on the right track.

"Mack has proven to be the perfect man for our program," says Swofford. "He's seemingly been going non-stop since the first day he walked on campus and it has really paid off. He's not only rebuilt our program, but also united our constituencies."

"Even in the early years when he was laying the foundation for the program, he was popular with our fans. He has a great ability to relate to people, from our oldest alumni to small kids. He understands what Carolina means to people who went here and that makes him so effective when talking to them. But, I've also seen him with groups of young children and he's great with them, too."

Brown became the Carolina coach on Dec. 15, 1987. Caught with slim material, his first two teams struggled on the field. Then came a breakthrough 6-4-1 season in 1990. That was followed by a 7-4 record and then last year's 9-3 Peach Bowl championship team. Carolina had not had three straight winning seasons since recording five in a row from 1979 to 1983 and making bowl appearances in each of those years.

This rejuvenation has not been easy, nor has it been done without a few falls along the way. Brown was forced to play untested freshmen in his first two seasons and that showed in UNC's record. But, the young head coach did not quit and the slow start did not quell the enthusiasm building around the Tar Heel program.

"From a won-loss standpoint we went through some tough times in the first two years and not once did Mack ever let down in his positive approach in terms of his players or any people surrounding the program," says Swofford. "He has a unique ability to remain positive, to keep people united and headed in a forward direction. And I think he handled that remarkably well."

"Consequently, I think people very much wanted him to succeed. And I think that's important when you're rebuilding. We did not have a program in great shape to hand him when he arrived and he has gone about rebuilding it in a way which should be long-lasting."

Outgoing and personable, one of Brown's greatest strengths may simply be his integrity. When he says something, people know he means it.

That's one reason he's done such an outstanding job as a recruiter. He's honest and forthright in his dealings with his players. He has a good understanding of today's young people and can relate to them and their problems.

When he came to Chapel Hill, one of his first goals was to reestablish solid relationships with the state's high school coaches. He and his staff have done just that and UNC's football program is once again a dominant factor in the state.

As Brown's rebuilding program has begun to pay dividends on the field, it has also benefitted the players in it who have decided to try for careers in professional football. Over the past two seasons 10 Tar Heel players have been selected in the National Football League draft. Florida State is the only ACC school to have more players drafted in that period.

In addition, nine other Carolina players have signed free agent contracts with NFL teams in this two-year stretch and another was a second-round choice in the Canadian Football League draft.

"I've always had great respect for Coach Brown," says Natrone Means, who rushed for over 1,000 yards and won All-ACC honors each of the last two seasons. "But, that increased this past spring when I had to make a very tough decision about whether to leave school early and enter the draft as a junior.

"He was supportive of me in every way possible and even made some calls for me to people he knew in the NFL. He never tried to influence me to come back for my final year, only to do what I decided was best for me and my family. He only made me promise to finish work on my degree and I plan to do that."

Brown's concern for Means' education should be no surprise to those who know him and have watched Carolina practices. Players often come late or leave early because of classes. Clint Gwaltney, an Academic All-ACC place-kicker touched on that in an interview a year ago.

"Coach Brown and his staff always put meeting the academic standards at Carolina first and foremost," said Gwaltney. "Coach Brown said academics first and football second, and when he said that, he really meant just that. He stressed that you go to class, made sure we had the finest academic advisors in the country and made sure we placed academics before football. That showed a lot about his integrity."

Brown came to Carolina from Tulane where he had rejuvenated the Green Wave's sagging football fortunes in just three years, taking his team to only its fifth bowl game since 1940 in his final season.

However, Brown may be best known for helping develop some of the most explosive offenses in college football. As an offensive coordinator and assistant, he directed record-setting attacks at Oklahoma, LSU and Iowa State.

Brown says he has three goals for the student-athletes who play for him.

"The number one thing is for each young person to get his degree," he says. "We also want them to do the best they can academically to prepare themselves for later life.

"The second thing is that we want to win. And last, but certainly not least, we want the young people to have fun."

Celebration was the order of the day last October 24 when the Tar Heels knocked off Georgia Tech, 26-14 before an ABC television audience. That win marked the first time in UNC football history that the Tar Heels defeated Top 20 opponents in consecutive games. (Bill Richards photo)

Brown's last Tulane team certainly had fun in 1987, in completing one of the fastest turn-arounds in the country. Brown went to Tulane on December 16, 1984 as head coach and was also appointed the school's athletic director the following April. The Green Wave had suffered three straight losing seasons before Brown's arrival in New Orleans.

In his third season, he led Tulane to a 6-5 regular-season mark and earned a spot opposite Washington in the Independence Bowl. In the process, the Green Wave set school records for total offense and points. Tulane ranked 11th in the nation in scoring, averaging 32.5 points a game. Wide receiver Mare Zeno won first-team All-America honors and quarterback Terrence Jones was fourth nationally in total offense and 10th in passing.

Brown had begun his full-time coaching career at Southern Mississippi in 1974, working with receivers for four seasons. He then spent one year coaching that same position at Memphis State.

At Iowa State, from 1979 to 1981, Brown served as receivers coach for one year and as offensive coordinator for the last two seasons. In his time as offensive coordinator the Cyclones broke 17 school and Big Eight Conference records and produced league leaders in rushing and total offense.

He then took an assistant's job at LSU where he ran the offense in 1982. The Tigers went 8-2-1 and played in the Orange Bowl. The "Mack Attack" was the second-most improved offense in the nation that fall, averaging over 400 yards a game.

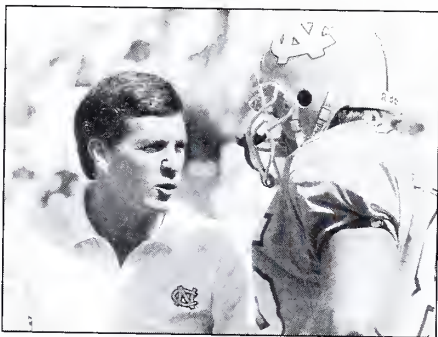

That led to his first head coaching job at Appalachian State. In 1983, at the age of 32, he directed the Mountaineers to a 6-5 record. However, he left after that one season when offered a job he couldn't refuse—the offensive coordinator's position at Oklahoma.

In his one year on Barry Switzer's staff, the Sooners were 9-2-1, won the Big Eight Championship and earned a berth in the Orange Bowl. Brown helped Oklahoma develop its best passing attack in years to go along with its always potent option-oriented running game. Brown coached quarterbacks Danny Bradley, a first-team All-Big Eight selection, and Troy Aikman, last year's Super Bowl MVP of the Dallas Cowboys. His success there helped lead to the Tulane job.

A native of Cookeville, Tenn., Brown attended Vanderbilt and Florida State. He lettered twice as a running back for the Seminoles in 1971 and 1972. He finished work on his bachelor's degree in education at FSU in 1974. While there, he worked on a part-time basis, coaching receivers and the junior varsity. He received his master's degree in administration from Southern Mississippi in 1976.

Brown had been a three-sports star at Putnam County High School, lettering three times in football. He won all-state and All-America honors and was selected one of the nation's top 100 running backs by Scholastic Magazine in 1968. He was class president and a Who's Who in America choice.

Brown, born Aug. 27, 1951, has two daughters, Katherine Jane and Barbara Ellen.

Under Mack Brown's leadership, Carolina has been honored by the College Football Association for outstanding graduation rates in five consecutive seasons and the Tar Heels have placed 24 players on the Academic All-ACC Team, the second-highest total in the league. (Bill Richards photo)

Athletic Staff

John Blanchard

Director of Athletic Academic Affairs

John Blanchard is beginning his ninth year as director of athletic academic affairs at Carolina. In this position, Blanchard heads up the Tar Heel academic support program for student-athletes.

A native of Sacramento, Calif., Blanchard is a 1975 graduate of Stanford University where he was a 1974 first-team All-West Coast Conference free safety. He obtained his master's degree from San Diego State in 1981.

In Blanchard's first five years at Carolina, the number of Carolina student-athletes on the ACC Honor Roll doubled, from 85 in 1985-86 to 170 in 1989-90. In 1991-92 a UNC record 178 student-athletes were named to the ACC Honor Roll. In addition, the College Football Association has honored six of the last seven UNC classes for graduating over 70% of its players.

Blanchard is a member of the National Association of Academic Advisors for Athletics (N4A) and represents UNC in the National Consortium for Academics and Sports.

Blanchard is married to the former Dawn London. They have a daughter, Janel, and two sons, Shaun and Gabriel.

Brian Davis

Athletic Academic Coordinator

Brian Davis begins his 10th year on the North Carolina staff, serving as athletic academic coordinator.

Davis works as the primary academic counselor for the Carolina football team. In that role, he advises players in the area of course selection and scheduling, career planning and rules and regulations pertaining to eligibility.

In addition, Davis monitors the academic progress of the players throughout the school year. His work has paid off as Carolina has graduated over 70 percent of its football players in six of the last seven years.

Davis also coordinates and supervises the operation of the Student-Athlete Development Center, scheduling and overseeing study halls and language and computer labs. He assists John Blanchard in running the entire UNC Academic Affairs program.

Prior to coming to Chapel Hill, he worked as an assistant athletic academic counselor at Iowa State. A 1981 graduate, Davis received both his B.A. and master's of science from Iowa State. He was a three-year letterman of the Cyclones' Big Eight championship track team, competing as a long jumper and sprinter.

Davis, an avid golfer and fisherman, is married to the former Brenda Perry. They have twin sons, Spencer and Cameron.

Bruce Hemphill

Director of Recruiting

Entering his third full season at the University of North Carolina as director of recruiting is 37-year-old Bruce Hemphill. He joined the Tar Heel staff just prior to the end of the 1990 season.

Hemphill is in his 16th season as a college coach or administrator. He is a 1977 graduate of Louisiana State University where he lettered three years in football and won All-Academic Southeastern Conference honors at wide receiver. He served as a graduate assistant in 1977-78 and was the Tigers' recruiting director in 1979. Hemphill earned his master's in education administration at LSU in 1979. He then served as LSU's head junior varsity coach, the coordinator of graduate assistants and director of computer scouting from 1980-83. Hemphill became the supervisor for Health and Physical Education for the Louisiana Department of Education in 1984.

Following a short stint there he worked as an assistant coach in charge of wide receivers at Louisiana Tech for two seasons. He was recruiting coordinator at N.C. State from 1987 to 1989. He then became the assistant recruiting coordinator at South Carolina and held that post until he came to Chapel Hill in November 1990.

Bruce was born on Christmas Day 1955, in Sulphur, La., where he was an all-state prepster at Sulphur High. He is married to the former Susan Jones.

From 1969-72, she served as head women's volleyball and basketball coach at ASU. She came to Carolina in 1974 as an assistant professor of health and physical education and an assistant women's basketball and volleyball coach. She was named head women's volleyball coach in 1975 and led the Tar Heels to four successive Atlantic Coast Conference titles from 1980-83 and five post-season tournament appearances.

In 1979, she took on added duties as athletic business manager at Carolina. She retired from coaching volleyball after the 1983 season, but continued to handle all financial affairs for the department through 1987. In 1985, she was also put in charge of the non-revenue program.

Miller is a member of the National Association of Collegiate Women Athletic Administrators, National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics, Division I-A Women's Athletic Administrator's Steering Committee and UNC Housing Advisory Board. She served six years on the NCAA Volleyball Committee.

Bob Savod

Associate Athletic Director and Director of Marketing

Bob Savod, a native of New York City and CCNY alumnus, serves as Associate Athletic Director and Director of Marketing. He has been with the Athletic Department since 1976.

Savod's duties involve designing marketing campaigns for the sale of UNC football and basketball tickets. He is also responsible for corporate sponsorships, coordinating radio and TV affairs, serves as departmental liaison with the Tar Heel Sports Network, Carolina Blue and the University trademark licensing program. He also is the marketing director for the Dean Smith and Mack Brown TV and radio shows, coordinating halftime shows for football and basketball games, and negotiating media contracts.

Savod recently coordinated the athletic department's multi-media negotiations for future radio and TV properties, game programs and other sponsorships.

He was one of the first fulltime sports marketing directors in the country and designed the "Carolina Fever" campaign in the late 1970s which helped sell out Kenan Stadium for 12 consecutive years. In 1981, the athletic department was named the state's "Marketing Organization of the Year" by the American Marketing Association.

He is a frequent speaker on sponsorship sales and blitz advertising at sports marketing seminars. Savod also edited "Basketball: Multiple Offense and Defense" by Coach Dean Smith.

Savod and his wife Judy have two children, Suzanne and Jason.

Assistant Athletic Directors

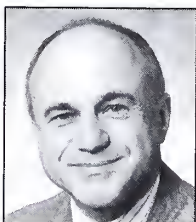

Martina Kendrick Ballen Assistant Athletic Director for Business and Finance

Martina Kendrick Ballen is in her seventh year as Director of Athletic Business and Finance at the University of North Carolina and her third as an assistant athletic director. She is responsible for developing and implementing basic operating procedures pertaining to appropriate financial controls for the department. She supervises the control of departmental budgets, the payment and receiving of all departmental funds and the business office staff. In addition, she must approve all departmental expenditures.

Ballen earned her Bachelor of Science degree in business administration at North Carolina in 1980 and her Master of Business Administration degree from the Babcock School of Management at Wake Forest University in 1984.

Ballen worked as a credit analyst at NCB National Bank of North Carolina in Raleigh in 1984 and then was a commercial branch manager at the Chapel Hill office of NCB from 1985-87.

The Southern Pines, N.C. native is married to Dwayne L. Ballen, a sportscaster for WTVD-TV, the ABC affiliate in Durham, N.C.

Rick Brewer Assistant Athletic Director for Sports Information and Public Relations

Rick Brewer is in his 26th year in the Carolina Sports Information Office and his 19th as its director.

Brewer is a native of North Carolina, growing up in Winston-Salem and Greensboro. He is a 1971 Carolina graduate with a degree in journalism. In July 1991, he was inducted into the College Sports Information Directors of America Hall of Fame. Brewer is a second vice-president of CoSIDA.

A student assistant in the sports information office for three years, Brewer was named the school's first assistant SID upon graduation. He held that position for four years and then was named sports information director in 1975. He was promoted to assistant athletic director for sports information and public relations in July 1990.

Brewer is directly in charge of publicity for Carolina's football and men's basketball teams. In addition, he oversees the publicizing of the University's entire 26-sport program.

In 1984, Brewer served as a press officer for the United States Olympic Committee at the Summer Olympic Games in Los Angeles. In that role, he served as a liaison between the media covering the Games and the American athletes and coaches. He has handled similar duties at two U.S. Olympic Festivals—at Indianapolis in 1982 and on the Carolina campus in 1987.

Brewer was appointed to the NCAA Communications Committee for a three-year term beginning this fall. For the past 10 years, he has been a member of the Media Coordination Committee which assists the media at the Final Four of the NCAA Men's Basketball Championships. He is a member of the Football Writers Association of America, the U.S. Basketball Writers Association, the Atlantic Coast Sports Writers Association and CoSIDA.

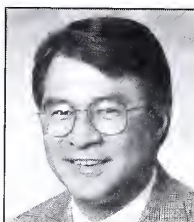

John Lotz Assistant Athletic Director for Campus and Community Relations

John Lotz is now in his 14th year as an assistant athletic director at the University of North Carolina. He presently serves in the role of Assistant Athletic Director for Campus and Community Relations. He was an assistant AD in charge of UNC's men's non-revenue sports from 1980-85.

In that role, he coordinates a speaker's bureau for the UNC Department of Athletics. Lotz, who speaks at banquets and basketball camps throughout the United States, has been called one of the nation's foremost motivational speakers.

Lotz received both his bachelor's and master's degree from East Texas State University. On the college level, Lotz began his career serving as the top assistant basketball coach at Carolina to Dean Smith for eight years.

In 1972, the Flushing, N.Y. native was named head basketball coach at the University of Florida. In 1973, he was named Southeastern Conference Coach of the Year in his rookie season with the Gators. In 1977, his Florida team went 17-9 and he was honored with the SEC Coach-of-the-Year award from UPI while his fellow coaches also voted him the prestigious Adolph Rupp Award given to the league's top coach. Lotz attended Baylor University before transferring to ETSU. Lotz and his wife, Vicki, have two daughters, Corrie and Laci.

Willie Scroggs Assistant Athletic Director for Operations

Willie Scroggs is beginning his 13th year as the Assistant Athletic Director for Operations at the University of North Carolina. Scroggs, who retired following the 1990 season after 12 years as Carolina's head lacrosse coach, oversees all game operations for football, men's basketball and the 24 non-revenue sports at Carolina as well as supervising all outdoor facilities.

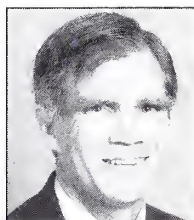

The Baltimore, Md. native came to Carolina in 1978 as head lacrosse coach after being an assistant football and assistant lacrosse coach at his alma mater, Johns Hopkins University, for six seasons.

Scroggs' 12 lacrosse teams compiled a record of 120-37, a winning percentage of .764. He led Tar Heel teams to their first NCAA and ACC championships in the sport, winning national crowns in 1981, 1982 and 1986 along with six ACC titles. The 1981 National Coach of the Year, Scroggs led his Tar Heels to 11 NCAA Tournament appearances and a 17-8 tourney record from 1980-90.

He is a 1965 alumnus of Baltimore's City College High School and a 1969 Johns Hopkins graduate. He played lacrosse on three Blue Jay national championship teams as a midfielder.

Scroggs is married to Karen Shelton, Carolina's head field hockey coach. They have a son, William Alexander, born in March 1990. Scroggs also has two daughters, Betsy, 18, a student at Johns Hopkins University, and Emily, 15, from a previous marriage.

Medical Staff

Dan Hooker
Head Football Athletic Trainer/
 Coordinator of Physical Therapy, Athletic Training

Dan Hooker is heading into his fifth season as head athletic trainer for the University of North Carolina football team. Hooker has been on the Carolina athletic training staff since 1972.

In addition to his work with the gridiron Tar Heels, Hooker also coordinates athletic training and physical therapy at Carolina. He has held that position since 1984.

A native of Danville, Va., Hooker initially came to Chapel Hill to direct the physical education department athletic training education program. He has served as head trainer for a number of Tar Heel teams, including football. He has worked with four lacrosse national championship teams.

Hooker earned his Bachelor of Science degree in physical therapy from the Medical College of Virginia in Richmond in 1967. He also received a Master of Science degree in secondary education from the University of Southern California in 1971 and Ph.D in education from Carolina in 1981. He became a Board Certified Sports Physical Therapist in 1987.

Dan and his wife, Sharon, have two sons, Sean and Stefan.

Team Physician

Dr. Bryan Smith is in his first full season as a team physician having joined the UNC staff this past spring. Smith, a 1979 graduate of the University of North Carolina with a B.A. in chemistry, received his medical degree from Duke University in 1988.

An Assistant Clinical Professor of Pediatrics at UNC, Smith was an assistant team physician at UCLA from 1991-93 while completing a sports medicine fellowship. He also was team physician for the United States Women's Select Basketball Team which won the gold medal at the R. William Jones Cup in Taiwan in 1992.

A native of New Bern, N.C., Smith was a North Carolina Merit and Carle C. Conway Scholar. He received his M.A. in exercise physiology from UNC in 1982 and earned a Doctor of Philosophy in that field from Michigan State in 1984.

He was a resident in UNC's Department of Pediatrics from 1988-91. Smith is a member of the American College of Sports Medicine, the American Medical Society for Sports Medicine, Sigma Xi Scientific Research Society, and is a Fellow in the American Academy of Pediatrics and the American College of Sports Medicine. He is married to Dr. Molly Froelich Smith, herself a 1979 UNC graduate who earned her medical degree at Carolina in 1988.

Dr. Timothy Taft
Director of Sports Medicine

Dr. Timothy Taft serves as the team orthopaedic surgeon and Director of Sports Medicine at the University of North Carolina. Taft has worked at Carolina for the past two decades.

Taft, 51 and a native of St. Louis, Mo., received his A.B. degree from Princeton University in 1964 and his M.D. from the University of Missouri in 1969. He completed his residency in orthopaedic surgery at Carolina in 1974.

Taft holds one of only two endowed professorships in sports medicine in the United States, the Max Novich Distinguished Professor of Sports Medicine chair. He is a member of the American Orthopaedic Society for Sports Medicine, the American Academy of Orthopaedic Surgeons, the Committee on the Medical Aspects of Sports for the North Carolina Medical Society and is an examiner for the American Board of Orthopaedic Surgery.

Taft served as team physician for the 1979 U.S. Pan American Games Team and the 1980 U.S. Olympic Team and as head physician for the 1981 U.S. World University Games Team. He has served as a team physician for U.S. basketball teams which have competed in the 1980 Olympics, 1981 World University Games, 1982 FIBA International Tournament, 1986 Men's World Championships and 1990 Women's World Championships.

Taft and his wife, Judy, have two children-Todd, 19, a member of the UNC band, and Becky, 14.

Team Physician

Dr. Gregory Tuttle begins his 12th year as team physician, providing comprehensive medical care to UNC's 26 varsity teams as well as the general student body. Dr. Tuttle serves as Adjunct Assistant Professor of Family Medicine in the North Carolina School of Medicine.

A Morehead Scholar, Tuttle was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa and was graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1974 with a B.A. in chemistry. He earned his medical degree at UNC in 1978. He is a Board Certified Family Physician and Fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians.

Following a Family Practice residency at the University of South Carolina in 1981, Tuttle served as Director of the Emergency Room in Stuart, Va. He has accumulated more than 9,500 hours in emergency medicine and has maintained his certification in Advance Cardiac Life Support and Advance Trauma Life Support. Tuttle assumed his current role at the UNC Student Health Service in October 1982, serving as president of the medical staff since 1984.

A native of Winston-Salem, N.C., Tuttle is married to Dianne Daniels Tuttle. The couple has four sons, Trevor Stuart, 9; Nathan Forrest, 7; Matthew Josiah, 4; and, Devon Micah, 2.

Sports Information

Dave Lohse
Associate Sports Information Director

Dave Lohse is in his 17th year as a member of the Carolina sports information staff. He was promoted to the position of Associate Sports Information Director in July 1990.

Lohse's major responsibilities include editing the men's basketball media guide and game programs, handling all publicity needs for the sports of lacrosse, men's and women's swimming and diving, men's tennis, men's soccer, and fencing, and assisting Rick Brewer with the publicizing of football and men's basketball. He has won more than 30 national and district editing and writing awards from CoSIDA (College Sports Information Directors of America).

Lohse was a press officer at the 1988 Summer Olympic Games in Seoul, South Korea, assisting the American diving and yachting teams. He has also worked three U.S. Olympic Festivals.

A 1977 graduate of Purdue University with a B.A. degree in political science, Lohse worked in the Boilermaker sports information office for three years as a student assistant. He was inducted into Phi Beta Kappa there.

Lohse, a Griffith, Ind. native, spent two years as a graduate assistant in the Carolina Sports Information Office before being named assistant SID in August 1979.

Steve Kirschner
Assistant Sports Information Director

Steve Kirschner is in his fourth year as the Assistant Sports Information Director at North Carolina.

Kirschner's major responsibilities include editing the football media guide and game programs and handling the publicity needs of the women's soccer, track and field, wrestling and golf teams. In addition, he assists Rick Brewer with the day-to-day publicizing of UNC's men's basketball and football teams.

A 1988 graduate of the University of Connecticut, Kirschner, 27, earned a Bachelor of Arts degree in sports studies. He worked in the UConn sports information office for four years as a student assistant before being a sports information intern at Carolina during the 1988-89 school year. Kirschner was the assistant sports information director for men's spring sports at the University of Florida in 1990-91.

A native of Bristol, Conn., Kirschner has won several publications awards from CoSIDA, including two best in the nation certificates. The 1992 football programs were judged third-best in the nation.

He helped host two NCAA men's basketball subregionals at UConn and was the media coordinator for four NCAA Women's Soccer Championships at UNC and the 1990 NCAA Men's Golf Championships at Florida. He also accompanied the baseball team to the 1989 College World Series as its media liaison and the Tar Heels' men's basketball team to the 1991 and 1993 Eastern Regionals and Final Four.

He was a member of the United States Olympic Committee's Media Staff for the 1993 World University Games in Buffalo, N.Y./Hamilton, Ontario in July 1993.

Kirschner served from 1977-88 as clubhouse and equipment manager for the Boston Red Sox AA franchise in New Britain, Conn.

Sheri West
Assistant Public Relations Director

Sheri West is in her fourth year as the Assistant Public Relations Director at North Carolina.

A 1988 Clemson University summa cum laude graduate with a B.S. in management, West, 27, handles all publicity needs for the sports of volleyball, field hockey, women's basketball, gymnastics, baseball, women's tennis and softball as well as assisting Brewer with the day-to-day publicizing of football and men's basketball.

West, a native of Columbus, Ga., worked as a student assistant in the IPTAY office at Clemson for a year and then was a student assistant and graduate assistant in the Tiger sports information office for two years. She also worked on a master's degree in recreation management at her alma mater. West went on to work at the Atlantic Coast Conference as a service bureau intern in 1989-90.

West's 1989-90 ACC women's basketball media guide was judged best in the nation by the College Sports Information Directors of America in the conference publications contest.

She served as a media liaison for UNC at the 1991 Final Four, the 1992-93 NCAA Women's Basketball Tournaments and the 1993 NCAA Baseball Central I Regional.

West is a member of CoSIDA and is a national member of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. She serves as an advisor to the UNC chapter of FCA.

Chris Schleter
Director of Athletic Photography and Data Processing

Chris Schleter heads into his 12th season as director of athletic photography and data processing. He moved into his present position in July 1982, but has been associated with the Carolina football team for 21 seasons.

A 1977 Carolina graduate, Schleter coordinates the use and assists in the management of computer projects in the athletic department. He also supervises the shooting and editing of football game and practice videotape.

A native of Garrett Park, Md. and thereby avid follower of the NHL's Washington Capitals, Schleter earned a Master's of Science degree in computer science in 1981 and has since been responsible for several areas of computerization in the department. He designs, develops and maintains computer programs and documentation for scouting, video record-keeping, academic progress of student-athletes and budget control for football and recruiting. He currently is working to upgrade the computer network for the entire athletic department. A member of 10 bowl squads and four-year letterman as manager in 1973-77, he also operates and maintains the color graphics boards at all athletic venues, including Kenan Stadium, the Smith Center, Boshamer Stadium and Belk Track/Fetzer Field.

Schlechter is constantly barraged for the use of his time and services, most especially by members of the sports information office who continually receive the benefits of his computer skills. In his limited free time, he enjoys flying, playing golf and tending to his cats. He also serves as host to an annual Super Bowl party featuring his world famous meatballs and marinated shrimp.

Educational Foundation

What is the Educational Foundation? The Educational Foundation is the oldest foundation on the UNC campus and holds a status comparable to the Business Foundation, the Medical Foundation and other fund-raising organizations working for the benefit of the university.

What is the purpose of the Educational Foundation? The Educational Foundation was established to offer financial aid to worthy student-athletes seeking an education at the University of North Carolina and to support the University's athletic program by providing services and funds for the construction of facilities or purchase of equipment.

How much support does the Educational Foundation actually provide? Since its founding in 1938, the Educational Foundation has provided scholarships, either partial or full, to over 6,000 student-athletes. Nearly 400 will be awarded scholarships during the 1993-94 school year at a cost of approximately $3 million.

Is the Educational Foundation similar to a booster club? Absolutely not. It is a foundation in every sense of the word. The Educational Foundation operates in compliance with all rules and regulations of the National Collegiate Athletic Association and the Atlantic Coast Conference. It is a tax-exempt entity as recognized by the Internal Revenue Service.

What are the different levels of giving to the Educational Foundation?

Little Ram ($50) - Contributions of any amount are welcome, however, individuals contributing $50 or more have the opportunity to purchase season football tickets, gain access to the Rams Room in Kenan Fieldhouse for home football games, purchase mini-season basketball ticket packages when available and participate in the ticket exchange, purchase group travel packages, receive football and basketball media guides, basketball team calendars upon request, the RamPage Newsletter, car window decals and invitations to annual Foundation functions which feature Carolina coaches as guest speakers.

Ram ($150) - In addition to that above, a Little Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase four season football tickets, the location of which is subject to the point system.

Rameses ($300) - In addition to the benefits received at the Little Ram level, a Rameses donor has the opportunity to purchase two season football tickets in a selected location; additional tickets may be purchased, the location of which is subject to the point system.

Big Ram ($600) - In addition to the benefits received at the Little Ram level, a Big Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase four season football tickets in a selected location and receive an assigned parking space.

Super Ram ($1,200) - In addition to the benefits received at the Little Ram level, a Super Ram donor has the opportunity to purchase up to eight season football tickets in a selected location and receive an assigned parking space.

Can a donor contribute in ways other than through the annual giving program? Yes. Carolina was one of the first schools in the nation to set up an endowment program for athletics. This program consists of $15,000 and $30,000 life memberships as well as $40,000 and $75,000 endowed scholarships which may be set up through various giving vehicles.

Does the Foundation have chapters at the local level? There are currently 40 local Educational Foundation chapters which meet once a year. Many of the coaches attend these gatherings, giving donors an early opportunity to hear about recruiting, prospects for the upcoming season and schedules.

Who provides the leadership for the Educational Foundation? The Foundation's outside officers include a Chairman, three Vice-Chairmen, a Secretary, Treasurer, Counsel and Past Chairman. These officers, together with the at-large members and an Investment Committee, comprise the Executive Committee. The Executive Committee is the decision-making body of the Educational Foundation and reports its actions to the Board of Directors.

The leadership within the Foundation office is provided by Moyer G. Smith. He is in his seventh year as president. He was appointed to the position in December 1986, replacing Ernie Williamson. There are also three vice presidents within the office: John D. Cherry, Executive Vice-President; Neal B. Harrell, V.P. for Donor Services; and Sue Walsh Stankavage, V.P. for Endowments. Effective August 1992, Ernie Williamson retired as V.P. for Endowment but continues to serve as a consultant to the Foundation.

Where are the Educational Foundation offices located? The offices are located in the Maurice J. Koury Natatorium adjacent to the Dean E. Smith Center.

How can one become a contributor to the Educational Foundation? By contacting the Educational Foundation at (919) 962-2393 or by writing P.O. Box 2446, Chapel Hill, N.C. 27515.

Academic Support System

At the University of North Carolina, athletes are still first and foremost students. While most universities make that claim, Carolina can prove it.

In October 1986, North Carolina opened its doors to its new Student-Athlete Development Center, located at the east end of Kenan Stadium, adjacent to Kenan Fieldhouse. The Center is a 10,000 square-foot state-of-the-art academic facility that sets the standard for other universities to follow.

"The Department of Athletics has always been committed to academics," says John Blanchard, director of athletic academic affairs. "But they felt they needed to make a tangible sign of their commitment by putting in a building that could really serve the students, and they went about doing it in a first-class manner. They erected the best building of its kind in the country."

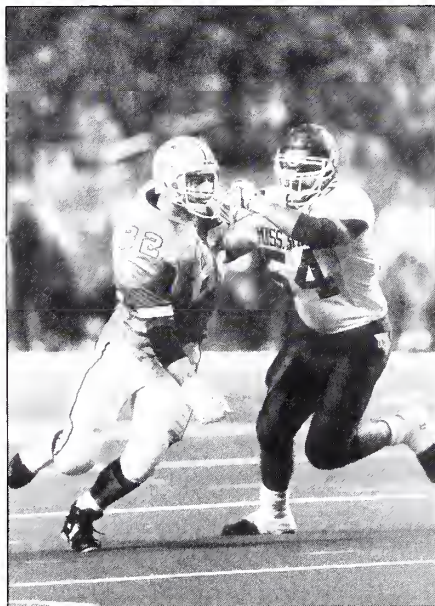

The academic center boasts an impressive array of facilities for the benefit of all Tar Heel athletes in the 26-sport program. Included in the building, convenient to dorms and classrooms alike, are 20 computers, several study rooms, a language lab with tape players, seven tutorial rooms, a large classroom which can be divided into two smaller ones and a 128-seat auditorium, used for seminars and lectures.

The center has added 10 new Macintosh computers and two laser printers as well as a variety of software packages which include word processing programs, spreadsheets and tutorials. The center has now has the latest and most up-to-date computer systems in place.

Also, Blanchard has assembled an enthusiastic and highly competent staff which includes Brian Davis, the primary academic advisor for the football team, Jan Boxill, Kathy Jarvis, Janice Hilliard and Bonnie Levit.

"The academic success of student-athletes is most directly attributed to the students themselves, but we have an outstanding staff, dedicated and professional and very caring individuals.

"When students struggle in college," says Blanchard, "95 percent of the time that struggle is in their freshman year, and that's due to all the adjustments they need to make. We have a program and staff that aids in those adjustments and minimizes the struggle.

Mike Morton (82) was the eighth-leading tackler on the team last year and made a crucial interception vs. Virginia. He also attends UNC on a prestigious Morehead Scholarship, the highest academic grant awarded to UNC students.

"It involves getting our students fully acquainted with the University and the resources available to them. They learn about what we have to offer, the University advisory system, the University processes and procedures — everything that's available to them academically."

To try and ensure that athletes will not run into early academic difficulty, Blanchard and his able staff teach the freshmen necessary study skills, such as note-taking and time management, and all freshman football players are required to attend study hall every night Sunday through Thursday at the Center. On those nights, tutors are available to assist the student-athletes in a variety of subjects. Also, a Freshman Academic Success seminar is held weekly in the fall and is required of all freshman athletes.

The Center is open from 8 a.m. to midnight during the week and from 6 p.m. to midnight on Sundays. During those hours, the facility is in almost constant use.

"Our students make great use of it," says Blanchard. "They use it for a variety of purposes and they use it throughout the day." Blanchard estimates that in any given week, that at least half of the University's 650 athletes use the Center.

The statistics bear out the fact that the Center has made an impact. In six of the last seven years, the Tar Heels have received honorable mention recognition from the College Football Association for graduating at least 70 percent of its football players. The CFA uses a five-year period from matriculation to graduation to base its awards.

In the last five years, Carolina has placed 24 players on the Atlantic Coast Conference All-Academic Team, the second-highest total in the ACC. The Carolina football team has doubled the number of players named to the ACC Academic Honor Roll in the last seven years.

In 1991 Randy Jordan earned an award for academic and athletic excellence from the National Association for Academic Advisors for Athletes. Last year Corey Holliday was named to the Hitachi/CFA Scholar-Athlete Team. Holliday, a business major, was the only player from the ACC to be named to the team which also included Heisman Trophy winner Gino Torretta of Miami.

Blanchard emphasizes that the Student-Athlete Development Center is only "one concrete way in which things have become better. The Department of Athletics also initiated moving the academic support program out of the Department of Athletics administratively, and into the College of Arts and Sciences. That has put us under the supervision of the University, which has been a very positive move."

Under Mack Brown, the football program has renewed its resolve to provide the best education possible for its students.

"The football program is in a position now where we are really doing things to maximize the academic opportunities here," says Blanchard.

"Coach Brown has been very supportive and creative in developing academic standards for the team, and pressing the players to reach those standards. That's been very helpful to us as a program."

Strength and Conditioning

The University of North Carolina strength and conditioning program has a new director this year and the Tar Heels' weight room has a new look as well.

Jeff "Maddog" Madden joined the Tar Heels at the start of the January semester and brought with him an enthusiastic, spirited style. Madden, an assistant athletic director, and first-year UNC assistant strength coach George Smith, have made some structural and philosophical changes in the Tar Heels' strength and conditioning regimen which should bolster the advancements made the last five-plus years.

Madden was a key element in the University of Colorado's rise to national prominence in the late 1980s. A former offensive lineman at Vanderbilt and a member of the USFL's Memphis Showboats in 1984, Madden joined the Buffaloes in 1989 and was on hand as Colorado won three consecutive Big Eight titles and was co-national champion in 1990.

Madden is not your average strength coach. He also teaches plyometrics, flexibility, mental toughness, nutrition, stretching, Proprioceptive Neuro-Muscular Facilitation (PNF), rehabilitation techniques and motivation. He is certified by International Sports Science Associations, the National Association of Speed and Explosion, and Peak phies," says Madden. "Now we are concentrating on flexibility, we concentrate on explosion. We mimic the exercises that they perform on the football field.

"The difference is more between power and explosion then between power and strength. You can be a 400-pound bench press guy and not be able to run. Then you don't have explosion. Speed and strength equals explosion. What we try and do is cross-formulate the two."

Going along with changes in philosophy go adaptations and adjustments in the physical elements of the weight room itself.

"We have made tremendous physical changes around here," says Madden. "This was basically a Nautilus-oriented gym and what we did was move the majority of those Nautilus machines out and turn us into a free weight team. Now we are using explosive lifts like power cleans and snatches."

Madden does prefer the free weight system to the Nautilus approach and says the extra benefits the free weights allow can be may go right or he may come right at you, you never know. Free weights help you overcome weaknesses.

That's why we use explosive movements with our free weights and dumbbells."

Madden has identified the football specific movements and applied his training techniques to them.

"Football is short, quick and powerful. If we were training long distance runners we would use more endurance exercises. But since we are training football players we have more quick and explosive exercises. We do use endurance as a foundation, though.

"Flexibility plays a big part because the more you can stretch a muscle then the more it can grow. If you have greater flexibility then you can improve your running technique and when you do that you can increase your speed and quickness and strength. Then you can have a pretty good football player."

Carolina's players appear to have responded to the changes in the system. Coming off the excitement of the 1992 season capped by the win in the Peach Bowl, Madden says that this group of players may be the most self-motivated, hardest-working he has ever been around.

"He makes things fun," tight end Greg DeLong said this past spring. "I've always had problems with flexibility and have wanted to improve it. With the different things we are doing, like explosion-type exercises and using free weights, I'm getting much better."

Madden's football playing background is obviously a positive influence, as well.

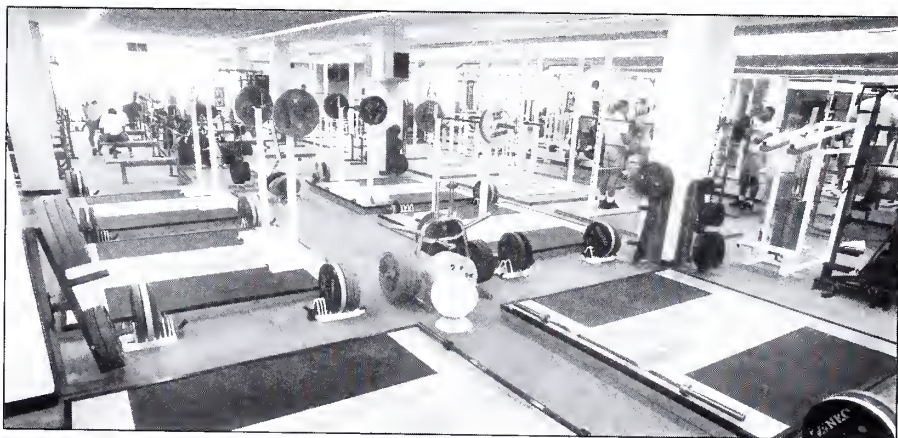

"Knowing exactly what it was like to be in the trenches and understanding what the game is all about has helped me tremendously," says Madden. "It's vital to know how each of the positions has to move. The key for us is to get our linemen running like linebackers, our linebackers running like defensive backs and our wide receivers and backs running like Carl Lewis."

"I can see in a drill whether a guy is getting beat by a strong move or a quick move. I can watch and tell if a player is getting beat on a particular side and then help him work to correct that deficiency."

"The bottom line is all I ask is that they go as hard and as diligently as they can every time they're in here."

Explosion is a key component to the Tar Heels' new regimen. Speed and explosion go hand in hand and Madden's football background serves him well in his training methods.

The Tar Heels have deemphasized a power style of training and instead have installed a program which centers around speed, explosive power and flexibility.

"A Nautilus machine takes you through the same range of motion every time," Madden says. "When lifting a free weight you can go out of that range of motion. It is undetermined which way it is going to go. In a bench press or military press your left arm may not be as strong as your right therefore you have to overcompensate or work on that arm. Free weights allow that."

The University of North Carolina

On Oct. 12, 1793, the dream of Revolutionary War hero William R. Davie became real when the cornerstone of Old East, Carolina's first building, was laid. He believed higher education was essential to citizens of a democracy. Through Davie's foresight, Chapel Hill became the birthplace of public higher education in the United States.

Two centuries later, distinguished public higher education continues to flourish at Carolina. Now part of the 16-campus University of North Carolina, the Chapel Hill campus has earned a worldwide reputation for vital teaching, cutting-edge research, and distinguished public service. Among the nation's most comprehensive institutions, Carolina belongs to the select group of 58 research campuses forming the Association of American Universities.

Fourteen colleges and schools teach in more than 100 fields, offering 66 bachelor's, 86 master's and 62 doctoral degrees, as well as professional degrees in dentistry, medicine, pharmacy, and law. Five health affairs schools, representing one of the most complete U.S. academic health centers, are well-integrated with an acclaimed liberal arts program.

Academic programs are highly ranked by national media. In 1993, for example, U.S. News and World Report's list of top professional programs included dentistry (second), pharmacy (10th), nursing (11th), medicine (17th), business (19th), and law (top quartile). The public health school's policy administration program ranked third, and medical school programs in rural medicine, community care, and preventive medicine were third or fourth.

Leading publications list UNC among the nation's top high-quality, low-cost universities. A 1992 Money magazine poll picked Carolina as the nation's ninth-best overall educational bargain and America's top value among public universities. U.S. News and World Report said UNC was America's "best buy" among national universities in 1991. Richard Moll, author of The Public Ivies:

A Guide to America's Best Colleges and Universities, included UNC among eight public institutions equivalent to a traditional Ivy League school. Moll's 1986 book judged Chapel Hill "the perfect college town." A Sports Illustrated editor also called Chapel Hill "the purest example we could find of a college town that is defined by a university — and a good university."

UNC trains students from all walks of life.

Many of the state's leaders, including nearly half its governors, have passed through Carolina classrooms. Others include U.S. President James K. Polk; actor Andy Griffith; authors Thomas Wolfe, Shelby Foote and Gail Godwin; athlete Michael Jordan; band leader Kay Kyser; composer Richard Adler; civil rights leader Julius Chambers; fashion designer Alexander Julian; journalists Charles Kuralt, Jeff MacNelly, Roger Mudd, Deborah Potter, Tom Wicker, Jonathan Yardley, and Ed Yoder; the late Sen. Sam Ervin Jr.; and pollster Lou Harris. More than half of Carolina's 194,000-plus living alumni reside in North Carolina, while others live in all 50 states and 125 foreign countries.

Each fall, the spectacular 690-acre Chapel Hill campus attracts more than 23,000 students from all 100 Tar Heel counties, the 49 other states, and 80 foreign countries. In 1991-92, 5,949 students earned degrees. UNC graduates up to 25 percent more students in four years than Association of American Universities schools participating in a recent data exchange. Carolina graduation rates are the highest in the UNC system.

Students win major awards for their academic performances. In 1992, Ganesh M. Gunasekaran was the ninth UNC student chosen as a Rhodes Scholar since 1980. Carolina has produced 32 Rhodes winners, including the first black woman, since 1902. In 1993, Carolina tied Harvard and Stanford for tops in the nation with two Truman Scholarship winners. For the second year in a row, a UNC student was named a Churchill Scholar, an honor that sends 10 science, engineering, and math students to Cambridge University.

Students with a 2,100-member faculty that has received international and national praise. UNC faculty hold or have held major positions in every national scholarly or professional association. Carolina's faculty was ranked the foremost in the Southeast and among the best 20 at research universities in the most recent comprehensive study by the National Academy of Sciences.

UNC boasts nine members of the National Academy of Sciences, 15 in the academy's Institute of Medicine, and 22 in the American Academy of Arts and Sciences. President Clinton's administration tapped Drs. Kenneth

E. Thorpe, associate professor of health policy and administration, and Michael Stegman, chairman of the public policy analysis curriculum, to take leadership roles in national health-care reform and urban policy.

UNC is internationally recognized for cutting-edge research, some of which is conducted in 36 interdisciplinary centers and institutes. In 1991-92, Carolina received more than $211 million for research, training and public service projects. UNC ranked first in North Carolina and 13th nationally during 1992 in funding awarded by the National Institutes of Health. One standout is hemophilia specialist Dr. Kenneth Brinkhous, the first U.S. investigator to receive continuous NIH funding for 50 years.

Chapel Hill is a pioneer in virtual worlds research, which uses sophisticated computer technology to create realistic but imaginary worlds. Applications may help doctors fight cancer and biochemists design new drugs. Using gene targeting techniques, researchers at the Cystic Fibrosis Center in 1992 created the first animal model for the nation's leading potentially fatal genetic illness.

At the Institute for Marine Sciences in Morehead City, UNC scientists work to better manage coastal barriers and agriculture to restore bay scallops in Bogue Sound. In Mecklenburg County, social work faculty are evaluating a national drop-out prevention program. A new Center for the Study of the American South is offering insight into the people and culture of this unique region.

North Carolinians benefit daily from UNC's commitment to public service. Carolina devotes a larger proportion of its budget in direct service to the state (19 percent) than any other major U.S. research university. Results are visible in classrooms, courthouses and town halls, and doctors' offices across the state.

In 1991-92, for example, faculty from 70 departments provided services to more than 42,000 students and 14,000 teachers and administrators in Tar Heel public schools. The Principals' Executive Program, the nation's longest running in-residence management program for school principals, has trained more than 1,200 N.C. public school administrators, including 89 superintendents, since 1984.

The Institute of Government, the nation's largest and most diversified university-based government training and research organization, sent faculty to nearly 100 N.C. municipalities on 730 occasions during a recent year to offer training and consultation. In 1992, Moody's Municipal Issues magazine said the institute contributed significantly to the state's good credit rating.

The N.C. Area Health Education Centers Program trained more than 25,000 health professionals in 1992, serving as a statewide classroom for health students and residents. In 1991, AHEC conducted more than 3,700 consultation clinics by faculty in 75 locations, primarily for patients in under-served rural and urban areas.

The School of Medicine, the state's largest single source of new physicians, is helping meet the need for primary-care providers by sending 51 percent of its 1993 graduates to residencies in family, internal and pediatric medicine, and similar fields. Students in the schools of pharmacy, dentistry, and nursing serve Tar Heels through rotation programs from Manteo to Murphy.

Carolina makes major contributions to the state's economy. A study found that for every state dollar invested in the university, it returned $3 to Tar Heel coffers. In fiscal 1991, UNC returned at least $766 million in new sales in the private sector, compared to the $257 million it received from the state. Carolina generated $236 million in earnings for N.C. workers and created more than 12,600 jobs — in addition to its $347 million payroll and 9,536 employees.

UNC TRIVIA

- The University of North Carolina will begin commemorating its 200th anniversary as the nation's first state university on Oct. 12, 1993. An eight-month Bicentennial Observance will run through May 8, 1994.
- Founders laid the cornerstone for the country's first state university building, Old East, on Oct. 12, 1793, at Carolina.
- UNC was chartered Dec. 11, 1789, enrolled its first student Feb. 12, 1795, and produced its first graduates in July 1798. Carolina was the only U.S. public university to award degrees in the 18th century.
- Sports Illustrated called Chapel Hill "the nation's best college town" in 1992.
- UNC's faculty was ranked tops in the Southeast and among the best 20 at U.S. research universities in the most recent comprehensive evaluation published by the National Academy of Sciences in 1982.
- Carolina has awarded more endowed professorships to black faculty members than any U.S. university.
- UNC invests a larger proportion of its budget in public service to North Carolina — 19 percent — than any other research university does to its home state in the country. Wisconsin places second at 10 percent.
- Using gene targeting techniques, UNC researchers in 1992 created the first animal model for cystic fibrosis, the nation's leading potentially fatal genetic illness.
- Pioneer Dr. Kenneth M. Brinkhous recently became the first U.S. investigator to receive continuous research funding from the National Institutes of Health for 50 years. Carolina's Alumni Distinguished professor emeritus of pathology has made several major breakthroughs in understanding and treating hemophilia.
- Carolina's more than 194,000 living alumni reside in all 50 states and 125 foreign countries. More than half live in North Carolina.
- Thirty-two Rhodes Scholars have passed through the halls of Carolina before claiming the prestigious graduate scholarship to Oxford. UNC boasts more Rhodes in the past 25 years than any state university. Karen Stephenson, a 1979 UNC graduate, was the first black woman in the United States to win a Rhodes.
- UNC graduates up to 25 percent more students in four years than members of the prestigious Association of American Universities (AAU) participating in a recent data exchange.
- UNC's more than 23,000 students come from all N.C. counties, 50 states and 75 foreign countries. Some 64 percent are enrolled in undergraduate programs, 29 percent in graduate programs and 7 percent in professional programs.
- From 1960 to 1975, all U.S. astronauts studied celestial navigation at the Morehead Planetarium. It's 35-foot diameter, walk-in Copernicon Orrery in the Morehead Building is one of only two in the world.
- The Ackland Art Museum, with some 12,000 works of art, has more than 37,000 visitors each year enjoying its traveling and permanent exhibitions. Works are by artists Rubens, Delacroix, Courbet, Rodin, Degas, Arp, other world masters and N.C. folk artists.
- UNC's 4 million-volume library is ranked among the top research libraries in the nation. Its North Carolina Collection consists of more than 250,000 books, pamphlets, maps, manuscripts and photographs that document the state and its people. The library also is known for its Southern Historical Collection includes manuscripts, letters, papers, recordings of oral history and folklore, and extensive collections covering Southern women at work, the Civil War and civil rights leaders.
- Carolina scientists made the first systematic astronomical observations in the nation (1827 to 1831) and built the first observatory at a state university in North America in 1932.
- Carolina established the first summer school at a U.S. college or university in 1877.
- In 1883, Carolina awarded the first doctoral degree in the South.
- The university features two "garden classrooms": the Coker Arboretum and the 594-acre N.C. Botanical Garden. In addition, the UNC Herbarium, begun in 1903, contains more than 600,000 specimens of ferns, mosses, flowering plants, lichens, algae and other plants.

UNC's 200th Anniversary: Saluting Yesterday, Shaping Tomorrow

The nation's first state university. The birth of public higher education in the United States. Two hundred years of service to the people of North Carolina.

These memorable themes are at the heart of the Bicentennial Observance of the University of North Carolina.

Beginning on University Day (October 12) and continuing throughout the 1993-94 academic year, UNC will commemorate its 200th anniversary. That fact alone is momentous. Of even greater historical significance, however, is the fact that the birth of UNC is equivalent to the birth of public higher education in the United States. And that idea - radical in 1793, fundamental in 1993 - is a powerful one indeed.

Today, as we enter the third century of public higher education and look toward the year 2000, the University of North Carolina still embodies this spirit of leadership and discovery. Carolina stands as a world leader in many cultural, scientific, intellectual and humane endeavors.

Throughout two centuries, Carolina has made an indelible impact on the state. UNC's storied past of teaching, research and public service makes the Bicentennial Observance one of the most important events in the state's history.

During the Bicentennial, North Carolinians - and indeed all Americans - salute the achievements of public higher education, as we prepare our university, our state and our nation for the challenges of the next century.

The Schedule

The Bicentennial Observance begins on Oct. 12, 1993, and runs through Commencement, on May 15, 1994. The eight-month Observance will feature approximately 100 academic, cultural and historical events on campus and throughout the state of North Carolina. Programs designed to underscore the mission of the Bicentennial are being planned in every county.

The Mission

The purpose of the Observance is three-fold, representing the past, present and future: (1) To re-affirm the University's historical commitment to free inquiry in the pursuit of knowledge; (2) To strengthen the bonds between the people of North Carolina and their university; and (3) To lay the cornerstone for UNC's third century of service to the state, nation and world.

The Highlights

The Observance is highlighted by three major events: Opening Ceremonies, "Carolina Saturday" and Commencement.

Opening ceremonies are October 11-

12 in Chapel Hill, where two full days of activities are planned. The Ceremonies will culminate with a spectacular convocation in Kenan Stadium, where a major national address on higher education will be delivered.

On April 9, 1994, the university will host "Carolina Saturday", a Bicentennial open house for the citizens of North Carolina. A crowd of about 60,000 is expected, which would make it the largest event ever hosted by UNC. It promises to be a fascinating day. All of Carolina's academic departments, classrooms, laboratories, libraries, performance halls and sports facilities will be open. Visitors will get a behind-the-scenes look at the campus, while meeting the students, faculty and staff who make it work.

The Observance will conclude on May 15, 1994, at the Bicentennial Commencement, where a keynote address of international significance and a musical salute are scheduled.

OPENING CEREMONY HIGHLIGHTS

MONDAY, OCTOBER 11

2 p.m. - Opening lecture: Li Lu, deputy leader of the 1989 Tiananmen Square demonstrations

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 12

10 a.m. - Rededication of Old East, the nation's first public university building

Noon - Picnic in Palk Place

2 p.m. - Davie Paplar III Ceremony. Dean Smith will present a child from each of the state's 100 counties with a small tree grown from a seed of the original Davie Paplar. The sapling will be planted near a public building in the child's home county.

7 p.m. - Kenan Stadium Convocation. Higher education dignitaries from around the country will join an expected crowd of 50,000 for a spectacular evening of music and pageantry. A major national address on higher education will be delivered.

1992 Season Review

Review Notebook

- Carolina posted a 9-3 overall record including a 21-17 win over Mississippi State on January 2 in the Peach Bowl in Atlanta, Ga.

- The nine wins were the most for Carolina in one season since the 1981 team went 10-2 and won the Gator Bowl. The Tar Heels have now strung three straight winning seasons together, the most since five straight winning years from 1979-83. Carolina is the only program in the ACC to have improved its record in each of the last three seasons.

- Carolina finished the season ranked 18th in the nation in the USA Today/CNN poll and 19th in the Associated Press poll.

- The trip to the Peach Bowl was the Tar Heels' first postseason game since the 1986 team was invited to play in the Aloha Bowl against Arizona.

- The come-from-behind win over Mississippi State was Carolina's first win in a bowl game since the Tar Heels defeated Texas in the 1982 Sun Bowl.

- Seven Tar Heels were named to the All-Atlantic Coast Conference first or second teams. Tailback Natrone Means was a repeat selection to the first team and was joined on that squad by center Randall Parsons and punter Mike Thomas.

Strong safety Bracey Walker, offensive tackle Curtis Parker, free safety Rondell Jones and linebacker Tommy Thigpen each were named second-team All-ACC.

This was the third consecutive season in which seven Tar Heel players were named to the league's all-star teams and the second straight year in which three Tar Heels received first-team recognition.

- Outside linebacker Jonathan Perry, cornerback Lawrence Winslow and offensive tackle Ethan Albright each were named to the All-Academic Atlantic Coast Conference Team.

- Split end Corey Holliday was named to the CFA/Hitachi Scholar-Athlete Team. Holliday was the only player from the Atlantic Coast Conference to be selected to the squad. Miami's Heisman Trophy winning quarterback Gino Torretta was also named to the team.

- Junior tailback Natrone Means carried 21 times for 128 yards and a touchdown and was named the Offensive Most Valuable Player of the 1993 Peach Bowl. Junior strong safety Bracey Walker blocked a pair of punts, returned one of them for the game-tying touchdown and forced a game-winning interception to garner the bowl's Defensive MVP award.

- Center Randall Parsons was named third-team All-America by the Associated Press. Tailback Natrone Means earned third-team All-America honors as given by Football News and punter Mike Thomas was named first-team Freshman All-America by the same publication.

- Linebacker Tommy Thigpen and center Randall Parsons each represented the Tar Heels in a pair of postseason all-star games. Thigpen played in the East-West Shrine Bowl in Palo Alto, Calif. and the Senior Bowl in Mobile, Ala. Parsons participated in the Japan Bowl in Tokyo and also played in the Senior Bowl. Cornerback Thomas Smith and free safety Rondell Jones were also selected to postseason contests but were not able to play due to injuries they suffered in the Peach Bowl triumph.

- Natrone Means was the leading vote-getter on the All-Atlantic Coast Conference Team. Means received 199 of a possible 206 points in balloting by the Atlantic Coast Sportswriters Association. Punter Mike Thomas was fourth in voting with 181 points. Means also was third in the voting for ACC Player of the Year behind Florida State quarterback Charlie Ward and linebacker Marvin Jones.

- North Carolina's 27-7 win over 16th-ranked Virginia was the Tar Heels' first win over a nationally ranked opponent since a 1982 win over Texas in the Sun Bowl.

- One week after defeating Virginia, Carolina disposed of 19th-rated Georgia Tech, 26-14. That marked the first time in school history that UNC had defeated nationally-ranked teams in consecutive games.

- The dramatic victory over Georgia Tech was televised regionally by ABC, marking the first time since the 1986 Aloha Bowl that the Tar Heels had been featured on network television. Carolina's win over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl was also an ESPN national TV appearance.

- Natrone Means rushed for 1,195 yards, the seventh-highest total in UNC single-season history. Means concluded his three-year career with 3,074 yards, and is tied with Ethan Horton for fifth place all-time at UNC and 13th in ACC history.

- Natrone Means averaged 108.6 yards per game and was 15th in the nation in rushing. Means netted 96.3 yards per game in somewhat limited action in non-conference duty and 113.2 yards per outing in the eight ACC contests.

- Natrone Means rushed for 13 touchdowns, the most by a Tar Heel since Kelvin Bryant scored 18 in 1981. Means led the ACC in touchdowns and his 80 points were second in the ACC behind Clemson kicker Nelson Welch. Means finished his career with 214 points, the fourth-highest total in UNC history. Only Mike Voight, Charlie Justice and Kelvin Bryant scored more points than Means.

- Natrone Means joined Charlie Justice and Amos Lawrence as the only players to lead the Tar Heels in rushing for three consecutive seasons.

- Natrone Means topped the 1,000-yard plateau for the second consecutive season. North Carolina has now had backs rush for 1,000 yards an NCAA-record 21 times. A Carolina player has rushed for 1,000 yards or more in three of Mack Brown's five years as head coach. Southern California is second with 19 1,000-yard seasons.

- On two occasions in 1992, Natrone Means rushed for 200 or more yards. Means rushed for 249 yards at Maryland, the seventh-highest total in school history and the ninth-highest in ACC history. Means had a career-best 256 yards vs. Duke in 1990 and is the only player to have two games among the top 10 best rushing days in ACC history. The Harrisburg, N.C. native also rushed for 216 yards in the 27-7 win over Virginia. Former Tar Heels Mike Voight and Amos Lawrence join Means as the only ACC players to ever have rushed for 200 yards or more in three different games.

- Natrone Means finished his career by rushing for 100 yards or more in 14 games, including seven times last year. The Tar Heels won all 14 games in which Means topped the century mark over the last three years.

- Split end Corey Holliday set a UNC record this year as he caught a pass in each of the 11 regular season games to extend his streak to a school-best 33 straight contests with at least one reception. He entered the season tied with Earl Winfield at 22 straight games. The NCAA record is 44 games set by Ohio State's Gary Williams from 1979-82.

- Corey Holliday moved into third place on the Tar Heels' all-time pass receptions list. The Richmond, Va. native has made 105 catches, two behind Earl Winfield and one behind College Football Hall of Fame inductee Art Weiner.

- Corey Holliday became just the second Tar Heel to lead the team in pass receptions for three consecutive seasons. Jimmy Jerome was Carolina's top receiver from 1972-74. Holliday made 28 catches in 1990, 40 in 1991 and 37 in 1992.

- Corey Holliday set a personal best with nine catches for 152 yards in the 28-14 over Navy. Holliday's receiving yardage total in that game is the fourth-highest in school history for one game.

- Senior flanker Randall Felton finished his career in 10th place on the Tar Heels' all-time pass receptions list with 80 catches. Felton also had a 65-yard punt return for a touchdown against Duke, the first time in 79 games in the series history a player has returned a punt for a touchdown. Felton, who also returned a punt for a score in 1990 vs. Miami of Ohio, became the first Tar Heel to score twice in his career on punt returns since Charlie Justice had four in the late 1940s.

- Freshman quarterback Mike Thomas established several school records in the 31-28 win at Duke in the regular season finale. Thomas came off the bench to complete 11 of 18 passes for 299 yards and two touchdowns. He engineered the game-winning drive as he led the Tar Heels 80 yards in 1:35.

Thomas set records for most yards per completion (27.2), most yards per attempt (16.6), most total yards per play (10.97), most yards passing by a freshman (299) and most yards total offense by a freshman (318). Thomas also passed Matt Kupec for the most yards passing in a season by a UNC freshman. Thomas completed the year with 831 yards, 80 more than Kupec's Bernardo Harris emerged last year as one of the top defensive players in the conference. Harris made 90 tackles, the most by a UNC outside linebacker since Lawrence Taylor made 95 in 1979.

- Sophomore quarterback Jason Stanicek rushed for 104 yards vs. Furman. It marked the first time a UNC quarterback rushed for 100 yards in a game since Chuck Sharpe rushed for 100 vs. Virginia in 1978. It was the most yards by a UNC quarterback since 1969.

- Jason Stanicek became the first Tar Heel to have back-to-back 200-yard passing days since Mark Maye in 1987. Stanicek had a career-high 237 yards vs. N.C. State and 219 yards vs. Navy. He completed 26 of 35 passes vs. the Wolfpack, the second-highest number of completions in UNC single-game history.

Also in the N.C. State game, Stanicek had a stretch of 14 completions in a row. That tied Kevin Anthony's school record, which was set against Wake Forest in 1985.

- Mike Thomas had the highest punting average in the nation for a freshman. Thomas averaged 43.1 yards per kick, led the ACC and was 14th in the nation. He forced the opponents to begin 23 drives inside their own 20-yard line and a 24th was fumbled at the 15. Thomas had 13 punts of 50 yards or more and three of 60-plus yards.

- Junior flanker Bucky Brooks had one of the greatest days a UNC receiver has ever had in the 31-28 win at Duke. Not only did Brooks score the game-winning touchdown on a 20-yard crossing pattern with 2:06 to play, but he also caught a 29-yard touchdown pass in the third quarter.

Brooks made five receptions for 185 yards, the second-highest yardage figure in UNC history, and added a 68-yard run off a reverse for 253 all-purpose yards. His five catches were for 47, 29, 43, 46 and 20 yards.

Brooks caught a 27-yard scoring pass against Georgia Tech on the Tar Heels' first play from scrimmage and made a 53-yard reception to help start Carolina's comeback in the Peach Bowl.

- Strong safety Bracey Walker blocked three punts last year and returned two for touchdowns. He scored on a 40-yard return of a block against Furman and then blocked two kicks in less than five minutes in the Peach Bowl. He returned the latter 41 yards for a game-tying touchdown.

back of the week on more than one occasion. He earned the accolades following wins over Georgia Tech and Maryland.

- Senior free safety Rondell Jones became the first member of the secondary to lead Carolina in tackles since 1986. Jones made 110 tackles, including 63 primary stops, the most by a UNC defensive back since official defensive stats were first recorded in 1978.

- Senior fullback Mike Faulkerson rushed for three touchdowns vs. Wake Forest. He became the first UNC fullback to score three times in one game since Roy Abernethy did it against Georgetown in 1907.

- Freshman tailback Curtis Johnson rushed for a 76-yard touchdown against Clemson. That matched Natrone Means' 76-yard effort vs. Duke in 1990 as the longest scoring run by a Tar Heel freshman.

- Carolina averaged 14.03 yards per pass reception. That's the highest by a Tar Heel team since the 1974 squad had a 14.48 yards-per-catch average.

- Three different Tar Heel players gained more than 1,000 yards of total offense, the first time UNC had three players reach 1,000 yards since 1983. Jason Stanicek was the team leader with 1,203 yards, Natrone Means had 1,195 and Mike Thomas had 1,002.

- The Tar Heels committed just 19 turnovers, matching the 1990 team for the fewest turnovers in a single season by a Carolina squad. The 1992 Tar Heels threw 11 interceptions and lost eight fumbles.

1992 Game Summaries

September 5, 1992 • Groves Stadium • Winston-Salem, N.C.

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C.—Mike Faulkerson became the first Carolina fullback to rush for three touchdowns in a game in 87 years and tailback Natrone Means rushed for 112 yards and a score to lead the Tar Heels to a 35-17 win over Wake Forest.

Faulkerson scored a pair of one-yard runs in the first half and added a two-yard plunge in the third quarter. He joined Ray Abernethy (1905 vs. Georgetown) as the only Tar Heel fullbacks to rush for three TDs in a game.

Means, who had rushed for 134 and 167 yards vs. Wake Forest his first two years, also caught three passes for 36 yards.

The Tar Heels totaled 524 yards in offense including 283 on the ground and another 241 in the air. Wake Forest was held to just 80 yards rushing and 261 overall.

UNC quarterbacks Jason Stanicek and Mike Thomas combined to complete 17 of 24 passes. Stanicek was 12 of 18 for 161 yards and Thomas completed five of six for 80. Thomas also had a 29-yard touchdown run in the fourth quarter.

Their favorite target was again Corey Holliday, who caught seven passes for 98 yards. Carolina opened with a 37-yard pass to Holliday. Means' 22-yard run set up a three-yard score by Faulkerson.

Carolina upped the lead to 21-3 just before the half on Thomas' first series at quarterback. Two big third-down passes — for 17 yards to Holliday and 35 to Bucky Brooks — advanced the ball to the Deacs' five. Means went in from the two a play later.

Wake Forest startled the Tar Heels with a quick score after halftime to narrow the lead to 21-10. Stanicek's pass on the third play of the second half was intercepted by defensive end Maurice Miller who returned 35 yards for a score.

Stanicek answered on the next possession as he led UNC on a 16-play, 80-yard march which ended in Faulkerson's two-yard TD run. Stanicek converted two third downs with passes to Means and Steven Carolina's season got off to a fast start in 1992 as Corey Holliday took this screen pass for 37 yards on the first play from scrimmage. The Tar Heels went on to defeat Wake Forest 35-17.

Jerry and UNC also cashed in a pair of fourth down tries, including the touchdown run.

Thomas scored on a 29-yard option keeper around left end just 1:07 into the final quarter. It was the final scoring of the afternoon.

Cornerback Sean Crocker made five tackles, forced a fumble, had an interception and broke up three passes.

NORTH CAROLINA 28 FURMAN 0

September 12, 1992 • Kenan Stadium • Chapel Hill, N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C.—Sophomore Jason Stanicek rushed for 104 yards and the Tar Heel defense allowed just 214 total yards as UNC shut out Furman, 28-0, in the 1992 home opener.

Stanicek rushed just seven times but averaged more than 17 yards a carry and engineered two touchdown drives. Tailback Natrone Means rushed for two touchdowns in the second half and finished with 75 yards on 21 attempts.

UNC place-kicker Tripp Pignetti provided all the scoring of the opening half on a pair of field goals, from 26 and 33 yards.

Carolina turned the ball over on its initial pair of possessions in the third quarter and still led by just 6-0 with 7:20 left in the period. Stanicek then broke an option carry around the left side for 55 yards to the Furman five-yard line. Two plays later, Means danced into the end zone for a touchdown and a 12-0 lead. Means also rushed for the two-point conversion for a 14-0 advantage.

The Tar Heels forced a punt which Marcus Jones partially blocked and the ball rolled dead at the Paladin 30.

Stanicek hooked up with Bucky Brooks for seven yards, hit Corey Holliday for eight and then carried 13 yards to the Furman one. Means somersaulted into the end zone for the TD with 3:56 left in the third quarter.

Four plays later it was 28-0 as Bracey Walker blocked another Furman punt, picked up the bouncing ball near the sideline and scored untouched from 28 yards out.

Stanicek became the first Tar Heel quarterback to rush for 100-plus yards since Chuck Sharpe gained 100 against Virginia in 1978. He had the most yards by a UNC quarterback since 1969 when Ricky Lanier had 174 vs. VMI.

Besides Stanicek, the big story was, for the second straight game, the Carolina defense. Furman amassed just 12 first downs and 102 yards rushing. The Paladins drove as far as the UNC 25-yard line only one time and ran just one play from there, a fourth down try which was thwarted by cornerback Thomas Smith.

Rick Steinbacher made 11 tackles for UNC and Smith and Jonathan Perry made

September 19, 1992 • Kenan Stadium • Chapel Hill, N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C.—Natrone Means rushed for 102 yards and three touchdowns and outside linebacker Bernardo Harris led a tenacious defense with 18 tackles as Carolina defeated Army, 22-9. The game began in torrential rain and was delayed for 31 minutes midway through the first quarter due to lightning.

Means scored on one-yard and 11-yard runs in the second quarter to give UNC a 14-0 lead. After Army cut the margin to 14-9 in the final period, Means added a three-yard score with 3:25 left in the game. It was his ninth career 100-yard game and the third time in his career in which he scored three touchdowns.

Harris made 11 solo hits and assisted on seven more tackles as the Carolina defense held Army to 174 yards rushing on 58 carries. The Cadet wishbone accounted for just three yards per carry.

Carolina totaled 439 yards, 305 of which came on the ground. Means led with 102, Randy Jordan added 77, Mike Faulkerson had 51 and Curtis Johnson had 45.

Neither team managed a score in the first quarter, but the Tar Heels put up the first points of the evening on their initial series of the second quarter. Jason Stanicek opened the drive with a 24-yard pass play to Steven Jerry and moved the ball to the Army one-yard line 10 plays later with a 10-yard toss to Corey Holliday. Means went up the middle on the 12th play of the drive for the TD.

One series later, Means brought Carolina deep inside Army territory on a 50-yard run, but the drive stalled on fourth-and-goal at the two on a fumbled snap.

Carolina forced an immediate punt, however, and scored in six plays. The key play of the drive was an 18-yard Stanicek completion to Greg DeLong on third-and-13 at the 29-yard line. On the next play, Means went 11 yards through the middle for the TD.

The Cadets got back within five points midway through the final quarter, mainly with the help of two costly Carolina fumbles. A Faulkerson giveaway at the UNC 41 led to a 36-yard field goal by Patmon Malcom with 11:30 to play, and Jordan promptly lost a fumble at the UNC 35 on the subsequent kickoff return.

Aliki King went in from four yards out with 8:10 remaining, but Rick Steinbacher snuffed the two-point conversion with a QB sack to maintain a five-point advantage.

Carolina then put the game out of reach with a 12-play, 82-yard march which was capped by Means' third TD, from three yards. Mike Thomas had a 13-yard run on second-and-long which set up the score.

N.C. STATE 27

NORTH CAROLINA 20

September 26, 1992 • Kenan Stadium • Chapel Hill, N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C.-Quarterback

Terry Jordan completed 23 of 35 passes for 361 yards and Greg Manior scored the game-winning touchdown with 1:01 to play as N.C. State defeated Carolina, 27-20, before a Kenan Stadium record crowd of 53,725.

Jordan's performance overshadowed Jason Stanicek's afternoon as he completed 26 of 35 for 237 yards and added an amazing touchdown run.

Carolina was hurt by nine penalties totaling 78 yards, five quarterback sacks and just five third down conversions in 15 tries. The Tar Heel defense did keep the game close by forcing three fumbles deep inside its own territory.

Carolina took the opening kickoff, marched 56 yards in 12 plays and settled for a 28-yard field goal by Tripp Pignetti. The Pack answered with a 17-yard field goal by Steve Videtich on its initial series and took a 10-3 lead early in the second quarter on a one-yard run by Manior. Jordan's 42-yard crossing pass to Ray Griffith set up the touchdown.

Carolina took the ball with 4:07 left in the half and quickly moved into scoring distance. Stanicek hit Randall Felton on three straight pass plays for 14, six and 23 yards to move the ball to the five-yard line. A bad pitch on second down was saved by Means, but the play lost eight to the 13. Stanicek then weaved and zig-zagged through the State defense for a remarkable, 13-yard scoring run which tied the game at 10-10.

The Tar Heels took their last lead of the game on their first possession of the third quarter. Stanicek began the drive with a 17-yard scramble and moved UNC into range with a 27-yard strike to Corey Holliday. A third-and-nine pass to Holliday was a yard shy of the first down and Pignetti kicked a 35-yard field goal for a 13-10 lead.

State moved to the UNC 24, but Mike Morton's seven-yard sack of Jordan prompted a 44-yard field goal by Videtich which evened the game at 13-13 with 3:23 left in the third.

The Wolfpack took the lead with 10:46 to play on a quarterback sneak by Jordan. The score was set up by two passes to Eddie Goines of 19 and 46 yards. The latter gave State first-and-goal at the one and two plays later, Jordan snuck in.

Carolina immediately responded with a TD of its own. The Tar Heels put together a 13-play, 65-yard drive. Natrone Means, who was the game's leading rusher with 72 yards, gained six on fourth-and-one at the NCSU 30. A 10-yard pass to Steven Jerry and Means' 13-yard run gave UNC first down at the one. On third down, Means slammed in for the score and the 20-20 tie with 5:17 left.

Jordan moved the Pack up the field highlighted by a 26-yard pass to Robert Hinton and a 23-yard strike to Goines. The latter came on third-and-10 from the UNC 41. Four rushes later Manior found the end zone for the winning touchdown.

October 3, 1992 • Kenan Stadium

• Chapel Hill, N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C.-Natrone Means rushed for 112 yards and two touchdowns and Randy Jordan scored on a 65-yard screen pass to lead North Carolina to a 28-14 victory over Navy.

Means had a 16-yard touchdown in the first quarter and then iced the win with a 30-yard run late in the final period. In between, Jordan took a screen pass from Jason Stanicek and bolted 65 yards for a second quarter TD.

Carolina quarterback Jason Stanicek completed 13 of 21 passes for 219 yards in three quarters of action. It was his second consecutive 200-yard passing day. Split end Corey Holliday established a career-best with nine catches for 152 yards.

Tripp Pignetti's 25-yard field goal gave the Tar Heels a 3-0 lead midway through the opening quarter. Carolina moved 66 yards in just four plays for a touchdown on its next series for a 10-0 advantage.

Stanicek passed 10 yards to Randall Felton and 19 and 21 yards to Holliday before Means broke a 16-yard scoring run through the right side of the Midshipmen defense.

Jordan's 65-yard catch-and-run with 3:05 left in the second quarter gave the Tar Heels a 17-0 lead at intermission.

Navy scored a pair of TDs in the fourth quarter to close the gap to 20-14. The Middies compiled an 11-play, 63-yard drive early in the fourth and scored on a nine-yard run by Cleavon Smith. On the Tar Heels' next series, quarterback Mike Thomas was sacked and lost a fumble at the UNC 29. On third-and-eight, Jason Van Matre threw a 27-yard scoring pass to Tom Pritchard.

The Tar Heels wasted little time in putting the game out of reach. Four straight running plays netted 34 yards, Stanicek hit Holliday for 21, and Means capped the march with a 30-yard, shake-and-bake special for a touchdown.

FLORIDA STATE 36

NORTH CAROLINA 13

October 10, 1992 • Doak Campbell Stadium • Tallahassee, Fla.

TALLAHASSEE, FLA.-Corey

Sawyer returned a punt 74 yards for a touchdown and the Florida State defense held the Tar Heels to 12 first downs and Split end Corey Holliday hauled in a career-high nine receptions for 152 yards in the Tar Heels' 28-14 win over Navy. Holliday led Carolina in catches, for the third consecutive year, with 37 for 588 yards.

223 total yards as the eighth-ranked Seminoles defeated Carolina, 36-13.

Sawyer's punt return came after UNC's initial possession of the game and gave the Seminoles a 13-0 lead just 6:08 into the first quarter. The Tar Heels scored their only touchdown on their next series but could come no closer.

Carolina was held to five first downs both rushing and passing and failed to convert on several scoring opportunities in the middle quarters. The Seminoles gained 189 yards rushing and another 170 in the air and totaled 20 first downs.

Wide receiver Tamarick Vanover caught five passes for 89 yards and also scored on a fourth quarter reverse. Carolina held starting quarterback Charlie Ward to 10 for 22 and picked off two passes.

FSU scored on its opening possession on a one-yard run by Sean Jackson and Sawyer's punt run made it a quick 13-0. Carolina responded with its best drive of the day as it marched 61 yards in seven plays. Jason Stanicek's 24-yard run was a key play of the drive before he threw to Holliday in the end zone from 23 yards out.

The game stayed 13-7 for nearly 17 minutes as UNC had chances but could not score. First, Austin Robbins recovered a Ward fumble at midfield, but a sack and penalty stopped the UNC drive. Then Sean Crocker made the first of his two interceptions, at the FSU 32, but the 'Noles forced a punt.

FSU went 61 yards in 10 plays after the punt and settled for a 37-yard field goal by Dan Mowrey to make it 16-7. Carolina advanced to the FSU 44 and had it third-and-inches, but FSU held on the next two plays and took over on downs with 2:35 left in the half.

On the next play, Jackson completed a halfback pass to Vanover for 46 yards to the UNC 10. Two plays later, William Floyd scored from the one for a 22-7 lead. Tripp Pignetti's 44-yard field goal cut the lead to 22-10 at the half.

Carolina opened the third quarter with gains of 20, 16 and 15 yards but Pignetti's 45-yard try was no good. Ward's three-yard run made it 29-10 with 6:49 left in the third.

Pignetti capped the Tar Heels' scoring with a career-best 47-yard field goal late in the third quarter.

Crocker, who was one of six Tar Heels with at least 10 tackles, made his second interception in the final period. It was a spectacular, over the shoulder, one-armed grab and he returned it 24 yards.

NORTH CAROLINA 27 VIRGINIA 7

October 17, 1992 • Kenan Stadium • Chapel Hill, N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C.-Tailback Natrone Means rushed for 216 yards, Corey Holliday caught the go-ahead, 37-yard touchdown and the Carolina defense held the number-one rated passer in the nation to just 102 yards as the Tar Heels upended 16th-ranked Virginia, 27-7.

The win was the first by UNC against a Top 20 team since 1982 and was the first victory over the Cavaliers since 1986.

Means carried 31 times and had six runs of 10 yards or more including runs of 53 and 25 yards. It was his second-highest career rushing output behind the 256-yard game vs. Duke in 1990.

The Tar Heels totaled 456 yards in offense while the Cavs had just 263. Virginia came into the game averaging 462 yards and 42 points a game. UVa quarterback Bobby Goodman completed only 11 of 25 throws and was picked off by line-backer Mike Morton and cornerback Cliff Baskerville. The first set up a UNC score and the latter came in the end zone and ended the last threat of the game by Virginia.

Carolina had the ball for almost 36 minutes and ran 20 more plays than the Wahoos. Means was the top rusher in a Carolina ground attack which rolled up 351 net yards.

The Cavaliers scored first on a two-yard pass to fullback Gary Steele with 5:51 left in the opening quarter. UVa took its initial possession 75 yards in nine plays despite playing without all-star tailback Terry Kirby who missed the game with an injury.

Means' 25-yard carry set up Tripp Pignetti's 23-yard field goal late in the first quarter. On its next series, UNC took the lead as quarterback Jason Stanicek hit Holliday on a post pattern for the 37-yard score. Stanicek's seven-yard scramble on third-and-four at the UVa 44 preceded the TD play.

Randall Felton's 13-yard punt return gave UNC the ball at the UVa 40 with 3:55 left in the first half and a 14-yard carry by Means on third-and-one set up the next score. Randy Jordan then went 17 yards off tackle and UNC led 17-7 at the break.

Virginia advanced to the UNC 38 on the first series of the third quarter but Morton stepped in front of a UVa receiver and picked off Goodman at the 29. Means went 53 yards down the left sideline two plays later. Mike Thomas, who replaced an injured Stanicek in the second quarter, gained 11 yards on a draw play on third-and-10 at the Cavalier 18. On the next play, fullback Malcolm Marshall scored from seven yards out.

GEORGIA TECH 14

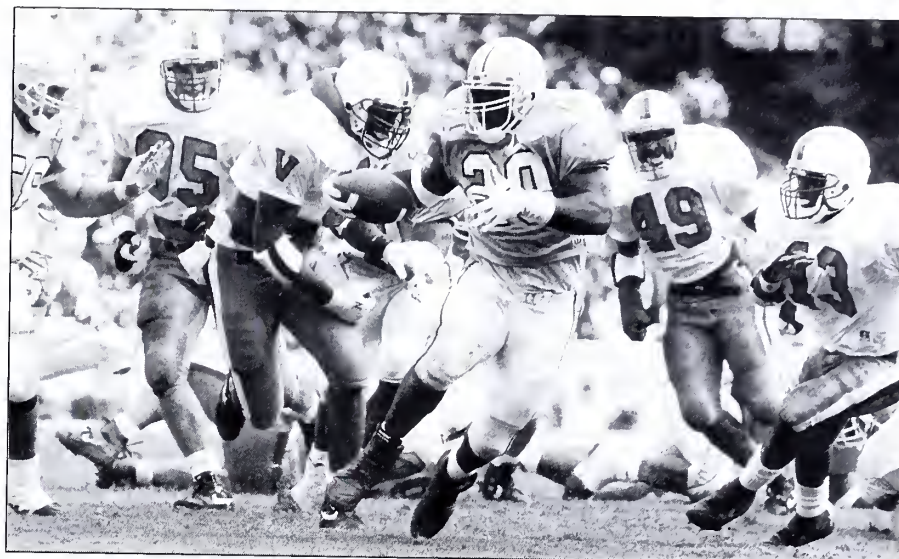

October 24, 1992 • Kenan Stadium • Chapel Hill, N.C.

CHAPEL HILL, N.C.-Quarterback Mike Thomas lofted a 27-yard touchdown pass, Natrone Means rushed for 121 yards and the Carolina defense limited Georgia Tech to less than three yards per play as the Tar Heels defeated the 19th-rated Yellow Jackets, 26-14.

The game was televised regionally by ABC Sports and prompted one of the wildest postgame celebrations ever at Kenan Stadium as students stormed the field and tore down both goal posts.

The win was the second in a row for the Tar Heels over a Top 20 team, the first time in the program's history that Carolina had won on consecutive weekends against Top 20 foes.

Thomas, starting in place of Jason Stanicek, who bruised a knee a week before vs. Virginia, completed 10 of 17 passes for 141 yards, one touchdown and one interception; he also rushed for 51 yards. On four occasions, twice on third down and twice more on fourth down, he rushed for key first downs. Eight of his 10 completions were for 10 yards or more and he averaged 15.6 yards on nine of the 10 completions.

All-ACC tailback Natrone Means led the Tar Heels to a 27-7 win over Virginia. Means rushed for 216 yards, which included runs of 53 and 25 yards. The win over the 16th-ranked Cavaliers was Carolina's first over a Top 20 team since 1982.

Carolina held the Yellow Jackets to just 175 total yards, including 69 on the ground. Tech quarterback Shawn Jones completed only 11 of 27 for 106 yards and was picked off on two of his first three passes.

Carolina committed just one turnover and forced three Tech miscues, all of which led to UNC scores. The Tar Heels held the ball a startling 38:25 and ran 79 plays, 20 more than the Yellow Jackets. Strong safety Bracey Walker was brilliant with 10 tackles, one for loss, and an interception. Rick Steinbacher made 11 tackles on just 29 snaps and Rondell Jones made 10 hits.

The Tar Heels began the game with a pair of quick scores. Walker picked off Jones on the third play from scrimmage and returned it 18 yards to the Jacket 27. On the next play, Thomas hit a wide-open Bucky Brooks in the left corner of the end zone for a touchdown.

Three plays later, Jones was picked off by Kerry Mock at the Tech 48-yard line. Mock played nearly the whole game in place of the injured Tommy Thigpen, who saw action on two plays. Carolina settled for a Tripp Pignetti field goal and led 10-0 4:19 into the game.

It stayed that way for nearly 20 minutes until Carolina scored with the help of a trick play. Three long passes by Thomas had helped to move UNC to the Tech 26-yard line and Pignetti was called upon for a 43-yard field goal try. But holder Jay Boaz, a quarterback in high school, instead rolled right and connected with a diving Mike Faulkerson for a 23-yard gain to the three. Means scored from a yard out and it was 17-0 with 4:44 left in the half.

William Bell scored on a 1-yard plunge with 2:00 left in the quarter to narrow the margin to 17-7 at intermission. Tech then drove 65 yards on 11 plays on its first series of the third quarter to cut the lead to three as Jones hit Jason McGill with a 16-yard TD pass.

In the fourth quarter, UNC took over with 13:37 to play and went on a 14-play drive which consumed 7:42 off the clock and was capped by a 33-yard field goal by Pignetti. The key play of the drive was a 19-yard option run by Thomas on fourth-and-one at the Tech 34.

Tech had one final shot, but with 2:39 to play, Thomas' punt was fumbled and recovered at the Tech 17-yard line by Eddie Mason. Curtis Johnson scored from three yards out with 1:16 to play to give UNC the 26-14 win.

October 31, 1992 • Byrd Stadium • College Park, Md.

COLLEGE PARK, MD.—Natrone Means rushed for 249 yards and two touchdowns and the Tar Heels outgained the Terrapins 523 yards to 402 as Carolina defeated Maryland, 31-24.

Randall Felton's 12-yard scoring run on a reverse broke a 24-24 tie with 4:03 left in the game. That score capped a 73-yard, 11-play drive which was highlighted by a 28-yard pass from Jason Stanicek to Greg DeLong. The play came on third-and-12 from the UNC 35.

Means had a spectacular day as he sped past the 1,000-yard mark for the season. He topped 1,000 on a 76-yard touchdown run in the third quarter. In 1991, he went over 1,000 on a 68-yard TD run against Duke.

Means' 249-yard effort was his second-best rushing day, seventh-best in UNC history and tied the ninth-best in ACC annals. He is the only player to have two of the top 10 best rushing days in ACC history.

Maryland quarterback John Kaleo completed 31 of 58 for 255 yards, but was picked off three times and did not throw for a touchdown. The 58 attempts were the most ever against Carolina.

The Terps ran 95 plays to UNC's 77, but Carolina outdistanced Maryland by 121 yards. Stanicek and Mike Thomas combined to throw for 174 yards on just nine completions. UNC averaged 19.3 yards per reception, while Maryland averaged 8.2 yards per catch.

UNC began the game with a quick, 80-yard march which ended on a fourth-and-two, 27-yard run by Means through a gaping hole on the left side.

Carolina began the second quarter deep in Terp territory, but on the second play of the period Means lost yardage on fourth-and-goal from the two. Midway through the second, Thomas made an errant pitch on the option and Maryland took over at midfield. Kaleo scored on a one-yard sneak seven plays later to tie the game.

The Terps went ahead 14-7 with 46 seconds left before halftime on a 20-yard run up the middle by Frank Wyheck. Wyheck finished with 102 yards rushing and eight catches for 56 yards.

Stanicek came in for the final series of the half and produced a score in four plays. He rushed for 18 yards to midfield, hit Felton across the middle for 22 yards Flanker Bucky Brooks made this 37-yard touchdown reception on the Tar Heels' first play from scrimmage to lead UNC to a 26-14 win over Georgia Tech. The win was the second consecutive over a Top 20 team, a feat which UNC accomplished for the first time in history.

and then hit a wide-open Steven Jerry in the left corner of the end zone from 28 yards out. The drive took all of 31 seconds.

Maryland recovered an onside kick to open the second half and Wycheck scored on a one-yard run six plays later. Two series later, Means cut through a hole on the left side, burst down the sideline, avoided going out of bounds and scored 76 yards later.

The teams then traded 24-yard field goals; UNC's Tripp Pignetti gave the Tar Heels the lead late in the third, and David DeArmas tied the game with 12:17 left in the game.

UNC began its winning drive with 7:34 to play. Means, who carried 15 times in the final quarter, rushed seven of the 11 plays and gained 35 yards. He also handed off on the reverse to Felton who scored untouched around left end from 12 yards out.

Bracey Walker made 10 tackles, one for loss, broke up two passes and picked off another. Kerry Mock, playing in place of the injured Tommy Thigpen, made 17 tackles. Mike Morton and Rick Steinbacher made 14 and 13 hits, respectively. Nose guards Greg Black and J.R. Boldin combined to make 17 stops. The UNC defense picked off three passes, broke up seven more, made four sacks and five other tackles for losses and hurried seven throws.

November 7, 1992 • Memorial Stadium • Clemson, S.C.

CLEMSON, S.C.-Freshman quarterback Patrick Sapp tossed touchdown passes of 48 and 51 yards, Rodney Blunt added three scores on the ground and the Clemson defense was dominant as the Tigers handed 18th-ranked North Carolina a 40-7 defeat.

The Tiger offense totaled 491 yards on 92 plays, while the Tar Heels managed just 42 plays and 146 total yards. Carolina earned six first downs and had the ball for only 17:02. Clemson had the ball for 24:01 of the middle two quarters and 42:58 overall.

UNC tailback Natrone Means left midway through the first quarter with bruised ribs and did not return. He completed the day with only two carries for a yard and two receptions for seven yards.

Curtis Johnson, who came in to replace Means, provided the lone offensive punch for UNC as he ripped off a 76-yard touchdown run on the second play of the third quarter. That cut the Tigers' lead to 12-7, but it was as close as UNC would get.

Sapp hit Terry Smith for a 48-yard scoring pass with 5:33 left in the first quarter for a 10-0 lead and later in the fourth quarter connected on a 51-yard score to Marcus Hinton. Sapp completed 13 of 23 passes for 205 yards.

Tailback Rodney Blunt scored a pair of third-quarter TDs on runs of 10 and three yards and added a one-yard score midway through the final period. Blunt finished with 21 carries for 105 yards and led a Tiger ground assault which compiled 286 net yards.

Rondell Jones made 17 tackles and Tommy Thigpen contributed a season-high 16 hits.

NORTH CAROLINA 31
DUKE 28

November 21, 1992 • Wallace Wade Stadium • Durham, N.C.

DURHAM, N.C.-Freshman quarterback Mike Thomas connected with Bucky Brooks on a 20-yard, game-winning touchdown with 2:06 to play to lead Carolina to a 31-28 win over Duke. The Tar Heels celebrated the win by accepting an invitation to compete in the 1993 Peach Bowl.

Thomas set several UNC records and had his finest day as a Tar Heel as he came off the bench late early in the second period and hit on 11 of 18 passes for 299 yards and two touchdowns. His favorite target was Brooks as the pair hooked up five times for 185 yards. Brooks caught both of Thomas' scoring passes, was the Tar Heels' leading rusher and accounted for the second-highest total of receiving yards in school history.

Thomas set the following UNC records: most yards total offense by a freshman (318), most yards passing by a freshman (299), most yards per completion (27.2), most yards per pass attempt (16.6) and most total offense yards per play (11.0). The 299-yard passing day was the seventh-best in UNC history.

Natrone Means, who averaged 218.5 yards his first two games against Duke, was held to 66 yards on 22 carries as the Blue Devils loaded their defensive front to stop the run. Carolina still managed to rush for 206 yards and totaled 515 yards overall. It was the second straight 500-yard day for UNC against Duke.

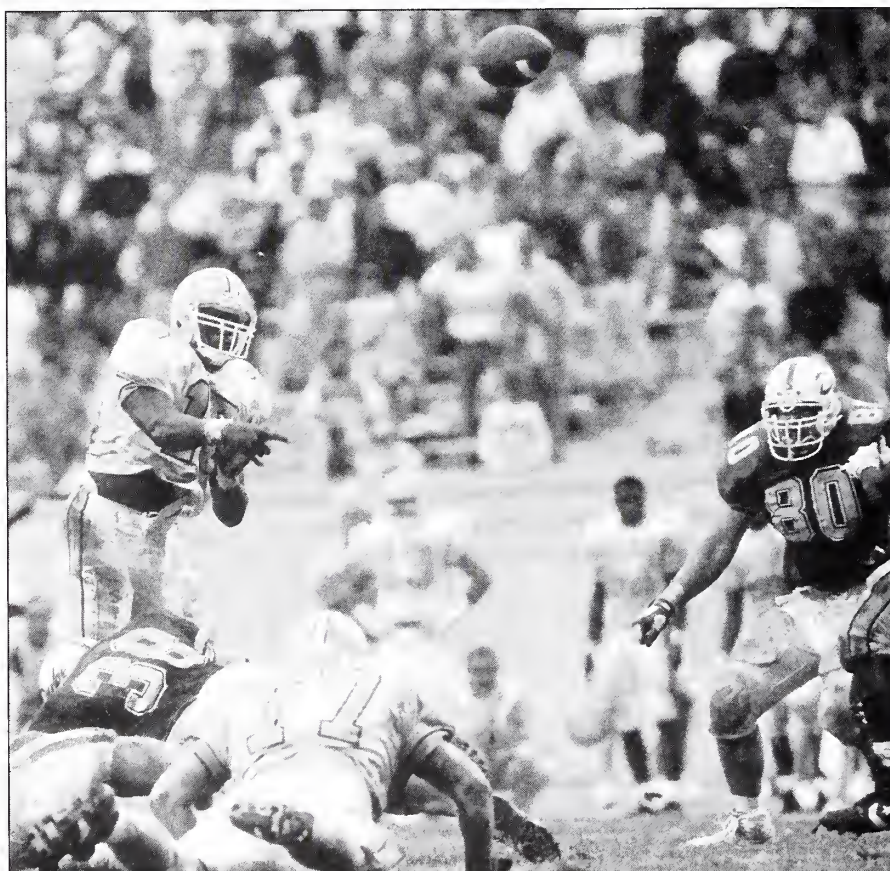

The Tar Heels scored first on a 65-yard punt return by Randall Felton only 41 seconds into the game. The Durham native became the first Tar Heel to have return more than one punt for a touchdown in his career since Charlie Justice returned four in the 1940s.

Duke then struck back with a pair of Steve Prince touchdown passes. Prince hit Brad Breedlove for 33 yards and a score with 8:49 left in the first quarter and, after an onside kick, connected with Stanley Dorsey for 19 yards for a TD.

Thomas came in to play quarterback on the Tar Heels' fourth series and led UNC to the tying TD. Key plays on the drive were a 23-yard run by fullback Mike Faulkerson, a 17-yard pass to Greg DeLong and a 10-yard run by Thomas on third-and-9 at the Duke 19. Means carried in for the score on the next play to tie the game at 14-14.

The Blue Devils went ahead 21-14 with 1:16 to play in the half on a 20-yard TD pass from Prince to Bill Khayat on a fake field goal. Carolina answered with a 22-yard field goal by Tripp Pignetti as the clock expired to end the quarter. A 68-yard run by Brooks on a reverse around the left end set up the kick.

Carolina went ahead 24-21 on its second possession of the third quarter as Thomas hit Brooks in the back of the end zone for a 29-yard TD pass.

Mike Thomas completed 11 of 18 passes for 299 yards in the Tar Heels' 31-28 win at Duke. Thomas set numerous UNC passing records that game, including most yards passing by a freshman and most yards total offense by a freshman (318).

Bucky Brooks made five receptions for 185 yards at Duke and caught two touchdown passes. This 46-yard catch with 2:50 to play set up his game-winning score.

A nine-yard Prince pass to Dan Clark pushed Duke back on top 28-24 3:08 later. The Blue Devils stopped Means on fourth-and-one at the Duke four-yard line with 11:37 left in the game and then went on an 18-play, 63-yard drive. The series took 7:48 off the clock but ended in a Blue Devil punt.

Thomas threw to Corey Holliday for nine yards to the 29. Two plays later Means got two yards and a first down at the UNC 31. After a timeout, Thomas passed deep down the left sideline which a tumbling Brooks hauled in for a 46-yard grab at the Duke 23. Thomas kept for three yards to the 20 and then hit Brooks again, this time on a crossing pattern. Brooks outran the Blue Devil defense into the right side of the end zone and UNC went ahead, 31-28, with 2:06 left.

1993 Peach Bowl

By Lee Pace

Five plays. Five seconds each. And five years worth of trials and tribulations coming to a head in the noisy confines of the Georgia Dome on the second day of the New Year.

There was the bomb from Mike Thomas to Bucky Brooks. And soon after came the blitz by Bernardo Harris that whipped the Tar Heel defense to a froth. There were the two blocked punts by Bracey Walker. And then the interception returned for a touchdown by Cliff Baskerville following a thunderbolt hit by Walker.

Those five plays delivered the Tar Heels a 21-17 win over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl Jan. 2 in Atlanta. And within them are every building block Coach Mack Brown has used to lay the foundation for his Tar Heel football program:

Speed on both sides of the football. An explosive air attack set up by a powerful ground offensive. Athletes good enough to make the plays and then turn somersaults in the air to celebrate them. Mature players who've fought through red-shirt years, adjustments to college ball and hours in the weight room. Astute tweaks of the game-plan by the coaches to take advantage of opposing weaknesses.

And, more than anything, a lot of heart.

The older players who knew the sting of 1-10 put it all in perspective as the Tar Heels celebrated on the floor of the Dome late that Saturday night.

"Carolina football will never be the same again," senior linebacker Tommy Thigpen shouted. "The possibilities are unlimited."

"We spent two years at the bottom of the league, two years in the middle, and now we're with the teams at the top. There's only one place to go from here, and that's No. 1," junior linebacker Rick Steinbacher added.

Carolina football has enjoyed some big bowl wins over the years. The 1963 Gator Bowl rout of Air Force capped off a 9-2 season, the best record in the eight-year regime of Jim Hickey. The 1972 Sun Bowl rally past Texas Tech secured Carolina an 11-1 season under Bill Dooley (its second-best record ever behind the 1898 mark of 9-0). And who can forget that pulsating 17-15 defeat of Michigan in the 1979 Gator Bowl, beginning a four-year win streak in bowls under Dick Crum?

But given the circumstances — a national TV audience on ESPN; a sold-out arena of 69,125 fans, one-third of them brandishing cow bells and another third clad in light blue and equipped only with hearty lungs; the first bowl bid for the Tar Heels in six years; and a second-half rally after Carolina looked like dead meat for two quarters—a case can be made that this victory was one of the most significant in the 102 years of Tar Heel football.

"This was a great win for the University of North Carolina," Brown said. "Our players have learned to win. They not only found a way to win the football game, they refused to lose. There's some excitement again around Carolina football with that crowd and the way they hung in there with us."

You can count the key plays on the fingers of one hand:

The Bomb

The Tar Heels were a different team when they took the field for the second half. Mississippi State jumped to a quick 14-0 lead in the first quarter, the result of a curveball the Bulldog coaches threw the Tar Heels and of the inherent jitters a virgin bowl team brought into an eclectic atmosphere of noise and lights.

The Bulldogs were an option-oriented team in compiling a 7-4 record and passed for only 130 yards a game. Offensive coordinator Watson Brown knew the Tar Heels were big, strong, quick and deep upfront and didn't think his team could run effectively. So they came out passing on first down off play-action passes, caught the Heels flat-footed and nervous and marched to two early scores. Two other TDs were nullified by holding penalties (one of them when the hold was so blatant that Troy Barnett's jersey was ripped). Interestingly, the Bulldogs' pass protection wasn't quite as good the rest of the night.

"The first two quarters, I was scared they would blow us out," Thigpen said. "We were just overwhelmed being here. At halftime we said, 'Let's not get embarrassed. Let's go have a good time. What have we got to lose? Play ball like you've never played before. Take a couple of chances. Make some killer plays.'"

The Tar Heel offense was built all season around tailback Natrone Means, who rushed for 1,195 yards and 13 TDs. He'd gained 60 yards in the first half and opened the second with bursts of 17 and eight yards. So when quarterback Mike Thomas extended the ball toward Means on first down at the Carolina 46, the Bulldog defense was ready to react. Most significantly, cornerback Walt Harris froze for an instant as Bucky Brooks streaked past him downfield.

The 1992 season was Brown's first to have a rifle-armed athlete at quarterback who was healthy and had at least a red-shirt year behind him. In fact, the Tar Heels had two, with Thomas and Jason Stanicek. That allowed them to diversify their offense and take advantage of opponents' attention to the Carolina running game.

BLOCKED — AGAIN! This is the second of Bracey Walker's back-to-back, third quarter punt blocks. Walker scooped up the bouncing ball and raced, untouched, for a 41-yard touchdown return which tied the game at 14-14. (Jack Reimer photo)

So when the play-action fake to Means signaled "run" to the Bulldogs, Thomas and Brooks went to work. Thomas had hit Brooks on long passes in recent weeks of 43, 46 and 47 yards. With one fifth-year senior and four fourth-year juniors protecting, Thomas dropped back and fired a pass to the speedy Brooks, who caught it at the one-yardline. That led to a TD and now it was 14-7.

"That's the whole package right there," said Brown. "Great players at quarterback, receiver and tailback. Size and experience upfront. That's what we've been working for five years to get to."

The Blitz

The Tar Heel defensive staff knew at halftime they needed to disguise their coverages more in the second half. Watson Brown and quarterback Greg Plump called a lot of plays from the line of scrimmage, and often the call hinged on the apparent responsibilities of the Tar Heel outside linebackers. Are they playing the run or pass? Are they dropping or coming? Is the secondary playing man or zone?

On the Bulldogs' third play from scrimmage of the second half, Plump read Bernardo Harris and Ray Jacobs and checked into another play. At one point Harris looked like he was blitzing. Then he feigned pass coverage by lining head-up on the wideout to the backside. Finally, Harris barreled in from Plump's blind side and rammed him just as he was turning the ball loose. Plump bit the dust, the ball wobbled incomplete, and the Tar Heels could sense the momentum changing.

"That series gave us a boost of confidence," Harris said. "We were back in the game after that."

Plump would hear those footsteps the rest of the game. He became nervous and tentative. The line got caught with another hold on the next play. The Bulldogs soon shifted to a "maximum protection" set, and on third-and-10 on their next series, Plump rushed a quick pass into the flat for no gain before looking downfield for first-down yardage.

"He started looking for Bernardo after that play," OLB coach Donnie Thompson said. "He's thinking, 'When's he going to hit me on this one?'"

Not only were the players on the field gaining momentum at this juncture. So too were the ones on the sideline and the fans in the stands. The Tar Heel reserves countered the Bulldogs' cowbells by waving white towels on the sideline, helping to rev up the thousands of Carolina fans who stood most of the second half.

"The way our fans stayed behind us was awesome," receiver Corey Holliday said. "I've never seen them so alive."

Added Walker: "We heard them every minute and it made us played that much harder."

The Blocks

The Tar Heel coaches were a little surprised in preparing for the game to learn that only two punts had been blocked by Mississippi State opponents—one by Memphis State and one by Alabama. Two elements of the Bulldogs' punt team led the staff to believe the Heels could block one:

One, Mississippi State punter Todd Jordan is a three-step kicker and, two, the Bulldogs employ two wideouts from punt formation—the better to catch a pass from a fake and also to pin the return in the middle. But the corners are shortened by having fewer blockers along the interior, which should make it easier to get to the punter.

Natrone Means rushed for 128 yards and a touchdown in his final appearance as a Tar Heel and was named the Most Valuable Offensive Player of the 1993 Peach Bowl. (Jack Reimer photo)

"We knew we could get there," says Thompson, who handles the punt return team. "You add their system to the three-step kicker and the speed of our rushers, and we were sure we could block one for a big play."

But Thompson figured on getting only one chance.

Marcus Wall, one outside rusher, was ignored by the Bulldog wing blocker on Jordan's first punt of the night and grazed the ball with his hand, but its flight was barely affected. The Tar Heels coaches cursed their luck; they figured the Bulldog staff would adjust and junk the spread.

But they didn't, and even threw out of a fake for nine yards on a fourth-and-20 in the second quarter.

When Jordan lined up to punt two plays after Harris' blitz, the Tar Heels overloaded the boundary side of their line, with Wall, Walker and Sean Boyd rushing against two blockers. The wing blocker, who missed Wall in the first quarter, now took him. Boyd shielded the next Bulldog blocker. That left Walker all alone.

"Two blockers to guard three never works," said Thompson.

Walker dove in the nick of time, blocked the punt and Carolina took over at the Bulldog 20.

"We're gonna come back, we're gonna come back," a jubilant Walker said to an ESPN cameraman on the sideline.

Unfortunately, the Tar Heels couldn't convert, with Tripp Pignetti's field goal sailing wide.

"That was like missing a five-foot putt for birdie," Brown says. "You can't give away an opportunity like that."

The Bulldogs were soon forced into another punt. And they stayed in the spread. This time, John Bradley shifted into a three-point stance outside the Bulldog center an instant before the snap after looking like he wasn't rushing. That fouled up the Bulldog blocking assignments, leaving Walker, this time from the left side, another clear path to Jordan. Walker didn't even leave his feet and was positioned perfectly to catch the bounce of the ball and zoom it into the end zone.

Does it hurt to block a punt?

"Yeah, a little," Walker said five months later, rubbing a sore left hand. "I had a soft cast on my hand because of some ligament damage. It didn't hurt at the time, I was so excited. But it sure hurt that night. It's still a little sore today."

Then why do it?

"Lately I've realized life isn't that long," he says. "Nothing's guaranteed. Every opportunity you get you've got to take advantage of. These were great opportunities."

Says Brown: "You've got to have something about you to put your face in front of a ball like that. Some people won't do it. Bracey's got such a knack."

The Flip

The Tar Heels appeared in control now, even though the score was just tied at 14-14. They just needed to find a way to put more points on the board. They'd scored one touchdown on offense and one with the special teams. In this game that would define the meaning of the word team, it was appropriate that the defense would provide the third score.

Walker earned a nickname early in his career of Novocaine—as in he'll put you out in a flash. Highlight films would show No. 27 making marmalade of running backs. Privately, the Tar Heel coaches would show Walker coverage mistakes in scrimmages that led to yards.

"Bracey didn't take care of dotting the Is and crossing the Ts," says secondary coach

Bruce Johnson. "He would make a big play and then be in the wrong position 60 percent of the time."

But when Cookie Massey was injured last August, Walker had developed the consistency he needed to make an impact. Twice during the season he was named ACC defensive back of the week. It took three years, but he had arrived.

"I learned to worry about my job and let the big plays take care of myself," Walker says.

He did both early in the fourth quarter. Plump launched a pass toward Chris Jones, and Walker arrived at the receiver's arms one one-hundredth of a second after the ball did. He jarred it loose, Cliff Baskerville caught it and ran it 44 yards for a touchdown—with Walker providing a blocking escort and decking a 307-pound tackle in the process.

Then in front of the Tar Heel bench, an exuberant Walker turned a backflip and landed on his feet—the kind he'd learned as a second-grade gymnast back home in Spring Lake, outside Fayetteville. He's one of several Tar Heels, in fact, who can do standing somersaults (Marcus Jones and Darrin Ashford among the others).

"It wasn't something I'd planned," Walker said. "I was just overcome with joy, it was the only way I could express it."

Now ahead 21-17, the Tar Heel defense stood tough and soon the hard times of 1988 and 1989 were buried beneath a Atlanta jubilee.

"Mississippi State beat us in every stat except the kicking game and the score," Mack Brown said. "It was not as pretty as we'd like, but we won. It was a fitting way to end 1992 and start 1993."

Carolina's Bowl History

From the days of Charlie Justice in the 1940s to Lawrence Taylor and the 1,000-yard tailbacks of the 1980s, North Carolina has had a tradition of appearing in bowl games.

After a five-year absence, the Tar Heels returned to postseason play with last year's exciting trip to the Peach Bowl.

That 21-17 win over Mississippi State marked the fourth time Carolina played in the Peach Bowl, having previously been in Atlanta in 1970, 1976 and 1983. In addition, the Tar Heels have played in the Sugar Bowl in 1947 and 1949; the 1950 Cotton Bowl; the Gator Bowl in 1963, 1971, 1979 and 1981; the Sun Bowl in 1972, 1974 and 1982; the 1977 Liberty Bowl; the Bluebonnet Bowl in 1980; and the 1986 Aloha Bowl.

Carolina's bowl history started with three New Year's Day appearances during the late Forties when Justice was the big star of some of the school's greatest teams. Perhaps the most famous of those games was the 1947 Sugar Bowl which matched UNC against Georgia. This game produced one of the most controversial plays in bowl history.

Carolina was leading 7-0 in the third period when Bulldog defensive end Joe Tereshinski intercepted a Tar Heel pass. He then flipped a lateral to Dick McPhee who raced to the UNC 14. Carolina argued the lateral was a forward one and the play should have been called back. However, the officials ruled differently. Georgia went on to score and a 20-10 victory.

Justice was sensational running and punting when the Tar Heels returned to the Sugar Bowl two years later, but Oklahoma won the game, 14-6. Justice also played well in the 1950 Cotton Bowl, but Carolina lost to Rice, 27-13.

The Tar Heels' next bowl appearance did not come until 1963, but Ken Willard made the wait worthwhile in sparking a 35-0 win over the Air Force. He ran for 94 yards and scored the opening touchdown to key the runaway victory.

Bracey Walker's 41-yard return of a blocked punt, his second block in as many series, went for a touchdown which tied the 1993 Peach Bowl at 14-14. Carolina went on to a 21-17 win over Mississippi State. (Drew Cline photo)

Beginning in 1970 Carolina made 12 bowl trips in 17 years. After dropping a 48-26 decision to Arizona State in the 1970 Peach Bowl, the Tar Heels and Georgia made bowl history in the 1971 Gator Bowl. This is the only time in history brothers have opposed each other as head coaches in a bowl game with Bill Dooley's Tar Heels taking on his brother Vince's Bulldogs. The game was a great defensive struggle with Georgia coming from behind to win, 7-3.

Carolina capped an 11-1 season in 1972 with a dramatic 32-28 win over Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic was the big star, completing 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards. It was his 62-yard touchdown pass to Ted Leverenz which gave the Tar Heels a 24-21 half-time lead.

Tech came back to go ahead, 28-24, but Vidnovic hit Leverenz with a 13-yard TD strike with just a minute to play to bring Carolina back. The Tar Heels then sealed the win when tackle Ronnie Robinson dropped Red Raider quarterback Joe Barnes for a safety.

Mike Voight and James Betterson each had big days rushing in the 1974 Sun Bowl, but Carolina couldn't stop the veer attack of Mississippi State. The two teams combined for 901 yards of offense, but the Bulldogs won, 26-24, when the Tar Heels were stopped on a fourth-and-one at their own 43 during a last-minute drive.

Kentucky blanked Carolina, 21-0, in the 1976 Peach Bowl and the following season the Tar Heels dropped a heartbreaking 21-17 decision to Nebraska in the Liberty Bowl. Sparked by quarterback Matt Kupec, Carolina had a 17-7 lead in the fourth quarter. But, the Cornhuskers rallied behind the play of reserve quarterback Randy Garcia.

Kupec and Amos Lawrence were the biggest stars in Carolina's 17-15 win over Michigan in the 1979 Gator Bowl. Kupec directed a 97-yard touchdown drive in the third quarter which put the Tar Heels ahead to stay, 14-9. Jeff Hayes later added a 32-yard field goal. Michigan scored with 1:28 left, but missed on a two-point pass. Lawrence rushed for 118 yards and Kupec hit on 18 of 28 passes. Taylor, Buddy Curry, Darrell Nicholson and Donnell Thompson led a defense which forced four turnovers.

Lawrence again was the big star in a 16-7 win over Texas in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl. He rushed for 104 yards and had a 59-yard touchdown run. Carolina's other scoring came on a two-yard plunge by Kelvin Bryant and a field goal by Hayes.

But, the key to this game was a Tar Heel defense which limited the Longhorns to just two first downs and only 36 total yards in the second half. Taylor was all over the field making sensational plays, although safety Steve Streater was chosen the game's defensive MVP with an interception, fumble recovery and a 63-yard punt.

In an eerie setting the following year, Carolina defeated Arkansas, 31-27, in the Gator Bowl. The field was shrouded in fog much of the night, making it almost impossible to see the action from the press box. ABC Sports had to switch to lower-level cameras to cover the game. Bryant ran for 148 yards and his backup, Ethan Horton, added 144.

At one time UNC led in this game, 31-10. After the Razorbacks had cut that deficit to 31-27, they got the ball back and were driving inside Tar Heel territory in the closing moments. But, freshman nose guard Ronnie Snipes, in on only his third play of the game, sacked quarterback Brad Taylor for a 17-yard loss on third down to help preserve the win.

Horton again was the big star in the 1982 Sun Bowl as Carolina came from behind to defeat seventh-ranked Texas, 26-10. Coming off the bench for an injured Bryant, Horton rushed for 119 yards and one touchdown.

The Tar Heel defense was brilliant, making two great goal line stands, and shutting down the Texas attack in the second half. Rob Rogers and Brooks Barwick added a pair of field goals despite weather conditions which featured a wind chill factor of 12 degrees and snow throughout the game.

That Sun Bowl game made Carolina the first Atlantic Coast Conference school ever to win four straight bowl games. But, that streak came to an end with a 28-3 loss to Florida State in the 1983 Peach Bowl.

Everything about the trip to Honolulu for the Aloha Bowl was great except for the game itself—a 30-21 loss to Arizona. The Tar Heels spotted the Wildcats a 30-0 lead, before putting on a big second-half rally. Torin Dorn finally got Carolina going against a rugged Wildcat defense with an Aloha-record 58-yard touchdown run.

Then Norris Davis made two big defensive plays, intercepting a pass and blocking a punt. Mark Maye threw to Randy Marriott for one score and got the other himself on a three-yard run. Nine minutes were still left to play. But, despite driving inside Arizona territory twice more, Carolina could not score again.

Last year the Tar Heels rallied from a 14-0 deficit to score a 21-17 win over Mississippi State before a Georgia Dome record crowd of nearly 70,000 fans. Bracey Walker blocked two third-quarter punts and returned the second one for a game-tying touchdown. He also broke up a fourth-quarter pass which Cliff Baskerville intercepted and ran back 44 yards for the winning touchdown.

Natrone Means was the offensive MVP with 128 yards rushing and one touchdown and Walker was named the defensive MVP.

The Football Bowl Coalition

The Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Fiesta Bowls (Tier One) have joined with the Atlantic Coast Conference, The Big East Football Conference and the University of Notre Dame in a partnership to provide the opportunity for the champions of the Atlantic Coast and Big East Conferences and Notre Dame to appear in one of the aforementioned bowl games each year.

In addition, the ACC and Big East champions are guaranteed a spot in the Orange, Sugar or Cotton Bowl each year.

The current commitments of the conference champions of the Big Eight to the Orange Bowl, Southeastern to the Sugar Bowl and Southwest to the Cotton Bowl remain intact, leaving two additional berths open in the four Tier One coalition bowls.

date for all the bowls involved in the coalition (Tier One and Two) will be following the completion of regular season play on December 4.

The selection process is as follows:

1. Whenever Notre Dame, the ACC and the Big East champions occupy the number one and two rankings in the final regular season Associated Press poll, they must play the national championship game in the Fiesta Bowl.

2. Whenever the number one or two team in the final regular season Associated Press poll come from among the ACC champion, Big East champion or Notre Dame, and the host conference champion from among the Sugar, Cotton or Orange Bowl is ranked number one or two, these teams must play one another in the bowl of the host conference champion.

3. Barring the above circumstances, the Orange, Sugar and Cotton Bowls will select first in order of the final rankings of their respective host conference champions. Following that selection, the Fiesta Bowl will have two selections from the remaining pool of five teams.

4. Once these selections have been completed the remaining three "at large" teams will be available to the Tier Two bowls. The Gator Bowl, selecting first, will choose one of the three teams. The final two teams will face each other in the John Hancock Bowl.

5. The ACC and Big East champions and Notre Dame have the right to pass a Tier One selection for a higher payout, to avoid a rematch of a regular season game or to avoid playing in a particular bowl game for the third consecutive year.

6. A team may pass a selection to a Tier Two bowl only to avoid a rematch of a regular season game or to avoid playing in a particular bowl game for a third consecutive year.

Additionally, the ACC has reached an agreement with the Peach Bowl which guarantees a conference team in that bowl. After Tier One and Two bowls have made their selections, the Peach Bowl will select an ACC team based on: (1) ACC standings; (2) national rankings; (3) strength of schedule.

Also, the ACC, the Big 10 Conference and the Hall of Fame Bowl have reached an agreement which would match schools from each conference to the January 1 game in Tampa, Fla. After the coalition and Peach Bowl have selected its teams, the Hall of Fame Bowl will select a fourth team from each league, provided that the teams have at least seven victories.

- Was fourth in career scoring at UNC with 214 points; had the second-highest number of rushing touchdowns with 34
- Averaged 5.1 yards per carry, the fourth-highest average among the top 10 rushers in UNC history
- Incredibly he lost just one fumble over the last two seasons (474 combined carries and catches)
- Showed remarkable consistency throughout his career as he averaged 5.1 yards per carry in each of his three seasons

- Third in Tar Heel history with 605 rushing attempts
- Holds the record for pass receptions by a running back (61) and finished 14th in school history
- Third-team All-America in 1992 by Football News
- Two-time selection as a first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference tailback (1991, 1992)
- Was the leading vote-getter on the All-ACC first team in 1992
- Is the only player to have two of the top 10 single-game rushing efforts in conference history
- Rushed for 100 or more yards in 14 games, including the Peach Bowl, and UNC was a perfect 14-0 in those games; that is the sixth-highest number of 100-yard games in UNC history
- Rushed for 200 or more yards three times; joined Amos Lawrence and Mike Voight as the only ACC players to have three 200-yard outings
- Led the Tar Heels in rushing in each of the last three seasons; led the ACC in rushing in 1991, was second in 1992 and fourth in 1990
- Joined Charlie Justice and Amos Lawrence as the only players to lead UNC in rushing for three consecutive seasons
- Rushed for 128 yards and a touchdown and was named the Offensive Most Valuable Player of the 1993 Peach Bowl
- Rushed for 1,195 yards as a junior and 1,030 as a sophomore; the 1,195-yard total was the seventh-highest single-season total in UNC history
- Had seven 100-yard games in 1992, four in 1991 and three in 1990

- Selected the Tar Heels' Most Valuable Offensive Player in each of the last three seasons

- Went over the 1,000-yard mark twice, both on spectacular, long touchdown runs; in 1991 he hit 1,000 on his final carry of the year as he raced 68 yards for a touchdown early in the fourth quarter of the season finale vs. Duke; in 1992, he sped 76 yards for a touchdown in the rain and mud at Maryland in the ninth game of the year

- Career-high 256 yards as a freshman at Duke; that was the sixth-best rushing effort in ACC history and the second-best ever by a freshman

- Matched Charlie Justice as the only UNC freshman to score three TDs in a game (Means did it twice, vs. Wake Forest and Duke)

- Had a pair of 200-yard games in 1992 including 249 yards at Maryland and 216 vs. Virginia

- Was The Sporting News' national offensive player of the week for his showing at Maryland in 1992; carried 32 times for 249 and two TDs; had 15 grueling rushes in the fourth quarter

- Led the ACC in rushing in 1991 with 103 yards per game; second in the ACC in '92 with 108.6 yards per game; also led the ACC in all-purpose running in 1991 with 120.8 yards per game

- Scored 11 touchdowns in 1990, the second-most by a freshman in ACC and UNC history

RANDALL PARSONS

Center • Wilkesboro, N.C.

- Third-team Associated Press All-America selection in 1992
- Named first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference center in 1992

- Picked preseason 1992 as the number-one rated senior center in the nation by the NFL Scouting Service

- Became the third UNC center in the last five years to earn first-team All-ACC honors

- Was one of four team captains during the Tar Heels' Peach Bowl championship season of 1992

- Originally came to UNC as a linebacker but was moved to center in 1990 and took over starting honors at the midpoint of that year

- One of the quickest and most agile centers in the nation

- Helped anchor an offensive line which helped open the holes for two consecutive 1,000-yard rushing seasons by tailback Natrone Means

- Was the only returning starter on the offensive line last year

- Played in a pair of postseason college all-star games including the Japan Bowl and the Senior Bowl

- Signed a free agent contract with the Washington Redskins

JONATHAN PERRY

Outside Linebacker • Orangeburg, S.C.

- Co-Captain of the 1992 Tar Heels

- Recipient of several post-season team awards including Co-Most Valuable Defensive Player, Best All-Around Senior, Outstanding Team Spirit, Outstanding Outside Linebacker and Athletic Director's Scholar-Athlete

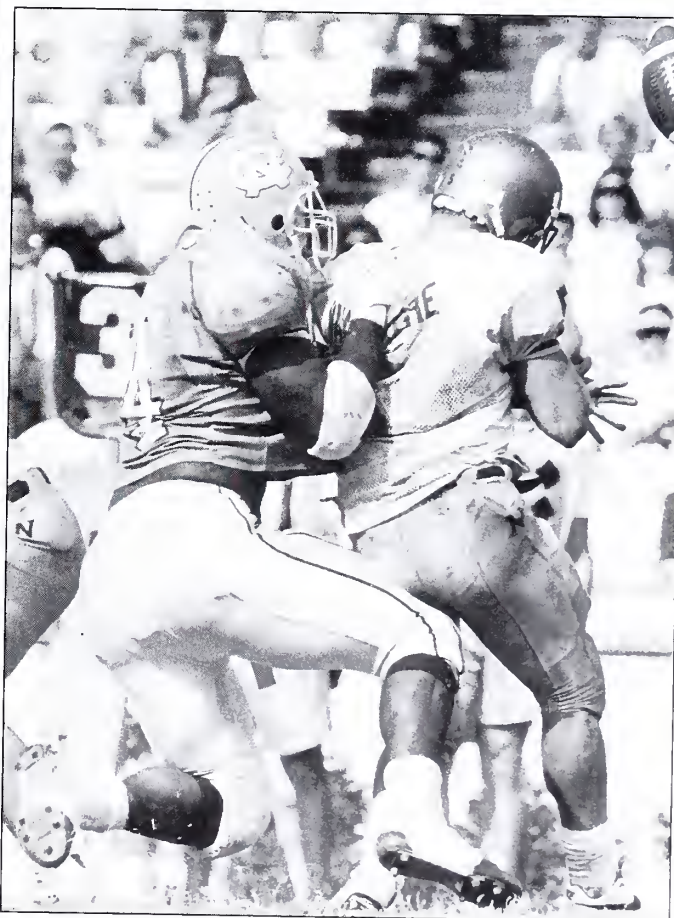

- Selected to the All-Academic Atlantic Coast Conference Team

- Suffered a knee injury in the first half of the Peach Bowl which caused him to miss the remainder of the game and forced him to sit out the postseason all-star games

- Emerged last year as the heart-and-soul leader of the Carolina defense

- Only player on the UNC defense to grade out a winner in all 11 regular-season games last year; led the team with eight tackles for losses and five quarterback sacks

- Never missed a game in four years as a Tar Heel; played in 44 consecutive games and started every game his last three years

- Finished his career with 240 tackles, 22 tackles for losses and 12 quarterback sacks
- Made a career-high 11 tackles in three different games in 1992 — vs. Furman, Florida State and Duke
- Signed a free agent contract with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers

THOMAS SMITH

Cornerback • Gates, N.C.

- First-round selection of the AFC champion Buffalo Bills in the 1993 NFL Draft
- Originally walked-on the program, but earned a scholarship and became an all-conference performer
- Earned second-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors in 1991, the first player to come to UNC as a freshman walk-on and earn all-star accolades since 1979

- Set a Tar Heel record for pass breakups in a single-season with 16 in 1991
- Was off to another solid start in 1992 but he suffered a broken right forearm in the fourth week of the season
- That injury caused him to miss the rest of the regular season; returned to the lineup in the Peach Bowl but reinjured the arm early in the fourth quarter

- Finished his career with 119 tackles, 20 passes broken up and six interceptions
- Made a career-high 11 tackles vs. Clemson in 1991
- Had a 24-yard interception return for a touchdown vs. Maryland in 1990
- Sealed the win over Kentucky in 1990 with an interception on the final play of the game
- Earned the Tar Heels' defensive player of the game honors on three occasions in 1991 — vs. Wake Forest, Virginia and Maryland

Kenan Memorial Stadium

Nestled among the tall pine trees near the center of the Carolina campus is Kenan Stadium. It is here in this natural valley that Tar Heel football teams have played for 66 years.

Kenan Stadium is generally regarded as one of the most beautiful football venues in the nation. Considering its majestic setting among the Carolina pines, many say it is the most beautiful.

One national sports magazine rated Kenan one of the five best places in America to watch a college football game. For scenery, atmosphere and charm, it can not be surpassed.

The stadium has been expanded several times since its completion in 1927. In each instance, though, great care was taken to keep its fundamental beauty intact.

The most recent expansion took place prior to 1988 and involved adding 2,000 choice seats between the 40-yard lines where the press box and chancellor's box formerly stood.

A new press box was constructed on top of the upper deck on the stadium's south side. It is a one-level elongated structure, running from 10-yard line to 10-yard line. It is one of the finest facilities of its kind in the nation.

Also part of the project were a permanent lighting system, a chancellor's lounge on the north side of the field and a football lettermen's lounge on the south side. The lights are a General Electric low-mount system which minimizes the height of the lightpoles. A similar system is used at Soldier Field, home of the Chicago Bears.

Cost of the entire project was $7 million. It was funded by private gifts and bonds.

"Kenan Stadium is aesthetically a very special sports arena and a great deal of thought was given to these improvements," says Athletic Director John Swofford. "Their aim is to maintain and even enhance the beauty of the stadium."

William Rand Kenan Jr. deserves the credit for originally making the stadium a part of the University. He was born in North Carolina in 1873 and graduated and the pressing needs for a stadium and the possibilities of the beauty, dignity and permanence it presented, suggested to him that the benefaction he contemplated may well take the form of a memorial stadium. The Stadium Committee immediate-

“Those who have designed and built this structure have had a high sense of the fitness of things. Its location is more than merely suitable; it is well nigh perfect ... fitting as it does in the essential spirit of the University community. For the stadium rests, not in the midst of streets and buildings and people and things, but in the heart of the hills and trees. It is completely surrounded by nature ... It belongs to the hills and the woodland, and curiously enough they seem to belong to it.”

Greensboro Daily News,
1927 Dedication Day editorial from Carolina in 1894. An international industrialist, Kenan discovered carbide and made monumental progress in the field of chemistry. The stadium was built as a memorial to his parents, William R. Kenan and Mary Hargrave Kenan.

Construction began in November 1926 and was completed the following August. Complete cost of the stadium and accompanying fieldhouse was $303,000.

Originally, the stadium was to be built through funds raised by alumni donations and by June 1926, a group of nearly 40 alumni had contributed $27,926. At this time, however, a copy of the prospectus and plan of financing the stadium came into the hands of Mr. Kenan who expressed an interest in the proposal. Kenan was considering establishing a memorial to his parents ly endorsed his proposal and on the very day in November 1926 on which Kenan visited the planned site, he announced his financial gift to build the stadium. Besides giving the stadium to the university, Mr. Kenan also sponsored and financed the famous Kenan Professorships. He was awarded the honorary degree of LL.D. by his alma mater in 1944.

In the first game played there, Carolina defeated Davidson, 27-0, on November 12, 1927.

Carolina's all-time record at Kenan Stadium is 203-127-16. The most points scored by the Tar Heels in Kenan came in the third game played there as Carolina whipped Wake Forest, 65-0, in the 1928 season opener.

As originally built, the stadium seated 24,000. However, in later years the benefactor added portable stands and then an upper deck to the permanent stands, which increased capacity to 48,000. That was expanded to 50,000 a few years ago and then to 52,000 in 1988.

After the 1976 season, Kenan Fieldhouse underwent a massive renovation. The building was expanded to 30,000 square feet of dressing rooms, coaches' offices, lounges, meeting rooms, weight-training quarters and other facilities. The players' locker room was renovated again in 1988.

Kenan Stadium was a madhouse last October as the Tar Heels defeated Georgia Tech 26-14 before a crowd of 52,800 and a regional audience on ABC-TV. The Carolina faithful even stormed the field and tore down the goalposts for the first time in history.

The Student-Athlete Development Center was added to the fieldhouse in 1986. A 20,000 square foot building, it is a one-of-a-kind facility.

For study purposes, it contains a language lab, video room, computer lab, theatre-style lecture hall, several reading rooms and numerous tutorial rooms. Carolina's academic counseling staff has the advantage of using the most modern techniques in helping student-athletes with their studies.

The bottom half of the building encompasses one of the most complete strength fitness centers in the country. Workout rooms and performance labs contain the most current apparatus available.

Capacity crowds have come to be expected at Kenan. Highest attendance at a game there was the crowd of 53,725 which watched the UNC-N.C. State game last year. That topped the previous high of 53,689 which saw the Tar Heels battle Clemson in 1983.

The 1983 season saw another first in the stadium - a game played under artificial lights. The Carolina-Duke game was played in the late afternoon so it could be televised throughout the Atlantic

Amos Lawrence rushed for 4,391 yards, the all-time Carolina record and the second-most ever in ACC history. Lawrence is the only Tar Heel to ever rush for 1,000 yards in each of his four seasons. He rushed for a single-game high of 286 yards vs. Virginia in 1977, the third-highest total in ACC history. "Famous Amos" was the co-MVP in the 1979 Gator Bowl and the MVP in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl win over Texas.

Chris Kupec is easily the all-time passing efficiency leader at Carolina with 160.09 points. In his one year as a starter, he posted some of the finest numbers in Carolina history. In 1974, Kupec completed 104 of 150 passes for an incredible percentage of .693. He threw for 12 touchdowns and was intercepted just three times. He still holds UNC's single-season and career pass completion percentage records.

Earl Winfield established the Carolina record for receptions in a career with 107 from 1982-85. He was a first-team All-ACC wide receiver as a senior when he grabbed 47 passes for 696 yards and eight touchdowns. Winfield is one of only four Tar Heels to ever make three touchdown receptions in a single game; he caught three TDs vs. Wake Forest in 1985.

Youngstown, Ohio native Lou Angelo is the Tar Heels' all-time pass thief. Angelo, a three-year starter from 1970-72, picked off 16 passes during his career, including a Carolina single-season record eight in 1972. Those eight steals led the Atlantic Coast Conference and came in an outstanding 11-1 season.

Not only was Charlie Justice an outstanding runner and thrower, but he was also one of the most complete players in the history of college football. Justice, who also has the third-best punting average in UNC history, is the Tar Heels' top kick returner. He averaged 26.6 yards per kickoff return and 14.2 yards per punt return. No other Tar Heel player is among the top five in both kick return specialties.

Annual Leaders

Eric Blount played tailback and wide receiver from 1988-91, but it was his prowess as a kick return specialist that helped land him an NFL assignment with the Phoenix Cardinals. Blount finished his career as the second-leading kick returner in college football history.

Jimmy Jerome led the Tar Heels in receptions for three straight years in 1972-74 and topped the ACC in catches with 47 in 1974. He established UNC's single-season receiving yardage record in 1974 with 837 yards. Tragically, he was killed in an auto accident in 1975. The players' lounge in Kenan Fieldhouse is named in his honor.

First-Team All-Americans

George Barclay, Guard, 1934

Here is Carolina's first football All-America. The 5-11, 185-pound guard and linebacker was a three-year standout for Chuck Collins and Carl Snavelly. A fine blocker and an extraordinary tackler, Barclay lined up in the offensive interior next to tackle Jim Tatum. He was captain of the 1934 team which went 7-1-1. Barclay later served as head coach at Carolina for three seasons, from 1953 to 1955.

Andy Bershak, End, 1937

A 185-pound end, Bershak was a two-way performer for the Tar Heels. He was a fine receiver, but was even better on defense. He played two years for Carl Snavelly and one for Ray Wolf. Bershak, an honor student, also was a basketball starter. He was selected to the Order of the Golden Fleece and served as president of the Carolina Athletic Association.

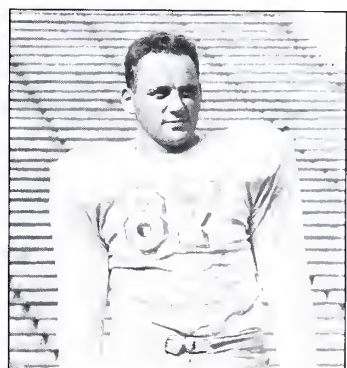

Steve Maronic co-captained the 1938 Tar Heels and as a two-way tackle played almost the entire 60 minute game each week.

Steve Maronic, Tackle, 1938

Maronic was a two-way tackle for the Tar Heels and team co-captain in 1938. He was an "iron man" playing almost 60 minutes in every game that season. He turned in two of his best performances in front of the New York media against NYU at Yankee Stadium and Fordham at the Polo Grounds. Those games solidified his All-America chances. Maronic also was a place-kicker and hit 13 straight PATs in his the Blue Devils in 1940.

Paul Severin, End, 1939-40

Severin was a two-time All-America selection by the Associated Press (1939 and 1940) and made most of the all-star teams in his senior season. His career was filled with big plays—a touchdown catch to tie Tulane in 1939, two scoring catches against Penn that same season and a touchdown-saving tackle from behind of Duke's great Steve Lach in a 6-3 win over rated by many as the best all-around player in the history of Southern football. He was a true triple-threat performer, leading Carolina in rushing, passing and punting from 1946 to 1949. He sparked Tar Heel teams which appeared in the Sugar Bowl twice and the Cotton Bowl once. He is the school's all-time total offense leader with 4,883 yards and also ranks as the Tar Heels' second-leading career scorer, seventh-leading rusher and 10th-leading passer. He had a career punting average of 42.6 and averaged 14.2 yards on punt returns and 26.6 yards on kickoff returns.

Charlie Justice (22) and Art Weiner led the Tar Heels to three major bowl games in the late 1940s. Both players have been inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame.

He is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame.

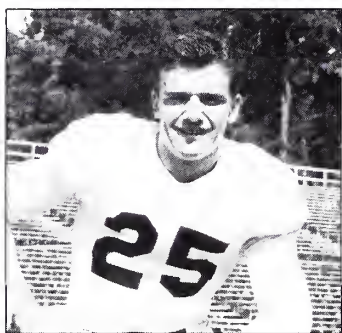

In 1949 he received the national player of the year award from the Washington Touchdown Club and was recipient of the Walter Camp Memorial Trophy.

Art Weiner, End, 1948-49

A great all-around end, Weiner led the nation in receiving in 1949 with 52 catches. He had been seventh nationally in receiving the previous year with 31 catches. His 106 career catches are the second-most in school history and he still holds the UNC career record with 18 touchdown receptions. However, many remember him best for a game-saving defensive play on the last snap of the 1949 Duke game. After his senior season Weiner was named the most outstanding lineman in the Senior Bowl. Weiner was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1992.

Bob Lacey caught 48 passes for 533 yards and was named a 1963 All-America.

Irv Holdash, Center, 1950

While Carolina's football fortunes slipped in the years immediately following the Charlie Justice Era, Holdash still received national attention for his outstanding play. A center on offense and linebacker on defense, Holdash was a three-year regular who never missed a game during his varsity career. He probably made All-America in 1950 with a sensational performance in a 14-7

Goldstein was another outstanding two-way end at Carolina. He earned All-America honors in 1958 by making 24 catches for 490 yards, averaging an amazing 20.4 yards per reception. Adept at making the seemingly impossible catch, he had a 68-yard TD reception at Virginia. He also starred defensively and had a 46-yard interception return for a touchdown against Maryland.

Bob Lacey, End, 1963

Lacey led the Atlantic Coast Conference in receiving in 1963 with 48 catches for 533 yards. His pass-catching was a key factor as Carolina rolled to a 9-2 record, defeating the Air Force, 35-0, in the Gator Bowl. Lacey was also the team's top receiver in 1962 with 44 catches. He is the only Tar Heel player to have at least 40 catches on two occasions. His career total of 102 receptions is the third-best in school history.

Don McCauley, Halfback, 1970

Don McCauley shattered the Carolina and the Atlantic Coast Conference record books with a dazzling senior season in 1970. He rushed for 1,720 yards and scored 21 touchdowns, setting marks which still stand. His 1,720 yards was an all-time collegiate high at the time, breaking O.J. Simpson's NCAA record. McCauley led the nation in all-purpose running that season. He was twice the ACC Player of the Year and still ranks fourth in career rushing at Carolina. He had a lengthy professional career with the Baltimore Colts.

Ron Rusnak, Offensive Guard, 1972

Rusnak was a unanimous All-America selection in 1972 as Carolina posted an 11-1 record. At 6-2 and 220 pounds, he did not have the size to play professional football, but Rusnak was a great college player. He was a two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference choice, starting on teams which combined for a 20-4 record. In 1972 he won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the ACC.

Ken Huff, Offensive Guard, 1974

Huff was a key man on one of the most explosive units in Carolina history. He was the leader of an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels accumulate 4,691 yards in 1974, at the time a school record. The 6-4, 255-pound Huff won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Sparked in great part by his play up front, the Tar Heels had two backs rush for over 1,000 yards in the same season. Huff was the third player selected in the NFL draft by the Baltimore Colts.

Charles Waddell, Tight End, 1974

Waddell rates as one of the best all-around athletes in Carolina history. He won three football letters, two in basketball and one in track. Not only was he a fine receiver at tight end, but he also was a dynamic blocker there. He set a school single-game record in 1974 with three touchdown catches against Clemson. He had 41 career catches for 518 yards and seven TDs. His professional career was cut short by a knee injury.

Defensive tackle Dee Hardison (74) anchored the Tar Heels' unit in 1977 which led the nation in scoring defense. Hardison went on to play 11 seasons in the National Football League.

Dee Hardison, Defensive Tackle, 1977

A two-time All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection, Hardison played on one of the top defensive teams in Carolina history. In 1977 Carolina led the nation in scoring defense, giving up just 7.4 points a game. The Tar Heels led the ACC in total, rushing, pass and scoring defense. A big reason was the play of Hardison, a 6-3, 252-pound tackle who dominated the line of scrimmage all season. After leaving Carolina he began a lengthy NFL career with the Buffalo Bills.

Defensive back Ricky Barden (11) holds the Carolina record for career interception return yardage with 156 yards.

Ricky Barden, Defensive Back, 1979

One of the top defensive backs in Carolina history, Barden was a repeat All-Atlantic Coast Conference selection in 1978 and 1979. Barden made nine career interceptions. He started at cornerback for two years and then was shifted to strong safety for his final year where he broke up nine passes and was the third-leading tackler. His 156 yards on interception returns are the most in school history.

Lawrence Taylor set a school record in 1980 when he recorded an amazing 16 quarterback sacks en route to being named ACC Player of the Year and All-America.

Lawrence Taylor, Outside Linebacker, 1980

From midway in his junior season until the end of his senior year in 1980, Taylor dominated the football field as few defensive players ever had. Now regarded as the finest outside linebacker in the history of the game, Taylor had a remarkable senior season which featured 16 quarterback sacks and six other tackles for losses. In Carolina's only close games in an 11-1 season, Taylor made the game-saving defensive plays against Texas Tech and Clemson. He was a runaway selection as Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year.

Offensive guard Ron Wooten (78) won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy in 1980 when he opened the holes for a pair of 1,000-yard tailbacks.

Ron Wooten, Offensive Guard, 1980

Wooten won the Jacobs Blocking Trophy in 1980 as the best blocker in the Atlantic Coast Conference. He was the leading vote-getter in the offensive line on the All-ACC team. He was one of the leaders of an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels lead the ACC in total offense and which also helped produce two 1,000-yard backs. He went on to become a starting guard with New England in the NFL.

David Drechsler, Offensive Guard, 1981-82

Drechsler became Carolina's first two-time All-America since Charlie Justice and Art Weiner when he earned first-team honors in 1981 and 1982. He played every position in the offensive interior during his Carolina career, but settled in at guard. The 6-4, 253-pound Drechsler played on Tar Heel teams which were 37-10-1 and were unbeaten in four bowl games. He also was the winner of a post-graduate scholarship from the NCAA. become a starter with the Green Bay Packers until a back injury forced him to give up the game.

William Fuller, Defensive Tackle, 1982-83

Fuller is one of just five Carolina players to win first-team All-America honors twice. Although powerfully built at 6-3 and 250 pounds, Fuller's greatest asset was his quickness. He used that quickness to make 13 tackles for losses and six sacks in 1982 and 17 tackles for losses with five sacks the following year. He was the only unanimous choice on the 1983 All-ACC team and is one of just two linemen ever to make All-ACC for three straight years.

Brian Blados, Offensive Tackle, 1983

When two Carolina tailbacks ran for over 1,000 yards in 1983, much of that yardage came behind Blados. The 6-6, 305-pound left tackle dominated the line of scrimmage as Carolina set a school total offense record and finished seventh nationally in yardage. Blados was named on 90 of 100 ballots in voting for the All-Atlantic Coast Conference team. He was a first round choice by the Cincinnati Bengals in the NFL draft.

Offensive tackle Brian Blados was an All-America in 1983 when he led the way for two 1,000-yard backs and UNC set a school record for total offense in a season.

William Fuller earned All-America honors in 1982 and 1983 and is just one of five Tar Heels to be named All-America in two different seasons.

Harris Barton, Offensive Tackle, 1986

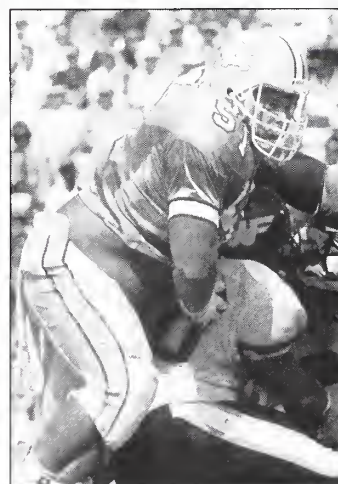

Barton was a four-year starter for the Tar Heels, first at center and then at tackle. With so many teams playing even-man front defenses, Barton was moved to tackle in 1984 to take better advantage of his skills. He excelled at left tackle, the key blocking spot in the Carolina passing game. As a senior, he led an offensive line which helped the Tar Heels rank first in the Atlantic Coast Conference and sixth nationally in total offense. An excellent student, he was chosen for a post-graduate scholarship by the National Football Foundation and was a first-round selection in the NFL draft.

Harris Barton started for four years and was an All-America at offensive tackle in 1986. He also earned a post-graduate scholarship by the National Football Foundation and was a first round draft pick by the San Francisco 49ers.

Pat Crowley, Offensive Guard, 1989

A standout offensive guard who was a leader of the first of Mack Brown's teams. He won first-team All-Atlantic Coast Conference honors in 1987, 1988 and 1989 and became only the second offensive lineman in conference history to win three all-league honors (Virginia's Jim Dombrowski was the other). He started every game in his college career and helped open the way for a pair of 1,000-yard backs (Derrick Fenner in 1986 and Kennard Martin in 1988).

Pat Crowley (51) was just the second offensive lineman in ACC history to win all-conference honors in three seasons.

Carolina's Linebacker Tradition

For more than the past decade, the most dynamic defensive player in the National Football League has been Lawrence Taylor, the sensational linebacker of the New York Giants and another in a long line of standouts at that position from the University of North Carolina.

Taylor captured pro football's most prized award in 1986 when he was named the NFL's Most Valuable Player. That award came after he led the Giants to a Super Bowl triumph. The MVP trophy gave Taylor a sweep of the NFL's top individual honors in just his sixth year in the league. In January 1991, Taylor again led the Giants to the top of the professional football world as New York became Super Bowl champions for the second time.

Taylor roared into the NFL in 1981 as few rookies ever have. He not only was the league's Rookie of the Year, but also the NFL Defensive Player of the Year as well. In his decade with the Giants he has established himself as the outside linebacker with whom all others must be compared.

Of course, Taylor's success has come as no surprise to those who followed his great career at Carolina.

And the fact that Taylor played for the Tar Heels was no surprise to NFL fans. Carolina has been turning out star linebackers for years.

The biggest star of them all may well be Taylor. The second player chosen in the 1981 NFL draft, he actually helped turn the Giant franchise around. New York, which had only a 4-12 record in 1980, improved to 9-7 in Taylor's first year there. The Giants made the playoffs for the first time since 1963.

The major reason for that improvement was an outstanding defense featuring Taylor. The New York offense wasn't great by any means, but the defense was strong enough to offset that. Quick and powerful with tremendous instincts, Taylor presented a major problem for opposing offenses. He actually redefined the outside linebacker position.

In his first year in the league, Taylor received more votes than any other NFC player in balloting for the Pro Bowl.

Taylor has been an All-Pro selection in 10 of his 11 NFL seasons and was a Pro Bowl selection in each of his first 10 years in the league. Four times he has been named Defensive Player of the Year.

Taylor had similar success at Carolina. He was a consensus All-America and the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year in his senior season. During that fall of 1980, he led a Tar Heel defense which helped Carolina post an 11-1 record, equalling the most wins in school history.

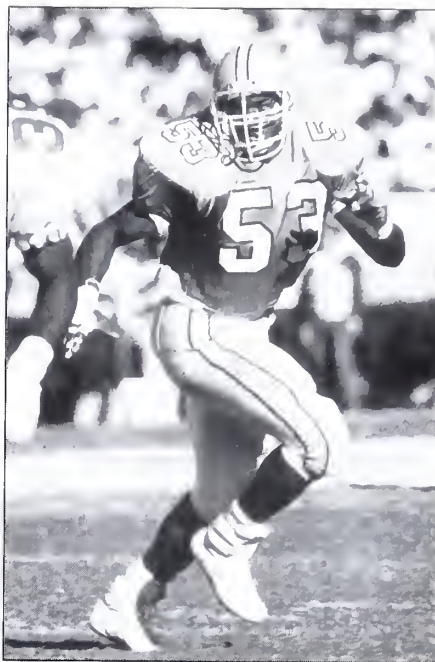

Taylor had really begun to develop into a true superstar late in his junior year. He finished third on the team in tackles that fall, had five sacks and made six tackles for losses. Then he was sensational against Michigan in the Gator Bowl.

That set the stage for a dynamic senior season in which Taylor seemed to make big plays every week. He had 55 solo tackles, 16 sacks and six tackles for losses. He forced three fumbles, recovered three and made plays that had to be seen to be believed. Even then instant replay would have been helpful.

However, as mentioned earlier, Taylor was not the first Tar Heel linebacker to reach stardom in the NFL. The year before Taylor entered the league, the NFL's best rookie linebacker was Buddy Curry of the Atlanta Falcons. Curry had won All-ACC honors at Carolina in 1977 and 1979. He was a key figure, as just a sophomore, on a 1977 Tar Heel defense which gave up the fewest points in the nation.

Two former Carolina linebackers helped their teams reach the Super Bowl in the 1970s. Chris Hanburger sparked a Redskin defense which took Washington to Super Bowl VII and John Bunting was a key performer for the Philadelphia Eagles when they reached Super Bowl XV.

Last year, Buffalo Bills linebacker Carlton Bailey, the captain of the 1987 Tar Heel squad, led the Bills to Super Bowl XXVI when he picked off a John Elway pass and returned it for a touchdown in the American Football Conference Championship Game.

While Hanburger and Bunting were two of the NFL's premier linebackers during the '70s, two of the league's best a decade earlier were also former Tar Heels—Rip Hawkins of the Minnesota Vikings and Bill Koman of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Like Curry, Hanburger and Hawkins were two-time All-ACC choices during their college days. Jimmy DeRatt, a Carolina linebacker in the early 1970s, also won all-conference honors twice.

Other Tar Heel linebackers who have made the All-ACC team since 1970 are Bunting, Taylor, Bill Richardson, Mike Mansfield, Darrell Nicholson, Lee Shaffer, Chris Ward, Mike Wilcher, Micah Moon, Brett Rudolph, Dwight Hollier and Tommy Thigpen.

Hollier was a dominant force at inside linebacker during Mack Brown's first four years and led the ACC in tackles twice. He was first-team All-ACC in 1990 and was a preseason All-America choice in 1991 but missed the first four games of the year due to an injury.

Thigpen fought through a myriad of injuries but was still one of the finest defensive players in all of college football. He was a first-team All-ACC choice in 1991 as he led the team in tackles with 106 and was considered one of the hardest hitters in the college game.

Carolina's 1,000-Yard Backs

Call him a halfback, a running back, a tailback, an I-Back or whatever you want. But, when he rushes for 1,000 yards, you simply call him something special.

Nowhere in college football have there been more special runners than at the University of North Carolina.

In the last 24 years Tar Heel tailbacks have rushed for over 1,000 yards on 21 occasions. That gives Carolina more 1,000-yard backs than anyone else in collegiate history. The University of Southern California is second with 19.

In a 12-year period from 1973 to 1984, Carolina had at least one player break the 1,000-yard mark each season. And in the five years of Mack Brown's reign in Chapel Hill, two Tar Heels have topped the 1,000 plateau on three occasions. Last year, Natrone Means rushed for 1,195 yards, his second consecutive 1,000-yard season. In 1991, Means rushed for 1,030 yards and vaulted over the magical 1,000-yard barrier on his final carry of the season, a 68-yard touchdown run versus arch-rival Duke. He topped 1,000 in similar fashion last year as he reached the magical figure on a wild, 76-yard scoring scamper at Maryland.

Three times in a 12-year stretch from 1973-84, the Tar Heels had two tailbacks get 1,000 yards in the same season. It has been rare in college football for a school to produce two 1,000-yard backs in one year. When it has happened it has generally been with option attacks—the veer or the wishbone. But, on all three occasions when UNC has had a pair of 1,000-yard rushers, the players actually shared the same position—tailback in the Tar Heels' I-formation.

Tailback at Carolina, in fact, has become the glamour position in the ACC. Year in and year out, more attention goes to Tar Heel tailbacks than to players at any other position at any other school in the league. To be a tailback at Carolina, one has to be a superb athlete, one of the nation's best players, someone special.

How has Carolina been able to produce so many 1,000-yard backs?

Certainly, having outstanding runners has been a major factor. But, other schools also have had great backs and haven't been able to compile the figures of Carolina. For example, the Tar Heels have had more 1,000-yard rushers than Alabama, Notre Dame and Oklahoma combined.

No, there are also other reasons, the most important of which are probably fine offensive linemen, belief in the I-formation and tradition. Those reasons also hold true for Southern California.

Carolina and USC have each had two players rush for 1,000 yards three times—

Ethan Horton, now an All-Pro tight end with the Los Angeles Raiders, rushed for 1,000-plus yards in 1983 and 1984. He is one of six Tar Heels to have rushed for 1,000 yards in consecutive seasons. Natrone Means was the most recent player to accomplish this feat.

The biggest difference between the tailback systems at Carolina and Southern Cal is that Trojan backs have generally had higher yardage totals. But, USC usually picks one player as its tailback and sticks with him throughout the season. In fact, Southern Cal has never had two backs gain 1,000 yards in the same season.

Carolina, on the other hand, has alternated tailbacks quite a bit, trying to keep a fresh player in the game at all times. When two players split a position, their individual yardage totals obviously aren't as high as those of runners who stay in the game constantly. The Tar Heel philosophy is simply that if you've got two great runners, let them both play. In the long run, both will be more effective.

That's not to say Carolina would never go with a system like USC's. If one runner is clearly better than all others, he will get the majority of the playing time. For example, Don McCauley rushed for 1,720 yards in 1970. At that time that broke O.J. Simpson's all-time NCAA single-season yardage record. Still, McCauley's backup, Ike Oglesby, had 562 yards. McCauley is Carolina's only 1,000-yard back from outside the ACC's geographic area. He is a native of Garden City, N.Y.

Bryant, Tyrone Anthony, James Betterson, Ethan Horton, Sammy Johnson, Kennard Martin and Means are all North Carolinians. Lawrence and Voight grew up in Virginia, while Derrick Fenner is from Maryland.

All those eligible have played professional football. McCauley and Bryant have had the most success to date. McCauley played with the Baltimore Colts for 11 seasons and broke many of the club's rushing and scoring records set by Alan Ameche and Lenny Moore. Bryant was the USFL's Player of the Year in that league's first season. He joined the Washington Redskins in 1986.

Horton and Johnson were recruited as quarterbacks. All of the others were high school halfbacks, although McCauley was more highly regarded as a defensive back.

Those players have turned in some of the greatest individual performances in ACC history. In fact, Carolina players have had the five best rushing days in league history and six of the top seven. Fenner set the ACC rushing record in 1986 by gaining 328 yards against Virginia. Martin had 291 in 1988 against Duke. Lawrence has the third-best figure with 286 against Virginia in 1977. Fourth on the ACC list is McCauley's 279 against Duke in 1970. Then comes Voight's 261 against the Blue Devils in 1976. And in 1990, Means rushed for 256 yards in the season finale vs. Duke.

Actually Means is the only player to have two performances in the league's top 10 list of best rushing days. The 256 yard-day at Duke is the seventh-best total and the 249-yard outing at Maryland in 1992 stands tied for the ninth-highest total.

Top single-season efforts ever in the ACC have been McCauley's 1,720 yards in 1970 and Voight's 1,407 in 1976.

It has been performances like those which have made Carolina's tailback position what it is - a spot filled with tradition, a spot for special players, a spot for 1,000-yard rushers.

Choo Choo: The Incomparable Charlie Justice

There is an understandable tendency by sports fans to be wary when an athlete is called "the absolute greatest ever" or "the best who ever played."

It is so difficult to compare athletes of the past with those of today that such descriptions are generally regarded as exaggerations of overzealous publicists.

Even with that in mind, however, it is undeniably safe to say that the greatest all-around football player ever to wear Carolina Blue was Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice.

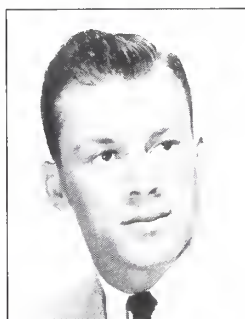

Some have even said Charlie Justice was the best all-around player in the history of the South. We won't go that far even though there's a good chance it's true. We don't want to make our readers too wary.

Charlie Justice was more than just a great football player. He was a bona fide superstar ... a hero ... a legend in his own time. He had an impact on his home state as no other athlete had ever had before or few have had since.

During his four years in Chapel Hill, from 1946 to 1949, Justice helped guide the Tar Heels to three major bowls. For one week during the 1948 season Carolina was ranked as the nation's number one college football team. The Tar Heels ended that year rated third, the best finish in school history.

It is no wonder then he was held in great esteem by everyone in the state. Certainly, the time was right for a hero like Charlie Justice. The war had just ended and people wanted to turn their attention to more pleasant things. They wanted someone to help them forget the trauma they had just suffered. So they looked for heroes and they found Charlie Justice.

In his book, They Made the Bell Tower

Chime, the late Bob Quincy summed up Charlie Justice's college career quite succinctly. An excerpt is repeated here:

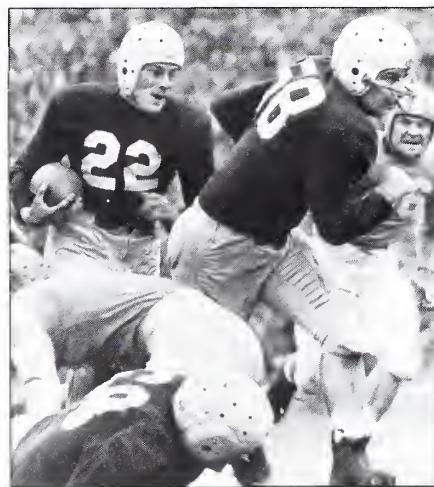

The Justice era of 1946-49 was the most exciting in Carolina's football history. Charlie was the ringleader of a circus of thrills. He set the pace, but his backing was superb. Carl Snively had so many football players he couldn't have named them all had he taken a memory course. The Tar Heels operated from the single wing with the kind of variations that at times resembled the Harlem Globetrotters' pre-game ball-handling act. The four seasons netted 32 victories, seven losses and two deadlocks. Plus three major bowl appearances.

The 170-pound Justice was one of the nation's most sought-after players when he enrolled at Carolina. Some called him the hottest property in the history of football at that time. He had been a standout at Asheville's Lee Edwards High, leading the Maroons to two unbeaten seasons. He was All-Southern two years at Asheville, and as a member of the Shrine Bowl football team in 1942 he scored three touchdowns against South Carolina, a record that still stands.

The Navy became home for Charlie during the war years, and he became a phantom on a pro-studded Bainbridge Navy Squad. After two years of romping for Bainbridge against opponents across the country, he was a target for pro offers from the Philadelphia Eagles and Washington.

Charlie wanted an education, and scouts stayed in pursuit. He chose Chapel Hill after seriously considering South Carolina and Duke. An off-hand remark by Snively - "I hope he comes out for football" - became a

Smart! Example: In the Virginia Tech opener, Justice had two kicks blocked. He bristled and vowed it would never happen again. It didn't during his collegiate career.

After Virginia Tech's 14-14 stalemate, a shocker to say the least, the Tar Heels played at Miami. Early in the game, Justice went back to punt. The Hurricanes came hard with an all-out rush to block him. He faked the kick and ripped off a 65-yard touchdown run.

In the Virginia game his freshman year he gained 170 yards in 17 carries with runs of 18, 40, and 56 yards. He had seen little practice because of a leg injury, but the Cavaliers were certain he carried a spare appendage.

Choo Choo (he acquired the name at Bainbridge when a gob remarked, "He runs along just like a choo choo train.") was excitement. He was all eagerness on the sidelines and all business when he moved into the tailback slot. He thrived on duty, and he was a master of the quick kick, a devastating rusher, a good passer, and a fake artist who could charm a cobra.

Jack Fitch, a thick-legged back who occasionally shared duty with Justice when not playing on the wing, sized up Charlie's style by noting, "Justice has the ability to be running at full speed, stop suddenly, and then be back at full speed almost instantly. He was never regarded as fast in terms of a track man. He had a change of pace that couldn't be matched, and he knew how to follow blockers as well as any back I've ever watched."

Justice was blessed by having excellent blocking backs in front of him (Joe Wright, Don Hartig, Eddie Knox, Paul Rizzo, Bobby Weant) and two fullbacks in Hosea Rodgers and Walt Pupa who could pass as well as run. Pupa had been at tailback in pre-war years.

The Snavelly system called for a spinning fullback, fakes and counter fakes, full-back pass plays and reverses. It was a dashing brand of football made more exciting by men who had the ability and maturity to accept Snavelly's often complicated maneuvers.

A teacher asked his pupils to write on a slip of paper the most important man in the country. Twenty-six slips of paper were passed out, marked and returned. The principal of the institution received one vote. The President of the United States, Harry Truman, received two. The other 23 went to Charlie Justice.

From Choo Choo: The Charlie Justice Story
(by Bob Quincy and Julion Scheer)

The book Choo Choo documents the career of Charlie Justice. He was a folk hero and deserved the special treatment. The great Benny Goodman and the late Johnny Long recorded the Campbell-Beebe song, "All The Way Choo Choo." It sold by the thousands.

Typical of Justice was the Georgia game of 1948. He scored three times against the Bulldogs in a 21-14 triumph, the climax being an 84-yard punt return. At mid-way point that season, the Tar Heels were ranked No. 1 in the nation.

Justice erased more records than a company of auditors during his four years at UNC. He scored 234 points and passed or ran for 64 touchdowns. As a ball carrier he accumulated 2,634 yards.

His total offense record is still in the books at 4,883. His punting average for four years was 42.6 yards per kick for 231 boots. Justice also was a dependable defensive player, going both ways on occasion for the Tar Heels and also as a Redskin.

Justice seemed to peak when the traditional games were being played. He led the Tar Heels to four straight wins over Duke. He was an All-America mention as a freshman and made many of the major teams as a junior and as a senior. He was runner-up for the Heisman Trophy to Doak Walker of SMU in 1949.

Charlie's finest moment came in the College All-Star Game of 1950 at Chicago's Soldier Field. He was voted the MVP of the game for good reason. The All-Stars walloped the Philadelphia Eagles, led by Steve Van Buren, 17-7. Justice gained 133 yards individually, or 48 more than the Eagles posted as a team. He set up a touchdown on a 60-yard pass from Eddie LeBaron of College of Pacific.

Every year since Charlie's departure from Chapel Hill, someone has a "find" who is labeled as "the next Charlie Justice." No player has yet come up to Choo Choo's standards. Good runners, yes! Expert passers, yes! Booming punters, yes! But for endurance, ability to dazzle the crowd and overall quality, there was only one Charlie Justice.

Carolina's Football History

The University of North Carolina, one of the institutions involved in the first intercollegiate football game in the state of North Carolina's history, holds a special place in the annals of the game, both in the Tar Heel state and the nation as a whole.

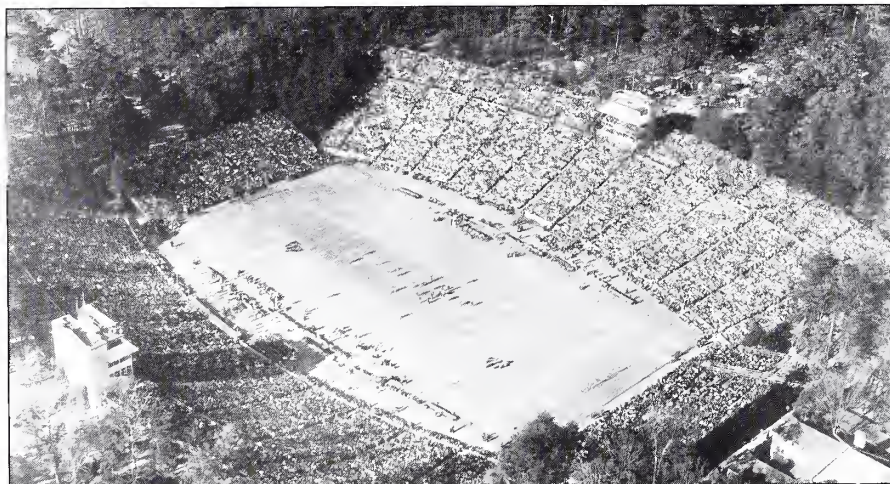

Carolina, which began playing the sport in 1888, will embark on its 103rd season of football competition in 1993. The Tar Heels do that with a history of gridiron greatness, including some of the top coaches in the game, a lineage of talented running backs and one of the most beautiful and historic stadiums in college football. All factors considered, Carolina's football tradition is one of the most respected in both the South and the entire United States.

Surprisingly, football is actually not the oldest varsity sport at UNC. Baseball is accorded that honor, having fielded its first varsity squad back in 1867. But while football started 21 years later, its history is replete with memories that have thrilled legions of Carolina fans as the decades have elapsed.

The Early Days

The first UNC team competed back in 1888 and played but two games, losing both and being outscored 22-4. That inauspicious beginning belies the success of the program since then, but those football pioneers are nevertheless credited with starting football at Carolina.

In the fall of 1888, the sophomore class at UNC had formed a team and after vanquishing all the other classes at UNC, began to look around for stiffer opposition. The UNC team challenged the Wake Forest squad to a game which was scheduled during the State Fair in Raleigh on October 18, 1888. Wake won the game 6-4 in what came to be acknowledged as the first intercollegiate football game in the history of the state of North Carolina.

Later that same fall, Carolina challenged Trinity (now Duke) to a Thanksgiving Day contest in Raleigh that drew a crowd of 600 for a 16-0 Trinity triumph. One member of that 1888 UNC team was John Motley Morehead, who went on to great fame as the founder of Union Carbide and who endowed the Morehead Scholarship program and several buildings on the Carolina campus.

That first Carolina team's results may not have been what was expected, but the leaders of the '88 team did get the ball rolling. In Carolina's first 102 seasons of football competition, the Tar Heels have compiled a record of 538-392-54, a winning percentage of .572. Carolina has played in 17 bowl games in its history and won five Southern Conference championships and five Atlantic Coast Conference titles.

Twenty-three Tar Heel players have been honored as first-team All-Americans on 28 occasions. Carolina had 32 All-Southern Conference selections when it played in that league until 1952 and since joining the ACC in 1953, has had 138 first-team All-ACC choices.

Just a few months after the loss to Trinity in 1888, UNC acquired the services of Hector Cowan, former great tackle and captain at Princeton, to help teach the UNC players the fundamentals of the game. Cowan arrived in February 1889 and drilled the Tar Heel troops on the existing athletic field, located on the current site of Bynum Hall.

The 1889 team played two games in the spring and two in the fall. On March 1, 1889, Carolina earned its first win in football as it routed Wake Forest 33-0 before a crowd of 500 in Raleigh. UNC went on to post a 2-2 record that year and earn a share of the state championship with Trinity and Wake Forest.

After a Carolina player suffered a broken collarbone that fall, the University faculty voted to discontinue the sport of football in January 1890 and Carolina did not compete at all the following fall. That is one of only three years since the start of football in 1888 in which the Tar Heels have not fielded a team; play was also suspended during World War I in 1917 and 1918.

The following year, students petitioned to have football restored at UNC and the ban was lifted with the help of Professors Horace Williams, F.P. Venable and Eban Alexander. At this time, athletic control passed from the hands of students to the faculty, a situation that still exists today.

Football returned to UNC that fall with W.P. Graves as coach and UNC compiling an 0-2 record.

The following year, 1892, is considered by most to be the first year of real football at UNC with a representative six-game schedule being played. That squad also earned the distinction of being UNC's first good team. Mike Hoke acted as team captain and the entire squad consisted of just 15 players, with UNC using only one substitute the entire season. The team opened the year with a 40-0 rout of Richmond and after a loss to Virginia in the next game, it went on to win its last four. Carolina's 5-1 mark was the best record in the South that year. That season also marked the first year in which University teams were referred to as "Carolina," with the appellations "University" and "Chapel Hill" being dropped from the popular vernacular.

A meeting in February 1893 signalled the start of the formation of what would become the Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association in later years. Ten schools, including UNC, were involved in the meeting and Dr. Venable was voted temporary chairman of the group. Later that same year, on May 12, the UNC athletic association approved the awarding of varsity letters for the first time.

Although the 1893 team managed only a 3-4 record, it did have the distinction of being the first Southern team to play in New York City as Carolina lost a 3-40 decision to Lehigh on November 25, 1893.

A year later, Carolina brought in Vernon K. Irvine from Princeton as coach and he led Carolina to a 6-3 mark, attesting to the fact that experienced coaching benefitted the team's performance. That UNC team finished second in the South and won the state championship. It was also the first to be forced to stage closed practices because of problems with crowd control at open sessions.

In 1895, T.C. "Doggie" Trenchard came from Princeton to coach the Tar Heels and he led UNC to an outstanding 7-1-1 season marred only by a loss to Virginia. A crowd of 12,000 was on hand for the meeting between the Tar Heels and the Cavaliers in Richmond, which UVa won 6-0. Twice during the game spectators ran onto the field to block the path of Tar Heel runners who had broken into the clear on apparent touchdown runs.

Carolina began to gain some consistency in the sport of football with the arrival of Will A. Reynolds of Princeton as head coach in 1897. Reynolds produced four winning Carolina teams in his four-year tenure at Chapel Hill. His first squad finished at 7-3 and was followed in 1898 by what is still the only unbeaten, untied team in school history. That 1898 squad was a perfect 9-0 and outscored its opponents by an amazing 201-8. The team finished the season by beating Virginia for the first time in six years, 6-2, in Richmond.

Reynolds' final two teams also posted respectable records, going 7-3-1 in 1889 and 4-1-3 in 1900.

Reynolds yielded the coaching reins after the 1900 season to Charles Jenkins, who led UNC to seven straight wins prior to a pair of season-ending losses in 1901. Carolina beat all of its state opponents to win its seventh state championship since 1892. In 1901, letters began to be awarded by an advisory committee of the athletic association. Previously, anyone who played had lettered.

The next 11 seasons saw Carolina with nine different head coaches. The 1905

Carolina squad was coached by William Warner, the brother of the famed "Pop" Warner.

Trenchard returned as Carolina's coach in 1913 for a three-year run. His 1914 squad was outstanding. Sixty men reported for the team and UNC went on to win its first 10 before losing to Virginia 20-3 before a record crowd of 15,000 in Richmond. That UNC team outscored its opponents 359-42 and became the first team in the South to display players' numbers on their jerseys.

Trenchard's 1915 squad did not fare as well, finishing the campaign with a 4-3-1 mark. Seven regulars missed the VMI game and the reserves struggled, fumbling 16 times en route to a 3-3 tie. That same year, Trenchard started the first athletic training table at UNC in his home, feeding the 56 squad members on a daily basis.

Carl Snaveley gets a victory ride following Carolina's 34-7 win over Texas in the 1948 season opener.

The year 1916 found the Tar Heels in a new home as Carolina began to play its games at Emerson Stadium, the site of the current Davis Library. Freshmen were banned from varsity participation for the first time and the team went 5-4 and won its sixth successive state championship.

All of the members of the 1916 squad had entered the military service in World War I by the following fall and varsity football was dropped for the second time in UNC history, this time for a two-year hiatus.

Carolina made its full-fledged return to the gridiron in 1919, going 4-3-1 under Coach Thomas J. Coleman. Carolina twice broke its single game home attendance record that year as it won the state championship. The Tar Heels defeated N.C. State, 13-12, before a crowd of 7,500 and then topped that with 9,000 for a 6-0 win over Virginia. That game marked the first time the Cavaliers had ever played in Chapel Hill.

The Fetzers Take Charge and a Conference Takes Shape

The 1920 campaign was a dismal one as UNC went 2-6 and scored only 16 points in eight games. But a more positive era in North Carolina football began a year later with the hiring of Bill and Bob Fetzer as co-head coaches. Their hiring also marked a change in athletic policy at UNC as the Fetzers were assured of long-term positions instead of the usual one-year contracts. Carolina went 5-2-2 under the Fetzers in 1921 and 10,000 filled Emerson Field for Carolina's 7-3 win over Virginia.

That year also marked the first for UNC's participation in the Southern Intercollegiate Conference, the official name for what has come to be known today simply as the Southern Conference. At a February 25, 1921 meeting in Atlanta, the SIC was formed with a 16-school membership. The conference agreed to bans on post-season play, freshman eligibility and athletic training tables, required eligibility forms for players and disallowed organized practice before September 10.

the league crown in 1922 and winning it outright in 1934, 1937, 1946 and 1949.

The Fetzers' greatest team was probably the 1922 edition which posted an impressive 9-1 mark, won the South Atlantic championship and tied for the Southern Conference crown. That team lost only to Yale, 18-0, and had three touchdowns called back by penalties in the game. The squad was ranked 11th in the nation by I.B. Thomas in the January 1923 issue of Intercollegiate Athletics and played before a record 68,500 fans during the course of the campaign.

The 1923 team was ravaged by injuries but nevertheless limped to a 5-3-1 record and a state championship for a second straight year. A year later, the Tar Heels were only 4-5 but they did play before their largest crowd to that date, 25,000 at New Haven's Yale Bowl in a 27-0 loss to the Bulldogs.

The 1925 season would prove to be the Fetzers' last as co-coaches. The Tar Heels responded with an excellent season, going 7-1-1 and winning the state championship. The only loss came at the hands of Wake Forest. A crowd of 16,000 jammed Emerson Field (capacity 2,400) to see the Heels and Virginia play to a 3-3 tie in the season finale.

The following year began a new era in Carolina football as Chuck Collins came on the scene as head coach. He had the longest tenure (eight years) of the early Carolina coaches. Collins, who was one of the seven mules in the offensive line for Notre Dame's famed Four Horsemen, served as Carolina's coach from 1926 through 1933.

The 1926 season also brought onto the scene the infamous Kay Kyser, later to be a renowned Big Band leader and radio and motion pictures personality, as head cheerleader and his Cheerios as the first major organized cheer block at Carolina.

Majestic Kenan

New stadium plans were also in the works in 1926. Carolina alumni in Durham and Chapel Hill met on May 24, 1926 to form the Durham Stadium Committee. On November 13 of that same year, William Rand Kenan, a New York City engineer and 1893 UNC football letterman, gave the University a gift of $275,000 to help build the stadium.

The first game was played in Kenan Stadium on November 12, 1927 with UNC beating Davidson 27-0 before a crowd of 9,000 fans. The following Saturday, UNC beat two-touchdown favorite Duke 18-0 in Durham. The stadium was officially dedicated on Thanksgiving Day 1927 with 28,000 attending as Carolina edged Virginia 14-13. John Sprunt Hill officially made the presentation of the stadium to Governor A.W. McLean who accepted on behalf of the University and state.

Carolina won its first state championship since 1925 during the 1928 season. Its 5-3-2 record that year included a 65-0 win over Wake Forest in the season opener. That still stands as the largest margin of victory in UNC history. President Calvin Coolidge attended the Carolina-Virginia game in Charlottesville that year and saw the Tar Heels pull out a 24-20 win. It was the first time a U.S. president had ever attended a game in the South.

Collins' first great team was the 1929 edition which went 9-1 and outscored its opponents 346-60. The only loss of the year came to Georgia and only Southern California scored more points during the course of the season. Ray Farris was the captain of that UNC team and was a unanimous All-Southern Conference choice at guard. Carolina was called the "Team of a Million Backs" and drew a record attendance of 139,500.

The 1931 team coached by Collins went 4-3-3 and won the state championship. The Carolina-Duke game went big time for the first time that year as a crowd of 20,000 in Durham watched the two teams play to their second straight scoreless tie. Johnny Branch, a great all-purpose runner, was the star of that squad.

"King Carl" Reigns

The quiet Dutchman, Carl Snavely, came to Chapel Hill in 1934 from Bucknell to take over the coaching reins of the Tar Heels. It would be the first of two tours of duty for Snavely as head coach. The 1934 team went 7-1-1 and was led by George Barclay, UNC's first All-America in football, at guard. Carolina lost only to Tennessee and it tied N.C. State that season. The Carolina-Duke game drew state and Kenan record crowds as the Tar Heels eked out a 7-0 victory.

The 1935 team also proved to be a great one as Snavely led his squad to an 8-1 record. Carolina won its first seven of the season and there was talk that the Tar Heels were headed to the Rose Bowl. But arch-rival Duke made sure that didn't happen on Saturday, November 16 in Durham as the Blue Devils played an errorless game, winning 25-0. That game drew a new Southern attendance record of 47,000 and in total 149,500 saw UNC play during the course of the year, another record. After losing to Duke, UNC came back to pummel Virginia 61-0 and ended up eighth in the final Associated Press rankings. Ace passer Don Jackson was named a second-team All-America.

Ray Wolf came to Carolina in 1936 to coach after Snavely had gone on to Cornell. Wolf had six successful seasons at UNC, producing winning teams the first five. The 1936 team went 8-2 and lost only to Tulane and Duke. That squad was led by end Andy Bershak, who was a second-team All-America in 1936 and a first teamer a year later. Wolf's teams continued their success, going 7-1-1, 6-2-1, 8-1-1 and 6-4 in subsequent years. Some of Wolf's outstanding players were Jim Lalanne, Paul Severin and George Stirnweiss.

The World War II years were an unsettled time in Carolina athletic history. From 1942 through 1944, UNC had three different head coaches who put makeshift teams through the paces against adjusted schedules which included some military teams. Jim Tatum, an outstanding player at Carolina in the 1930s, coached the 1942 unit. He would return for another coaching tenure later.

Snavely returned to Chapel Hill in 1945 and during the next five years produced some of the best teams in Carolina football history. His 1948 team finished third in the AP poll, the highest final ranking ever for the Tar Heels.

An Omaha, Neb. native, Snavely was a 1915 alumnus of Lebanon Valley College.

Mike Voight became the first Tar Heel to rush for 1,000 yards three times and was the ACC Player of the Year in 1975 and 1976.

He had coached Carolina teams in 1934 and 1935 to a 15-2-1 record and returned in 1945 after nine years at Cornell. In fact, at Cornell in 1940, Snavely was involved in an infamous contest which would be recounted repeatedly some 50 years after the fact. Snavely was the coach who, upon learning it had taken a fifth down for his Big Red to defeat Dartmouth, wired the opposing coach Red Blaik and relinquished the victory.

Choo Choo and Championships

Snavely's 1945 team did well, finishing 5-5 after winning only one game the previous season. Then the incomparable Charlie Justice arrived a year later, and with his compatriots, UNC went to three major bowl games and won two Southern Conference titles in the period from 1946-49.

Snavely's 1946 team was 8-2-1, won the Southern Conference championship and lost to Georgia, 20-10, in the Sugar Bowl. The 1947 team was probably the best of the four. It finished 8-2, winning its last seven, but went uninvited in the post-season. The 1948 unit had only a regular-season tie with William & Mary to mar its record. It went on to lose to Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl. Finally, the 1949 team was unbeaten in the conference and finished 7-4 overall, losing to Rice in the Cotton Bowl.

Justice was not the only star of those Snavely teams. Art Weiner and Ken Powell were tremendous ends on those teams and Hosea Rodgers was a great rugged fullback of the era.

But Justice was the main attraction unquestionably. He ran and passed for over 4,000 yards in his four-year career and he averaged over 42 yards a punt. He had only two punts blocked in his career and both of those were in the first game of his freshman year. When he was done after the 1949 season, Justice had established NCAA records in total offense and punting and was considered the greatest punter of all time.

As a triple-threat All-America halfback, Justice captured the imagination and fancy of the football fan as no one else ever had. He was idolized and the attention he received from the fans and the media was almost unheard of in that time.

A native of Asheville, he had served in the Navy in World War II and was already 26 years old by the time of his senior year in 1949. He capped his amazing career by being named the Most Valuable Player in the 1950 College All-Star Game in Chicago.

The '50s, '60s and the ACC

The departure of Justice from campus coincided with a 20-year drought in UNC's football fortunes. Snavely, despite all his earlier successes, could not produce a winning team after the Justice era. George Barclay, Carolina's first All-America player back in 1934, was brought in as head coach, but he encountered little success in his three years of running the program. That's when Carolina successfully lured Jim Tatum back to the fold. Tatum was a great UNC player in the 1930s and had coached the Tar Heels during World War II in 1942. He had since been at Maryland where he led the Terrapins to the national championship in 1953.

Tatum's first season back in Chapel Hill, in 1956, was rather undistinguished. The Tar Heels went 2-7-1 with victories over Virginia and Maryland. In 1957, in Tatum's first return trip to College Park where he had enjoyed so much success, the Carolina-Maryland game was marked by the appearance of Queen Elizabeth II. The queen and her entourage watched the Terrapins beat the Tar Heels 21-7. But that 1957 team finished 6-4 as did the 1958 team under Tatum's steady leadership.

It appeared Carolina had the corner turned when Tatum died suddenly in the summer of 1959 from Rocky Mountain Spotted Fever. He was replaced by assistant Jim Hickey whose teams did not meet with a great deal of success in his eight seasons as head coach. Hickey produced only one winning record, that in 1963 when the Tar Heels finished 9-2 and shared their first Atlantic Coast Conference title. That team went on to post the school's first win in a bowl game, a 35-0 decision over Air Force in the Gator Bowl. That 1963 squad was led by the running of Ken Willard, the passing of Junior Edge and Gary Black and the pass receiving of Bob Lacey. Linebacker Chris Hanburger was a stalwart on defense for the Tar Heels.

Rebirth Under Dooley

After Hickey resigned after a 2-8 season in 1966, UNC looked to Bill Dooley to revitalize its football fortunes. The choice proved to be a wise one. Dooley's teams won 69, lost 53 and tied two in his 11-year tenure. ACC championships were won under Dooley in 1971, 1972 and 1977. Bowl trips became a regular feature - six in all during the Dooley years.

After three rebuilding seasons, Dooley's first good team was in 1970. It finished 8-4 and went on to play Arizona State in the Peach Bowl. Tailback Don McCauley, who had gained 1,092 yards rushing in 1969, returned for a 1,720-yard season in 1970. He was the first of UNC's 20 1,000-yard rushers. The Garden City, N.Y. native's

1,720 yards in 1970 broke what was then O.J. Simpson's single-season NCAA rushing standard.

Dooley's teams won back-to-back ACC titles in 1971 and 1972. The '71 team lost to Georgia 7-3 in the Gator Bowl in a matchup of coaching brothers, Vince Dooley being the head mentor of the Bulldogs. The 1972 team had an 11-1 record marred only by a loss at Ohio State. It won a thrilling 32-28 decision over Texas Tech in the Sun Bowl.

The mid-1970s brought more success as UNC made bowl appearances in 1974 (Sun), 1976 (Peach) and 1977 (Liberty). Sammy Johnson was a 1,000-yard rusher for Carolina in 1973 as was James Betterson in 1974. But the outstanding offensive player of this era was Mike Voight who gained over 1,000 yards in 1974, 1975 and 1976, including 1,407 yards in '76. Voight was named the ACC Player of the Year in both 1975 and '76 for his efforts.

The 1977 team would prove to be Dooley's last at UNC. It won the ACC title and earned a berth opposite Nebraska in the Liberty Bowl. A rugged defense led by All-America tackle Dee Hardison helped Carolina lead the nation in scoring defense that season. UNC allowed only 81 points in 11 regular-season games. The new offensive star was a freshman tailback named Amos Lawrence, who rushed for 1,211 yards and was named ACC Rookie of the Year.

Headline Acts: Famous Amos, LT and KB

Dooley resigned in January 1978 to accept the dual role of head football coach and athletic director at Virginia Tech. At that time, Carolina turned to the "Cradle of Coaches" at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio, to find its new head coach, Dick Crum.

Crum had just completed an outstanding four-year run at Miami. His 10 years as head coach at UNC was equally brilliant. The winningest coach in Tar Heel history, he compiled a 72-41-3 ledger at the UNC helm. He took six of his 10 UNC teams to bowl games, winning on four occasions, and the 1980 squad won the ACC championship.

After a 5-6 record in 1978, Crum's teams from 1979 through 1983 went to five successive bowls and won 45 games. UNC posted four consecutive bowl wins over national football powers, beating Michigan in the 1979 Gator Bowl, Texas in the 1980 Bluebonnet Bowl, Arkansas in the 1981 Gator Bowl and Texas again in the 1982 Sun Bowl.

In 1980 and 1981, UNC became the first team in league history to finish in the Top 10 of both wire service polls in successive years. The 1980 team was 11-1 and ranked ninth by United Press International and 10th by Associated Press. The 1981 unit was 10-2 and rated eighth by UPI and ninth by AP. Two more Carolina teams coached by Crum would later go to Bowl games, the 1983 team to the Peach Bowl to face Florida State and the 1986 corps to the Aloha Bowl for a meeting with Arizona.

There was a plethora of outstanding players at Carolina during the Crum era and the Tar Heel football record book was being constantly updated. In 1980, linebacker Lawrence Taylor was named the ACC Player of the Year and he has gone on to All-Pro status with the New York Giants. That season, Taylor led what was one of the greatest defenses in ACC history. Other great defensive players at UNC included linebacker Buddy Curry, defensive tackle Donnell Thompson, linebacker Darrell Nicholson, defensive back Steve Streater, defensive tackle William Fuller and outside linebacker Mike Wilcher. All of those players were All-ACC selections and several went on to have distinguished pro careers. Fuller made four first-team All-America squads in 1983.

for their rugged defense, Carolina also excelled offensively, leading the ACC in total offense four times in the 1980s and ranking sixth nationally in 1986.

There were several reasons behind the offensive fireworks. First, there was a succession of outstanding running backs. Five different players gained 1,000 or more yards rushing in a season a total of 10 times under Crum's tutelage. After his brilliant freshman year, Lawrence went on to gain 1,000 yards three more times. He and Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett are the only two runners in college football history to gain 1,000 yards rushing in each of their four seasons. Kelvin Bryant overcame an injury-marred career to gain 1,000 yards on three occasions. Ethan Horton turned the trick twice in his career and both Tyrone Anthony and Derrick Fenner had one 1,000-yard rushing season each.

A second reason behind UNC's offensive success was the presence of some outstanding offensive linemen in the '80s, four of whom gained first-team All-America status - guard Ron Wooten in 1980, guard David Drechsler in 1981 and '82, tackle Brian Blados in 1983 and tackle Harris Barton in 1986.

Carolina's offense also became more diversified in the Crum era and the passing section of the Carolina record book was basically rewritten at that time by a string of accomplished starters at quarterback - Matt Kupec, Rod Elkins, Scott Stankavage, Kevin Anthony and Mark Maye.

Enter Mack Brown

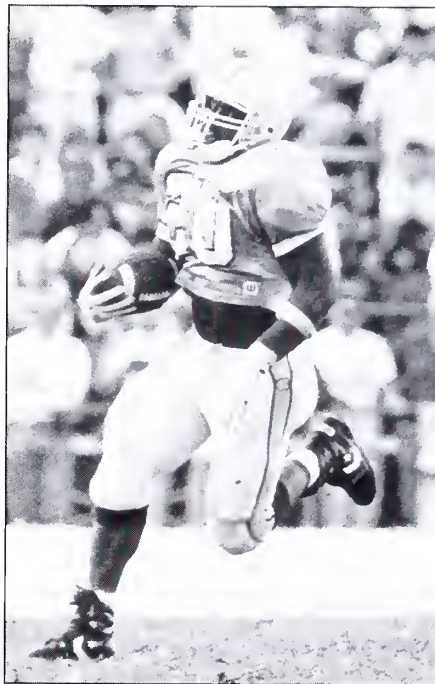

At the conclusion of the 1987 season, Crum resigned to return home to his native Ohio. Carolina conducted a national search to find a successor to lead the Tar Heels into their second century. The unanimous choice of the search committee was Mack Brown, who came to Carolina after head coaching stops at Appalachian State and Tulane. He is considered nationally as one of the finest young minds in the game, a brilliant motivator and communicator.

Caught with slim material, Brown's first two teams struggled. However, there were some bright individual stars for Carolina in that period, including center Jeff Garnica. He was a third-team All-America and the Jacobs Blocking Trophy recipient in 1988 as the best offensive lineman in the ACC. Offensive guard Pat Crowley became only the second offensive lineman in ACC history to be named All-ACC in three successive years when he accomplished that feat in 1989.

The blocking of those two players was instrumental in tailback Kennard Martin leading the ACC in rushing in 1988 with 1,146 yards. Martin thus became the 19th runner in Tar Heel history to gain 1,000 yards in a season.

The Tar Heels turned things around in 1990, however, and put together a solid 6-4-1 record and even returned to the Top 25 at one point in the season. Inside linebacker Dwight Hollier led the ACC in tackles for the second consecutive season and rookie tailback Natrone Means capped a stellar second half of the season with a 256-yard, three-touchdown effort vs. Duke. Along the way, Carolina tied Georgia Tech 13-13; the stalemate proved to be the only blemish on the Yellow Jackets' otherwise-perfect national championship ledger.

In 1991, Means became the 11th Tar Heel to rush for more than 1,000 yards for an NCAA-record 20th time. Means ran for 1,030 yards and topped the 1,000-yard plateau on an electrifying, 68-yard scamper in the Tar Heels' 47-14 rout over Duke. Means, inside linebacker Tommy Thigpen and offensive guard Brian Bollinger each were first-team All-ACC selections.

Natrone Means rushed for 1,030 yards in 1991, capped by this 68-yard run vs. Duke, and added a 1,195-yard campaign in 1992 to extend the Tar Heels' NCAA record to 21 1,000-yard rushing seasons.

Last season was another filled with great players, spectacular plays and electrifying memories. The Tar Heels won nine games, including a 21-17 win over Mississippi State in the Peach Bowl, and finished the season ranked in the Top 20 in both major polls.

Means extended UNC's NCAA record as he rushed for 1,195 yards, the 21st 1,000-yard rushing season in Carolina history. Means had a 249-yard day at Maryland and once again dramatically crashed the 1,000-yard club with a 76-yard touchdown scamper against the Terrapins.

The Tar Heels defeated Top 20 opposition on consecutive weekends in mid-season, the first time in the program's history the team accomplished that feat.

Carolina accepted a bid to play in the Peach Bowl and provided one of the most entertaining postseason games of the season. Trailing by two touchdowns in the third quarter, UNC rallied for a 21-17 win. Means, a repeat first-team All-ACC selection, gained 128 yards and was named the game's Offensive MVP. Strong safety Bracey Walker tied the game when he blocked a punt, his second of the game, and returned it 41 yards for a score.

Walker, the game's Defensive MVP, set up the game-winning touchdown when he forced an interception with a jarring fourth-quarter hit. Cornerback Cliff Baskerville picked the loose ball out of the air and raced 44 yards for the winning touchdown.

This essay on Carolina's gridiron history was originally authored by Dave Lobse, Associate Sports Information Director.

1947 SUGAR BOWL

January 1, 1947

Georgia20

North Carolina10

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—The 1947 Sugar Bowl, which matched Carolina against Georgia, is one of the most famous Tar Heel games of the Charlie "Choo Choo" Justice years and produced one of the most controversial plays in bowl history.

Carolina was leading 7-0 in the third period when Bulldog defensive right end Joe Terreshinski intercepted a Tar Heel pass at the Georgia 24-yard line. He then flipped a lateral to Dick McPhee who raced 52 yards to the Carolina 14.

The Tar Heels argued the lateral was a forward one and the play should have been called back. However, the officials ruled differently. Georgia went on to score the tying touchdown on a quarterback sneak by Johnny Rauch.

Carolina's lone touchdown came on a Walt Pupa two-yard run following an interception by Tar Heel guard Bob Mitten.

The Tar Heels' last lead at 10-7 came on a Bob Cox field goal.

The Georgia game-winner came on a 67-yard touchdown pass from Trippi to Dan Edwards less than three minutes after the UNC field goal.

North Carolina6

NEW ORLEANS, LA.—The Tar Heels returned to the Sugar Bowl in 1949 and were defeated 14-6 by the University of Oklahoma, representing the Big Seven Conference. A record crowd of 85,000 turned out to see the Charlie Justice-led Tar Heels battle Bud Wilkinson's Sooners.

Carolina threatened early, advancing via a Justice to Art Weiner 23-yard pass play to the OU 15. Justice's next pass, however, was intercepted by linebacker Myrle Greathouse who rumbled 59 yards to the Carolina 13. Sooners' quarterback Jack Mitchell scored the first points of the day on a two-yard run.

The Heels capitalized on an OU fumble later in the first quarter and Justice marched the team down to the two, from where Hosea Rodgers scored. The conversion was wide right.

Carolina advanced to the OU eight late in the first half, but could not score.

The Sooners regained the lead for good in the third quarter. Quarterback Darrell Royal connected for 37 yards with Frankie Anderson and two plays later, Lindell Pearson ran it in from eight yards out.

Justice was brilliant, rushing for 84 yards and passing for another 57.

DALLAS, TEXAS—Charlie Justice had another great day in the 1950 Cotton Bowl, but it just wasn't enough as the Tar Heels fell to fifth-ranked Rice, 27-13. The Owls had a 9-1-0 record, while Carolina came in at 7-3 and was ranked 16th.

Rice and Carolina played to a scoreless draw in the opening quarter, but Rice opened the scoring in the second quarter when quarterback Tobin Rote hooked up with Billy Burkhalter for a 44-yard touchdown. Bobby Lantrip's three-yard run built a 14-0 halftime lead, and once the third quarter got underway, the Owls kept right on rolling.

On its second possession of the second half, Rice traveled 77 yards in six plays, capped by Rote's 17-yard scoring pass to

"Froggie" Williams. Burkhalter made it 27-0 with a 12-yard fourth quarter score.

The Tar Heels got two touchdowns in the final eight minutes. Justice hit Paul Rizzo for a two-yard touchdown pass and then Rizzo ran it in from two yards.

Justice managed 59 yards rushing and another 63 in the air, while Art Weiner led the Tar Heels with five receptions for 41 yards. Billy Hayes topped the UNC rushing attack with 107 yards on 19 carries.

The 1950 Cotton Bowl marked the end of the "Choo Choo" Justice era that began in 1946. The Tar Heels went 32-9-2 in that time and played in three major bowl games.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA.-It had been 13 years since Charlie Justice had led Carolina to the 1950 Cotton Bowl, so when the Tar Heels got a chance to play in the 1963 Gator Bowl, they made the most of it. The Tar Heels walloped the Air Force, 35-0.

Ken Willard was the hero of the day. He ran for 94 yards on 18 carries and scored the first touchdown which keyed the runaway victory. When Willard wasn't running in this rout, he did his share of the offensive blocking.

Joe Robinson scored on a five-yard pass and also caught a two-yard conversion to give the Tar Heels a 20-0 lead at intermission.

Coach Jim Hickey's Tar Heels had 23 first downs to the Academy's 14, and piled up 370 yards in total offense compared to 260 for the Falcons.

Gary Black completed all six of his passes for 71 yards and one touchdown and he rushed for another score. Junior Edge was good on five of his nine throws for 42 yards.

Carolina finished the season 9-2, its best record in Hickey's eight years at the helm.

ATLANTA-The Tar Heels exploded for 26 second quarter points but couldn't hold off Arizona State in the final two quarters as the Sun Devils rallied for an exciting 48-26 victory before 52,126 fans at Grant Field.

Carolina spotted unbeaten ASU 14 points on a pair of touchdowns runs, from eight and 33 yards, by Bob Thomas.

Don McCauley got the Tar Heels on the scoreboard with a one-yard plunge set up by a long pass from Paul Miller to Ricky Lanier. ASU scored on its next series, though, on a 67-yard TD catch by J.D. Hill.

Carolina then scored the final three touchdowns of the first half to go into the intermission with a 26-21 lead. First, Miller passed 37 yards for a score to Tony Blanchard. Then McCauley rushed in from 17 yards out. And finally, the All-America McCauley scored again from four yards.

Arizona State dominated a second half which was played in a heavy Atlanta snowstorm and without Miller, who left with an injury.

In his final game as a Tar Heel, McCauley gained 143 yards on 36 carries.

Carolina sensation Don McCauley (23) gained 143 yards and scored three touchdowns in his final collegiate game, but Arizona State rallied for a 48-26 win over the Tar Heels in the 1970 Peach Bowl.

JACKSONVILLE, FLA.-For the first time since 1950, the Tar Heels were playing in a bowl game for the second consecutive season. This time, the Tar Heels would fall, 7-3, to the Georgia Bulldogs.

The game produced a bowl first - brothers coaching against each other. Bill Dooley led the Tar Heels and older brother Vince coached the 'Dawgs.

The game was a defensive struggle with all the points coming in the third quarter.

In the opening half, Carolina had the best chance as linebacker Jimmy Webster, voted the Tar Heels' MVP this day, blocked a punt out of bounds at the Georgia 24. A fumble, though, denied Carolina any points.

A pair of long runs by Lewis Jolley brought the Tar Heels down to the Georgia 16 on UNC's first possession of the second half. But a procedure penalty forced the Heels to settle for a 35-yard field goal by Ken Craven.

A 31-yard pass play from Andy Johnson to Roy Hunnicutt set up the Georgia touchdown. Jimmy Poulos, on the very next play following Hunnicutt's catch, took it in for a score from 25 yards. Poulos rushed for 161 yards on the afternoon and was named the Georgia MVP.

EL PASO, TEXAS-Carolina capped an 11-1 season in the 1972 Sun Bowl by defeating Texas Tech, 32-28. Quarterback Nick Vidnovic brought the Tar Heels from behind with a late scoring drive which he capped by tossing a 13-yard touchdown pass to wing-back Ted Leverenz.

That play, with a minute to go in the game, gave UNC a 30-28 lead. Carolina added two points moments later as Ronnie Robinson sacked quarterback Joe Barnes in the end zone.

The Tar Heels led 9-0 in the second quarter on a field goal by Ellis Alexander and touchdown run by Dick Oliver. The Red Raiders rallied, however, for the next 21 points and a 21-9 lead. Vidnovic hit Leverenz for a 62-yard touchdown and Billy Hite carried it in from three yards to reestablish a 24-21 Carolina lead. Tech gained the advantage, 28-24, with 7:41 to play in the game.

Vidnovic completed 14 of 26 passes for 215 yards and two touchdowns. Ike Oglesby rushed for 71 yards and Sammy Johnson added 52.

The Red Raiders had a touchdown called back in the second quarter. All-America guard Donald Rives ran a blocked punt back for an apparent score, but Tech was flagged for unsportsmanlike conduct and the points were nullified.

EL PASO, TEXAS-Despite mounting 402 yards in total offense, the Tar Heels dropped a 26-24 decision to Mississippi State in a record-setting Sun Bowl.

Terry Vitrano's two-yard touchdown with 3:41 remaining was the game-winner. That capped a 16-play, 80-yard drive which lasted nearly seven minutes.

Carolina had taken a 24-20 lead with 10:26 to play on an Ellis Alexander field goal.

The Bulldogs totaled a Sun Bowl record 499 yards in total offense-455 of those yards came on the ground via the veer offense. Walter Packer rushed for 189 yards, Vitrano added 164 and quarterback Rocky Felker gained another 69.

The Tar Heels also got big ground gains from Mike Voight and James Betterson. Voight picked up 90 yards on 17 carries and Betterson chipped in with 84 on 17 rushes. But Voight was stopped a yard shy of a first down on Carolina's last offensive play of the game.

Betterson had two rushing scores and Chris Kupec, who led the nation in pass completion percentage, connected with Jimmy Jerome for 29 yards and a touchdown.

1976 PEACH BOWL December 31, 1976 Kentucky21 North Carolina0

ATLANTA-Playing without an injured Mike Voight, the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year, the Tar Heels managed just five first downs and 108 yards total offense in a 21-0 loss to Kentucky.

Voight, who had rushed for 1,407 yards, injured his ankle in practice two days before the game when he stepped in hole going out on a pass play. Ironically, Voight had caught just four passes the entire season.

The teams battled to a tie at the half, but Carolina thought it had put up points in the first quarter. On the Tar Heels' opening drive, Matt Kupec hit split end Walker Lee with a 50-yard touchdown pass, but officials ruled the Tar Heels offside and the play came back.

Early in the third quarter, Kentucky defensive end Bud Diehl knocked the ball from Kupec's grasp and the 'Cats recovered at the UNC 21. That set up the first of three rushing touchdowns by fullback Rod Stewart.

Stewart, who finished with 104 yards and the game's MVP trophy, added fourth quarter scores from 13 and three yards.

Subbing for Voight, freshman Doug Paschal led the Tar Heels with 41 yards rushing.

MEMPHIS, TENN.-Thirteenth-ranked Nebraska scored two fourth quarter touchdowns and rallied for a 21-17 victory over 13th-rated North Carolina.

Reserve quarterback Randy Garcia came off the Cornhuskers' bench in the final period to toss a pair of touchdown passes, including a 33-yard game-winner to Tim Smith with 3:16 left in the game. That came six plays after Nebraska recovered a fumble at the UNC 43.

Tar Heel quarterback Matt Kupec, voted the game's Most Valuable Player despite the loss, had led the Tar Heels to a 17-7 lead in the third quarter. Kupec, who connected on seven of his 11 passes, threw touchdown passes to Bobby Williams and Bob Loomis. Tom Biddle added Carolina's final points with 4:17 left in the third on a Liberty Bowl record 47-yard field goal.

Carolina led the nation in scoring defense in 1977, allowing just 7.4 points per game through the regular season. Nebraska was the only team to score more than 14 points against the Tar Heels all season.

The 1977 Liberty Bowl would prove to be

pair of Jeff Hayes field goal attempts. Michigan did score first following a turnover and added a 53-yard touchdown reception by Anthony Carter to move ahead 9-0.

Doug Paschal put the Heels on the board with a two-yard touchdown. Early in the third, Kupec engineered a 16-play, 97-yard touchdown drive which culminated in a 12-yard pass to Phil Farris. Hayes added a 32-yard field goal in the fourth for a 17-9 UNC lead.

Michigan, thwarted once already in the fourth when Lawrence Taylor scooped up a loose ball, did manage another Carter touchdown with 1:28 left, but the two-point conversion pass to Carter fell short.

Kupec and Lawrence were named co-Most Valuable Players.

HOUSTON, TEXAS—Amos Lawrence rushed for 104 yards and one touchdown and the Tar Heel defense allowed just two first downs and 36 total yards in the second half as Carolina played error-free football to defeat Texas, 16-7 in the Bluebonnet Bowl.

Lawrence, the game's Most Valuable Offensive Player, scampered 59 yards for a touchdown on the Tar Heels' fourth play from scrimmage for a 7-0 lead. Following a Texas touchdown in the second quarter by Mike Luck, Carolina regained the advantage for good on a one-yard run by Kelvin Bryant.

Jeff Hayes converted a fumbled punt snap by the Longhorns into a 31-yard field goal with 2:03 to play in the third quarter.

The defense, which allowed 224 yards and 11 Texas first downs in the opening half, dominated the second 30 minutes. UNC safety Steve Streater was named the defensive MVP as he had an interception, recovered a fumble and also boomed a 63-yard punt, longest in Bluebonnet Bowl history.

Carolina's 11-1 record matched the best season in UNC history and the Tar Heels finished ranked eighth in the nation by the Associated Press and ninth by United Press International.

Arkansas.....27

JACKSONVILLE, FLA.—Kelvin Bryant rushed for 148 yards and Ethan Horton added 144 to lead the Tar Heels to a 31-27 victory over Arkansas in the Gator Bowl.

Bryant and Horton shared Most Valuable Player honors, but it was a key defensive stop by seldom-used freshman Ronnie Snipes which saved the night for Carolina.

After building a 31-10 lead midway through the fourth quarter, Carolina watched as Arkansas rallied for two touchdowns and had the ball again inside Tar Heel territory with less than a minute to play. But on third down, Snipes, who had played just two previous downs in the contest, sacked quarterback Brad Taylor for a 17-yard loss.

The game was deadlocked at 10-10 at the half, but Carolina came right out to open third quarter and put together a 13-play, 85-yard drive which was capped by Horton's one-yard scoring run.

UNC quarterback Rod Elkins scored on a one-yard sneak on the Tar Heels' next drive. He was set up by a 21-yard run by Horton and a 13-yard scamper by Bryant.

Horton then churned out 42 yards on six plays and went in from four yards out to give the Heels a 31-10 lead with 7:29 to play in the game.

The Razorbacks scored with 5:05 to play, recovered an onside kick and scored again with 2:44 left. UNC punter Jeff Hayes took an intentional safety with 1:44 to play. That gave the ball back to Arkansas and set up Snipes' defensive gem.

Carolina closed the season with a 10-2 record and became the first team in Atlantic Coast Conference history to finish in the Top 10 of both wire services in successive years. Carolina finished the year rated eighth by United Press International and ninth by Associated Press.

EL PASO, TEXAS-North Carolina scored the final 23 points of the game in the final quarter and held seventh-ranked Texas to 48 total yards in the second half as the Tar Heels won their fourth consecutive bowl game, 26-10.

Ethan Horton was the offensive star of the game, rushing for 119 yards in the second half. He replaced injured starter Kelvin Bryant, who totaled 45 yards before leaving the game with an injured ankle.

Trailing 10-3 after three quarters, the Tar Heels vaulted into the lead via three consecutive field goals. Sophomore walk-on Rob Rogers, who had connected from 53 yards in the second quarter, hit a 47-yard field goal with 14:51 to play to narrow the Texas lead to 10-6. Brooks Barwick was then successful from 24 and 42 yards, the latter putting the Heels into the lead at 12-10 with

Horton tacked on a three-yard touchdown with 2:17 remaining and Mike Wilcher fell on a loose ball in the end zone for another touchdown with 1:35 to play.

The defensive series of the game came five minutes into the third quarter with Texas leading 10-3 and with the ball, third-and-goal at the Carolina one. Two times, Texas fullback Ervin Davis tried to find the end zone, but twice he was hurled back. First, it was Wilcher who made the hit and then on fourth-and-goal, Greg Poole made the stop which changed the game.

The Christmas Day affair was played with intermittent snow flurries and a wind-chill reading that hovered around 12 degrees.

North Carolina3

ATLANTA-Florida State scored the first two times it had the ball and penalties and turnovers cost the Tar Heels dearly, as the Seminoles whipped Carolina 28-3 in a miserably cold and half empty Peach Bowl.

Played before only 25,648 fans in low-20 degree temperatures, the Peach Bowl loss snapped the Tar Heels' consecutive bowl game winning streak at four.

The Seminoles held the Tar Heels' running game to just 32 yards and three first downs. One thousand-yard rushers Ethan Horton and Tyrone Anthony were held to 30 and 27 yards, respectively.

Florida State quarterback Eric Thomas, making his first start, connected with Weegie Thompson on touchdown passes on the 'Noles' first two series.

Midway through the second quarter, the Tar Heels fumbled away a punt at their own 16 and FSU converted via a one-yard touchdown run.

Early in the fourth quarter, UNC quarterback Scott Stankavage hit tight end Arnold Franklin with a fourth down, 10-yard TD pass, but the play was called back due to a holding penalty. Carolina elected to kick for three and put up its only points of the day on Brooks Barwick's 36-yard field goal.

The loss was the fourth in the final five games of the season and ended a season in which Carolina had been ranked third in the nation.

1986 ALOHA BOWL December 27, 1986 Arizona 30 North Carolina 21

HONOLULU, HAWAII—The University of Arizona converted four North Carolina fumbles into 20 points and then held off a furious Tar Heel rally in the fourth quarter to win the 1986 Aloha Bowl, 30-21.

Carolina dug itself a 30-0 hole and did not put points on the board until freshman tailback Torin Dorn broke a 58-yard touchdown run with 2:19 left in the third quarter.

The Tar Heels fumbled five times in the first three periods and the Wildcats turned them into two touchdowns and two field goals.

Following Dorn's electrifying run, the Tar Heels quickly moved back within striking distance with two more touchdowns in the next seven minutes.

Mark Maye hit Randy Marriott with a six-yard touchdown pass after a Norris Davis interception and then followed a Davis punt block with a two-yard scoring run of his own to narrow the margin to 30-21 with 9:10 to play.

That, however, was as close as Carolina could challenge. A couple of dropped passes thwarted two more Carolina drives.

Dorn was the game's leading ground-gainer, rushing for 101 yards on only seven carries. Maye completed 17 of 34 passes for 171 yards; he hooked up with Eric Starr a game-high seven times for 53 yards. Carolina had 375 yards in total offense, compared to 342 for the Wildcats.

Justice Prevails on 1950 College All-Star Game

When Charlie Justice was selected to the 1950 College All-Star team to play against the Philadelphia Eagles, Justice was chosen only to return kickoffs. After the first return, however, Iowa coach Dr. Eddie Anderson instructed Justice and Eddie LeBaran to remain in at back and run the first series.

Justice ran wild, carrying the ball nine times for 133 yards and caught five passes. He had two long runs of 47 and 31 yards and caught a 60-yard touchdown pass from LeBaran. Justice was an overwhelming choice for Most Valuable Player honors. In making the MVP presentation, Wilfred Smith of the Chicago Tribune remarked, "No half-back has ever done better against the pro champions in the history of the game."

Talbott Outshines Big Stars at '66 Shrine Game

There were eight All-Americans on the East team at the 1966 East-West Shrine Game in San Francisco, but the man who shone the brightest was a Carolina quarterback who had led his Tar Heels to two wins the previous season — two-sport star Danny Talbott.

Talbott tied the East-West record for touchdown passes with three and led the East to a record 513 yards in a 45-22 victory. Talbott was a surprise starter, but quickly proved his worth by completing each of his initial 11 passes. Talbott connected on scoring strikes of 25 yards to Gene Washington (Michigan State), nine to Ken Last (Minnesota) and 14 to Jack Clancy (Michigan). Talbott was named the game's Most Valuable Player.

Carolina's Retired Numbers

The number 22 was almost as well known in this state as the athlete who wore it - CHARLIE "CHOO CHOO" JUSTICE. One of college football's all-time superstars, Justice was an All-America halfback at Carolina from 1946 to 1949. In fact, those years generally are known as simply "The Justice Era" in Chapel Hill.

Justice still holds numerous school records, including the career total offense mark. A tailback in Coach Carl Snavely's single-wing attack, he was a dynamic weapon as a runner, passer, punter and return specialist. Justice is a member of the College Football Hall of Fame. A lengthy story on his career appears on pages 176-77 of this brochure.

BILL "COTTON" SUTHERLAND was a blocking back on the first of the Justice teams in 1946. Although just a freshman from Laurinburg, he showed great promise as a player and was extremely popular with his teammates.

However, in the spring of 1947 he was killed in an automobile accident. Sutherland was named one of the Tar Heels' three captains for the 1947 season. Snavely was stunned by the loss of Sutherland's life and was instrumental in getting his number 46 retired.

Number 50 belonged to ART WEINER, a two-time All-America end in the late Forties. It appeared Weiner was meant for stardom when he scored a touchdown on his first collegiate play against Virginia Tech in 1946.

In 1947 Weiner caught 20 passes for 396 yards, averaging 19.8 yards a reception. It was an amazing total considering that the Tar Heels were a power-packed team, loaded with talent and featuring a number of outstanding ends.

However, Weiner's figures were to get even more impressive. He won All-America honors as a junior, catching 31 passes and finishing seventh in the nation in receiving. As a senior he led the country in pass-catching with 52 receptions. That total still stands as the school single-season record. His 106 career catches are the second most in Tar Heel history.

But, Weiner was more than just a great receiver. He was also a star defender in a time when players were expected to play both ways. In fact, his most famous play at Carolina probably was one he made on defense. He stormed through the Duke line to block a field goal attempt on the game's last play to preserve a 21-20 Tar Heel win over the Blue Devils in his senior year.

Weiner went on from Carolina to play in the Senior Bowl and was voted the game's outstanding lineman. He played briefly with the old New York Yankees, but a knee injury ended his career.

How great a player was Weiner?

Well, Wally Butts of Georgia, one of the game's winningest coaches and himself a former end, once called Weiner "the greatest pass-catching end I've ever seen."

In December 1992, Weiner joined college football's other immortals as he was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame.

Another end, ANDY BERSHAK, wore 59. Also a two-way performer, Bershak won All-America honors in 1939. He was a brilliant defensive player and a solid receiver, leading the team in catches as a senior.

Bershak also played basketball at Carolina. He wasn't a high scorer, but was a rugged rebounder and, as might be expected, an excellent defender.

However, Bershak believed there was more to life than just athletics. He tried to excel in every phase of student life and did so. He was an honor student and a member of the Order of the Golden Fleece and the Order of the Grail, the University's two most prestigious honorary societies. He also served as president of the Athletic Association.

A man with a great love for his alma mater, he stayed on at Carolina as a graduate assistant coach.

Unfortunately, his life came to a tragic, early end. He came down with Bright's Disease and died in 1943.

Carolina's first All-America, GEORGE BARCLAY, wore the number 99. He was a three-year starter at offensive guard and linebacker. At 5-11 and 185 pounds, he excelled as a downfield blocker and was a tenacious tackler.

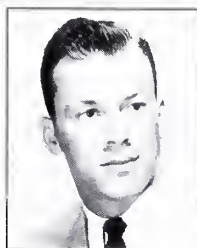

Barclay was a special thorn in the side of Virginia fans. In 1933 he intercepted a Cavalier pass and ran 35 yards for a touchdown as the Tar Heels scored a 14-0 victory. The following year he opened the game's scoring with a 55-yard interception return for a touchdown as Carolina won, 25-6. He is one of just four Tar Heel players to have two interception returns for touchdowns.

Carolina posted a 7-1-1 record in his senior year as Barclay became the school's first All-America player. He was named All-America by the Associated Press, Grantland Rice for Collier's, the All-America Board and Williamson.

A native of Natrona, Pa., Barclay worked for several seasons after graduation as an assistant coach at various institutions and became a head coach for the first time in 1950 at Washington and Lee. Barclay became an assistant coach at UNC in 1952 and took over for Carl Snavely in 1953. Barclay held that post for three seasons. He returned to Carolina as an assistant coach in the mid-1960s.

Barclay was inducted into the North Carolina Sports Hall of Fame in 1977.

Village Sports, Inc.

Beginning with the 1993 football season, Village Sports, Inc. of Chapel Hill will produce all University of North Carolina football and basketball media entities, including television, radio and game program products.

Village Sports has produced the Tar Heel Sports Network radio play-by-play for the past 16 years and began producing the Carolina game programs last season.

Radio: Woody Durham and Mick Mixon will again team up to bring Carolina fans the live radio coverage of every UNC game on the Tar Heel Sports Network. Durham and head coach Mack Brown will also give fans an opportunity to phone in and talk to the head coach every Thursday evening during the football season on the Mack Brown Call-In Show.

Durham will also visit with Coach Brown on the Mack Brown Drive Time Radio Show, a daily, five minute program featuring conversations with the Tar Heels' head coach. Each of these shows are heard on stations throughout North Carolina and beyond.

Television: The Mack Brown Television Show, hosted by Durham, is a half-hour program seen each week on a network of six stations in North Carolina and on cable networks throughout much of the United States. The show features highlights of the previous game, interviews with current and present Tar Heel players and a preview of upcoming action. The television show is produced in conjunction with Creative Sports of Charlotte.

Woody Durham: Durham is beginning his 23rd year as the play-by-play voice of the Tar Heels. A native of Mebane, N.C., Durham grew up in Albemarle, N.C. and began his broadcasting career at age 16 at WZKY Radio. He graduated from UNC in 1963 with a degree in Radio, Television and Motion Pictures.

He was sports director at WFMY-TV in Greensboro for 14 years and then worked as director of sports and development at WPTF-TV in Raleigh for four years.

In 1981, Durham was named vice president and executive sports director of Village Sports, Inc. He has become a permanent fixture behind the microphone of Tar Heel football and basketball since taking over the play-by-play duties in September 1971. Durham has been named North Carolina Sportscaster of the Year eight times.

Woody and his wife of 30 years, Jean, are parents to two sons, Wes and Taylor. Wes handles play-by-play for Vanderbilt University and Taylor is a sophomore at Elon College.

Mick Mixon: Mixon is in his fifth year as color analyst and production manager and his first as the local producer of the Mack Brown TV Show. A Chapel Hill native, Mixon graduated from UNC in 1980 with a degree in broadcast journalism.

Mixon came to the Tar Heel Sports Network in 1989 from Columbia, S.C. where he was sports director at WIS Radio. He has also served as play-by-play voice of the Maine Guides of the Class AAA International League and as sports director of WCGC Radio in Belmont, N.C. Mixon also does play-by-play for UNC baseball.

Tar Heel Sports Marketing: All advertising rights for UNC radio, television and game programs have been granted to Village Sports. Tar Heel Sports Marketing, in conjunction with the UNC Marketing and Promotions Office, handles corporate advertising and sponsorships. Additional information on sponsorship opportunities can be obtained by calling Tar Heel Sports Marketing at (919) 968-4811.

Tar Heel Traditions

Why Tar Heels?

University of North Carolina athletic teams are known as the Tar Heels because North Carolina is "The Tar Heel State."

One legend has the nickname being applied to the state's residents as long ago as the Revolutionary War. According to this story, the troops of British General Cornwallis were fording what is now known as the Tar River between Rocky Mount and Battleboro when they discovered that tar had been dumped into the stream to impede their crossing. When they finally got across the river they found their feet completely black with tar. Their observation that anyone who waded North Carolina rivers would acquire tar heels led to the nickname first being used.

Others say the nickname was acquired during the War Between the States. During one of that war's fiercest battles a column supporting North Carolina troops was driven from the field. After the battle, the North Carolinians who had successfully fought it out alone, happened to meet the regiment which had fled to safety and were greeted with the question, "Any more tar down in the Old North State, boys?"

"No, not a bit," shot back one of the North Carolina soldiers. "Old Jeff's bought it all up," he went on, referring to Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy.

"Is that so? What's he going to do with it?"

"He's going to put it on you'n heels to make you stick better in the next fight."

Upon hearing of the incident, Robert E. Lee smiled and said to a fellow officer, "God bless the Tar Heel boys."

A letter found in 1991 by State Archivist David Olson lends credence to another more direct theory. A letter from Maj. Joseph Engelhard describes a fight involving men from North Carolina in which Lee was heard to have said, "There they stand as if they have tar on their heels."

The letter, dated August 24, 1864, told the tale of a battle on the outskirts of Petersburg, Va. Engelhard was elected secretary of state for North Carolina in 1876.

A Ram For a Mascot

For nearly 70 years the mascot of North Carolina's football team has been a ram. The current sideline star for the Tar Heels is Rameses XXVI.

Since Carolina's nickname is Tar Heels, it might seem strange to have a ram as a mascot. It is. But, there is a good explanation. It's offered by Vic Huggins, Carolina's head cheerleader back in 1924.

"In 1924 school spirit was at a peak," Huggins once explained. "But something seemed to be missing. One day it hit me. Georgia had a bulldog for a mascot and State a wolf. What Carolina needed was a symbol."

Two years earlier the Tar Heels had posted a brilliant 9-1 record. The star of that 1922 team was a bruising fullback named Jack Merritt. Merritt was nicknamed "the battering ram" for the way he plunged into lines. It seemed natural to Huggins to link a mascot with Merritt's unusual sobriquet.

"Charlie Woollen, the athletic business manager at that time, agreed with the idea and gave us $25 to purchase a fitting mascot," said Huggins.

Rameses the First was shipped in from Texas, arriving just in time to be introduced at a pep rally before the VMI game. Complete with a monogram blanket on his back, Rameses helped make the pep rally one of the school's greatest.

Then the ram was taken to Emerson Field where Carolina was an underdog to a strong VMI team. But, for three quarters the Tar Heels battled the visitors to a scoreless tie.

Late in the fourth period Carolina's Bunn Hackney was called upon to attempt a field goal. Before taking the field he stopped to rub Rameses' head for good luck.

Tar Heels rams have traveled everywhere from New York City (for the Carolina-Notre Dame game in 1949) to Jacksonville for Carolina's Gator Bowl appearances.

School Colors

The adoption of light blue and white as the University of North Carolina's colors dates back to the 19th Century.

When the university reopened following the War Between the States, most social activities were directed by two literary societies, the Dialectic and Philanthropic. The official color of the Di was light blue and that of the Phi white. Since society membership was compulsory for all students, the opinions and activities of these organizations were by nature of circumstances all embracing. It was the custom for all men from localities west of Chapel Hill to affiliate with the Di and generally for students from the east to become members of the Phi.

On public occasions such as commencement exercises, the student officers, marshals and ball managers were chosen equally from the membership of the two societies. It had long been the custom of each society for its members to wear its color on such occasions. However, the chief marshal and chief ball manager, one from the Di and the other from the Phi, wore combination light blue and white regalias and rosettes signifying that they represented the whole student body and not just one of the societies.

Later, when intercollegiate athletics were established and students began accompanying teams to other colleges or cities, the question of what to wear became a problem. Certainly, the students wanted to be associated with the university, but the school had no official colors. So it seemed only natural for the fans to adorn themselves with the same combination as that used by the chief marshals and ball managers, colors which represented not membership in a society, but a university student body.

ALMA MATER

Hark the sound of Tar Heel voices
Ringing clear and true
Singing Carolino's praises, Shouting "NCU"

Hail to the brightest star of all!
Clear its radiance shine
Carolino, priceless gem,
Receives all praises thine.

(refrain)
For I'm a Tar Heel born
I'm a Tar Heel bred,
And when I die
I'm a Tar Heel dead.
So it's —
Rah Roh, Carolino-lina
Rah Roh, Carolino-lina
Rah Rah, Carolino!
Rah! Rah! Rah!
